The speaker took her hearers out to the foreign fields and showed them the missionaries and native teachers at work, preaching, teaching, healing and performing surgical operations. In countries like India the medical and surgical work especially seems effective in breaking down the caste spirit and the seclusion of women, which have heretofore been such great hindrances to reaching important classes of the people.

In the evening Mrs. Gillespie addressed the C. E. society, dwelling more particularly on the people and the work as she saw them in Japan, China and India, illustrating her talk with some curios gathered in these countries. The Presbyterians feel that Easter was a good day for them, and would be glad to have Mrs. Gillespie return. They were also glad to have with them so many from the other churches of the town.
