

ENGINEERS AT COBURN.

Presumably Wabash Employees Making Calculations for Line Through Southern Section of Centre County.

Last week several civil engineers located at Coburn, took up permanent quarters in the town, and since have been working out grades, fills, etc., on a road bed extending through the mountains and into Snyder county.

The Middleburg Post, of last week, contained the following:

"The surveyors, supposedly working for the Wabash Railroad, moved from Selingsgrove, north to Monroe township, cutting across on the lands between George J. Schoch's and John L. Cooper's farms and along the east side of Penns Creek to Maurer's bridge where they crossed the stream, running through between Percival Benfer's house and barn and taking a westerly course coming within a short distance from Centerville."

This indicates that the supposed Wabash is a direct line east from Westover, in the southern portion of Clearfield county, to Centerville, Snyder county. At Westover a corps of engineers were located for months within the past two years.

If the Wabash should come east through the central part of the state, the route through the southern portion of Centre county—from south of Pine Grove Mills to south of Boatsburg, north of Potters Mills, through Georges Valley, to south of Coburn—would be a most plausible one.

Letter to G. W. Hosterman. Centre Hall, Pa.

Dear Sir: When you buy paint for less than Devoe; don't; save your money.

Mr. Aaron Higgins, Plainfield, N. J., always used 15 gallons of paint for his house; Devoe took 11.

Mr. Ezra Rathmell, Williamsport, Pa., always used 11; Devoe took 6.

Mr. Burt Young, Girard, Pa., always used a gallon for certain rooms; took half as much Devoe.

Mr. Nathaniel Barber, Canton, N. Y., bought 12 Devoe; used less than 6.

You can always buy paint for less than Devoe; don't; save your money.

The wearing counts the same way and doubles the difference. The cost of painting is by the gallon. Weak paint costs most; most gallons. Yours truly F. W. DEVOE & Co., New York

Slight rains Monday and Wednesday mornings.

Mrs. Horner, wife of John Horner, the mason, at Colyer, is ill.

Reports from Bryn Mawr hospital say Dr. J. Frank Meyer is improving. The Hospital Aid society will meet at the home of Mrs. S. W. Smith, Monday evening, May 7th.

Mrs. J. L. Dunlap and family, of Bellefonte, spent Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Jared Brown, of Potters Mills.

Much of the oats and barley was sown this week, but there are some farmers who have their whole crop to sow. For this the late season is responsible.

Not even the rural free delivery nor the telephone will keep the farmers from coming to town, but both the conveniences serve them greatly at all times, and especially during the seasons of sowing and reaping.

John O. Scholl, of Altoona, came to Centre Hall Tuesday to visit his mother and sister, returning home Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Scholl is engaged in the Edison electric light works in Altoona, a position he has held for several years.

Engineer cut to Pieces.

Reuben Miller, engineer on the Nittany Valley railroad, a branch running from the furnace near Bellefonte to the ore mines, was cut to pieces by his own engine Wednesday morning. Mr. Miller jumped from his engine and was running ahead to throw a switch, when his foot caught in a frog throwing him immediately in front of the slow moving engine with the above noted result.

Mr. Miller was aged about forty years, married, and was well thought of by all.

John H. Motter Dead.

John H. Motter, a well known resident of Rosecrans, in Sugar Valley, and a veteran of the civil war, died in the Lock Haven hospital Monday morning of peritonitis, following obstruction of the bowels. An operation was performed Sunday, when it was found that he was beyond help, as a cancerous tumor had formed on the bowels, and peritonitis had developed. Deceased was aged fifty-nine years and leaves his wife and eight children.

House Burned.

The dwelling house owned and occupied by Richard Solt, at Colyer, was burned Tuesday afternoon. The origin of the fire is supposed to have been due to a defective flue. About half of the household goods were burned. Mr. Solt was the only member of the family at home when the fire broke out.

The Solt family moved into one of the houses owned by B. D. Brisbin & Co., at Colyer.

New Postmasters.

The senate in executive session confirmed the following nominations of Pennsylvania postmasters: D. Russell, Renovo. A. P. Dickey, Waynesburg; J. Scher, Jr., Dushore; R. M. Hunt, Houtzdale; S. C. Dougherty, Jeannette; C. A. Dunlap, Manheim; S. M. Smith, Punxsutawney; R. Nieman, Red Lion.

Janef P. Frank, of Rebersburg, is in Harrisburg at present where he expects to remain for some time.

Joseph Emmert, of Freeport, Illinois, has returned home from Kansas, where he went to see a brother, Martin Emmert, who was improving when he left. The Emmerts are natives of Penns Valley.

R. C. Faust, of Juniata, was a caller during the editor's absence. Mr. Faust is a native of Potters Mills, and is one of the many young men from Potter who is holding down a good job in the Altoona district.

Perry W. Breen is making improvements on his farm near Potters Mills. Among these is the piping of water for a distance of about three thousand feet. His son, Morris Breen, a plumber of Altoona, did the pipe fitting.

Fighting a fire which had spread through the fields and brush on his farm in Lack township, Juniata county, John Weis, aged sixty-four years, was caught by the flames and burned to death. Neighbors found his charred body on the ground.

Joseph H. Long, who is said to own more than fifty farms—and whose holdings of land are equalled by few men in the state—purchased the J. H. Moore dairy farm on Cedar Run, Clinton county, for a consideration of $3,900. The farm contains eighty-five acres.

S. S. Brown, of Milroy, sold a pair of iron greys, eight and nine years old, to Fred Bossinger, of Lewistown, for $500. Mr. Bossinger was offered $525 for the team but refused the offer.

Drilling for coal oil has been resumed at East Waterford, Juniata county. The United States Geological Department at Washington has asked for sample pieces of the rock penetrated by the drill.

On closer examination it was discovered that William D. Strunk had three ribs broken in his fall mentioned last week. His right arm, above the elbow, and the right shoulder are also severely injured. Mr. Strunk is walking about but is pretty badly done up.

Prof. H. C. Rothrock, of Boalsburg, accompanied by Mrs. Rothrock and children, was in Centre Hall Saturday. Prof. Rothrock owns the Bitner farm, west of Centre Hall, tenanted by Mrs. Henry Zeigler and son, and of course the family stopped at that point for a short time.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has put on a workingman's train which makes two trips daily between Milroy and Burnham, charging 25 cents for the round trip. They haul one hundred and twenty workmen from Milroy to the Standard steel works, besides those they pick up along the way.

Nittany Mountain.

Albert Dean, who had been running H. Robinson's stove mill, moved to Juniata county Monday. Charley Pecht has rented the stove mill and is now running full time.

The measles seem to be banished from the mountain. Mrs. Wm. Houser and Mrs. A. W. Garver were quite ill from them.

Tone Noll shut down his mill last Thursday. He will resume work there after he is through with the spring planting.

Calvin Horner, wife and family, of Altoona, who had been visiting his mother for several days, returned to their home on Friday.

Mrs. Gertie Garver, returned to her home in Altoona on Monday, after visiting Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Parker. Mrs. A. G. Noll has been suffering from rheumatism for several weeks.
