Spring Mills Wins.

The Spring Mills base ball team won a victory from the Centre Hall team Saturday afternoon. It was a walk over and a walk around the diamond. The game was of such a character that a detailed report would not be of inter- of the Englishman who went rabbit est. Score, 16 to 34.

Rev. J. Victor Royer was umpire. His decisions were counted altogether impartial.

Sheckler-Wallace.

An interesting wedding occurred at the Baptist parsonage, Milesburg, Wednesday evening of last week at 8 o'clock, when Rev. A. C. Lathrop spoke the words which joined in the bonds of holy matrimony Charles Sheckler and Miss Nellie B. Wallace. Both are well known and highly esteemed young people of Milesburg, and have many friends who rejoice with them in this happy event.

Officials on a Visit to Our City. Lock Haven Democrat, April 28.

The inter-county meeting of the commissioners of Clinton and Centre counties at Beech Creek to select a site for a new bridge, resulted in the conclusion to put the new structure where the former one stood. After the meeting the Centre county commissioners, John L. Dunlap, C. A. Weaver and John L. Bailey, and Attorney Gettig came to this city and made a tour of the public buildings. They were very much pleased with the appearance of our jail and court house and took they are at present.

LOCALS.

Ex-Sheriff Brungart, encouraged by his liberal returns last season, the latter part of last week, planted an acre or more to onions.

Treasurer Berry has appointed as his stenographer, Miss Elizabeth C. Brugger, of Unionville. She is the daughter of the late Samuel Brugger.

H. G. Strohmeier, the Centre Hall granite dealer and cutter, last week made a trip to Meyer's cemetery, Buffalo Run, to erect a tombstone for Mrs. Anthony Wise.

John Spicher is making preparations to put down a brick walk in front of his residence on Church street. Vitrified brick will be used.

The Presbytery of Norfolk, in session at Hampton, Va., adopted a resolution inviting the general assembly of the Southern Presbyterian church to meet in Norfolk, during the Jamestown Exposition in 1907.

"Take paris green if you've got rheumatism, and it will cure you," said a stranger to Christ Schuster, of Cincinnati. Schuster followed the advice of the stranger, and a few days afterward he died as a consequence.

Dr. Atherton, president of Pennsylvania State College, who has been away for the past three months, returned to his home last week. He spent nearly all of his time in Los Angeles, California. He came by boat from New Orleans to New York.

It is only duty and justice to encourage your home paper, extend to it the nourishment to which it is entitled. Pay your subscriptions promptly, and send a few extra copies to your relatives and friends at a distance. They will appreciate the favor and so will we.

G. W. Gingerich left for a western tour on Monday morning. He expects to spend some time with his sister, Mrs. Thomas Bilger, at Blue Springs, Nebraska, and will visit relatives in Kansas, Iowa and Illinois. He was accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. J. E. Rishel, for a short distance.

Elwood Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Robinson, ate a wild turnip, Friday of last week, and became violently ill as a result. The lad is aged about nine years, and under the care of Dr. J. F. Alexander has recovered. Last summer the boy was poisoned by eating some red berries which he mistook for tea berries.

Mrs. Carrie E. Osman, of Kansas City, Kansas, is east at present, having been a delegate to the twenty-third | band hasn't. annual conference of the National Florence Crittenton Mission, at Boston, Massachusetts, April 22 to 26. Mrs. Osman was formerly a resident . Centre Hall, and while in the state spant several days with friends here.

wanderful Sensitive Plant.

An incident related by the author of of the flora of Ceylon is almost uncanny, although we are assured that it is true. It is about the mimosa, or sensitive plant, and makes one almost wonder whether the plant has intelligence. The doctor, one of the characters of the book, while sitting with the family on the broad plazza which formed the front of the bungalow of a coffee plantation recognized a thrifty sensitive plant, and it was made the subject of remark. He called his young daughter of eleven years from the house.

"Lena," said he, "go and kiss the mimosa.

The child did so, laughing gleefully, and came away. The plant gave no token of shrinking from contact with the pretty child. "Now," said the host, "will you touch the plant?" Rising to do so, he approached it with one hand extended, and before it had come fairly in contact the nearest spray and leaves wilted visibly.

"The plant knows the child," said the doctor, "but you are a stranger."

Rabbit Shooting In France.

Le Sport is answerable for much exhibition of humor on the part of a nation like ours, where killing for fun is brought to perfection, and the story shooting with two Frenchmen in Normandy may or may not be true. They set out, eager for the chase; they sighted a rabbit, and up went the Englishman's gun to his shoulder. "No, no; do not shoot!" cried his companions. "That is Mimi. We never shoot at Mimi." The Englishman, greatly wondering, desisted. A second rabbit crossed their path. He aimed again and was again deterred from shooting. "That is the adorable Lulu," they pointed out. We never shoot at Lulu." Naturally, when a third rabbit darted up, the Englishman made no effort to kill it, much to the distress of his companions. "Shoot, shoot!" they cried wildly. "That is Alphonse. We always shoot at Alphonse."-London

The Magie of a Mirror.

A ward patient in Roosevelt hospital, New York, grew gradually weaker without any apparent reason. "She's fretting herself to death about something," said the nurse. "If she would confide in me I think she would get better." By and by the patient did open her mind and heart. "If I could only see myself," she walled, "I'd feel different. I know I must look like death or you'd let me have a looking glass." It was against the rules to supply patients in that ward with mirrors, but the nurse, recognizing the gravity of that particular case, smuggled in a occasion to compliment our commis- small hand glass. The result was misioners for the fine condition in which raculous. "Why, dear me," said the sick woman, "I don't look half so bad as I supposed I did." And from that hour she began to improve.

Burned at the Stake.

As late as the end of the eighteenth century counterfeiters were publicly burned at the stake in London. On March 18, 1789, Christianie Murphy was executed at Newgate tower, London, for the crime of "coining." She was bound to the stake seated on a stool, the main tie being a cord around the neck. The funeral pyre was then lighted by the executioner and his deputies, one of the latter of whom finally jerked the stool from under the wretched creature, allowing the weight to fall on her neck. Within forty-eight minutes the body was entirely reduced to ashes and buried in a hole on the spot where the execution took place.

The Unit of Heat.

We cannot, of course, measure heat by yards, pints or pounds, but the unit of heat, the standard measure of that phenomenon, has been agreed upon by those whose business it is to philosophize on that subject to be that quantity which can raise a pound of water one degree. Now, to turn a pound of water into a pound of steam it requires 967 of these units of heat-that is to say, if we boil a pound of water until it all goes away in steam we shall have used in doing so a quantity of heat which would have raised 967 pounds of water one degree higher in tempera-

The Evil Eye.

Antiquitie hath held that certains women of Scythia, being provoked and vexed against some men, had the pow er to kill them only with their looke. The tortoises and estriges hatch their eggs with their looks only, a signe that they have some ejaculative vertue. And concerning witches, they are said to have offensive and harmeworking eies.--Montaigne.

A Deadly Poisonous Beeswax, Wax is a substance secreted by bees that is said to be analogous to the fat of the higher animals. In Patagonia, Tierre del Fuego and other portions of southern South America honey is never eaten. In the countries mentioned all beeswax is a livid, whitish, blue color and more poisonous than either strychnine or arsenic.

NAMES OF ANIMALS.

"The Pearl of India" in his description | The Meaning of Some of Those Whose Origin We Can Trace. Some of the names of the commonest animals are lost in the dimness of antiquity, such as fox, weasel, sheep, horse, dog and baboon. Of the origin of these the clew is forever lost. With camel one cannot go further back than the Latin word camelus, and elephant is derived from the old Hin- $5900. doo word elph, which means an ox. The old root of the word wolf meant one who tears or rends.

Lynx is from the same Latin root as the word lux (light) and probably was given to these wildcats on account of the fierce brightness of their eyes. Lion is, of course, from the Latin leo, which word, in turn, is lost far back in the Egyptian tongue, $270. where the word for the king of beasts was labu. The compound word leopard is first found in the Persian language, where pars stands for panther. Seal, very appropriately, was once a word meaning of the sea; close to the Latin sal, the sea.

Puma, jaguar, tapir and peccary (from paquires) are all names from South American Indian languages. The coyote and occlet were called coyoti and ocelote by the Mexicans long before Cortes landed on their Moose is from the Indian word mouswah, meaning wood eater; skunk, from seganku, an Algonquin term; wapiti in the Creek language means white deer, and was originally applied to the Rocky mountain goat, but the name is now restricted to the American elk. Caribou is also a native Indian word; opossum is from possowne, and raccoon is from the Indian arrathkune (by further aphere-

Rhinoceros is pure Greek, meaning nose horned, but beaver has indeed had a rough time of it in its travels through various languages. It is hardly recognizable as bebrus, babru and bru. The latter is the ultimate root of the English word brown. The original application was doubtless on account of the color of the creature's fur. Otter goes back to Sanskrit, where it is udra. The significance of this word is in its close kinship to udan, meaning water, The little mouse hands its name down through the years from the old, old Sanskrit, the root meaning to steal. The word rat may have been derived from the root of the Latin word vadere, to scratch, or rodere, to gnaw. Rodent is derived from the latter term, Cat is also in doubt, but is first recognized in catulus, a diminutive of canis, a dog. It was applied to the young of almost any animal, as the English words pup, kitten, cub, etc. Bear is the result of tongue twisting. from the Latin fera, a wild beast.

Deer is of obscure origin, but may have been an adjective, meaning wild. Elk is derived from the same root as eland, and the history of the latter word is an interesting one. It meant a sufferer, and was applied by the Teutons to the elk of the old world on account of the awkward gait and stiff movements of this ungainly ani-

Squirrel has a poetic origin in the Greek language, its original meaning being shadow tall. Tiger is far more intricate. The old Persian word tir meant arrow, while tighra signified $300. The application to this great animal was in allusion to the swiftness with which the tiger leaps upon its $1000. prey .- Detroit News-Tribune.

Rapid Fire Justice.

Yankee dispatch characterizes the court rulings of a Toronto magistrate, of whom John Foster Fraser tells in his book, "Canada as It Is." The magistrate, who is reported to have got through with forty cases in forty minutes, was once asked how he managed it. "You must have some system," was the suggestion.

"I never allow a point of law to be raised," was the magistrate's prompt reply. "This is a court of justice, not

"Not so very long ago a young attorney wanted to quote law against my sending his man down for six months. He wanted to quote Mathews,

"'Well,' said I, 'Mathews may be a great authority on law, but I guess he hasn't as much authority as I have in this court. Your man goes down for six months."

Praying For Good Husbands.

A picturesque ceremony takes place every year in Haute-Vienne. All the girls in the place on the day of St. Eutropius file in procession to St. Junienles-Combes to the cross which is erected near the church to the saint. Each Cool, April 4, 1906, 123 acres, 281 girl hangs her left garter on the cross and prays that she may have a good husband and then gives way to the next girl. The cross is so smothered in garters of different colors that at a short distance it looks as though ft were covered with flowers.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order
