Letter to E. M. Hoyett

Dear Sir: If you paint two houses alike with two different paints, and one takes twice as much paint as the other, you know which paint to buy after that—so far as go-far goes—don't you?

Yours truly

Food Department Gets Samples to In-buence State Lawmakers—To ask Jurisdiction. State Dairy and Food Commissioner Warren is collecting hundreds of samples of beer, whisky, brandy and cordials from liquor dealers and druggists all over Pennsylvania, and upon the results of their analysis will base a report to the next Legislature, asking that a law be passed bringing all kinds of wines and liquors under the jurisdiction of his office.

A recent ruling of the Supreme Court is that wines and liquors are not food-stuffs and therefore not affected by the law under which the department was created. The adulteration of alcoholic drinks, Dr. Warren says, was very prevalent previous to this decision, and conditions are much worse now.

Reports in the office of the commissioner show that of 600 samples of alcoholic liquors, 450 were adulterated. Of samples of wines, blackberry brandies and blackberry cordials taken, more than 95 per cent. were found grossly adulterated. In some cases no blackberries were used.

LOCALS

After thirty years' missionary work in India, Rev. Milliken Goheen is visiting his aged father at Pennsylvania Furnace.

Miss Sarah McClenahan, a high class seamstress, is in Tyrone at present, where she will remain for several weeks.

Miss Mary Barner, daughter of George W. Barner, at Farmers Mills, has been ill during the past month or more.

An Altoona magistrate ruled that ice cream is not food. This means that it can not be sold on Sundays in that city.

R. D. Killian, the walnut log shipper, and Samuel Meyer, Monday afternoon, went to Salona to prepare logs for shipment to Germany.

Samuel M. Goodhart, who for the past month or more has been engaged in the railroad offices at Altoona, came home Saturday. He returned to his post of duty Monday.

Mrs. G. O. Benner is in Pittsburg, having gone there a few days ago from Martha where she spent several days with her parents. Mrs. Benner will be absent for several weeks.

Messrs. H. B. Herring, Spring Mills; Henry Meyer and A. N. Corman, Rebersburg, have been appointed to lay out a bridge across Elk creek in the borough of Millheim, and will meet to perform that duty Friday of this week.

The second Reformed church at Harrisburg was dedicated Sunday, the sermon having been delivered by Rev. Dr. J. C. Bowman, of the Lancaster Theological Seminary. The cost of the edifice was $47,000. Rev. Henry Nelson Bossler is the pastor.

How did it feel to live through the San Francisco earthquake and fire?—to watch men die, and buildings shrivel in the flames? James Hopper, the brilliant short-story writer, tells the story in the June Everybody's. You should read it. It is the one sensitively realized, accurately truthful, powerfully phrased description of the great catastrophe that has been published.

Let everyone keep hustling to improve the appearance of their streets and lots. Keep all kinds of rubbish off the streets and sidewalks, and see that your houses, fences, etc., are neatly painted. There is nothing that helps the looks of a town and induces newcomers to settle in it more than neatly-painted houses and fences, neat and tidy streets and sidewalks, and fruit and shade trees on your lots.

Dr. J. Frank Meyer arrived at his home, at Penn Hall, Saturday afternoon from Bryn Mawr hospital. He came as far as Lancaster the day previous, where he stopped off for the night with Dr. H. F. Bitner, his uncle, who accompanied him home. Dr. Meyer's condition has improved very much during the past two weeks, and his recovery is now but a matter of time. At present he is able to be up continuously.

After serving the Pennsylvania railroad company for twenty-eight years, it is natural that James H. Smetzer should look forward to the annual gathering of the "Railroad Veterans" with more than ordinary interest. The meeting of the Veterans was held Saturday at Harrisburg, and was attended by about two hundred and fifty railroad employees. Others along the L. & T. branch who attended this gathering were Calvin Osman, of Glen Iron; John Wyby, of Linden Hall; Conductor Reamer and Ticket Agent Hutchinson, of Bellefonte.

There is no reasonable excuse for any man to live in a town if he doesn't like it. If you have no word of commendation to say for your town, its institutions or people, emigrate. You won't stop the town clock by going away. The church bells will have the same musical ring, the little dogs will play just as well and the pure air, bright sunshine and sparkling water will have the same health-giving properties. Speak a good word for your neighbor, if you can; if you cannot, don't everlastingly enlarge on their faults. If you have become thoroughly disgruntled move away; go where things will suit you.

Edward T. Tuten Dead

As a result of a paralytic stroke, Edward T. Tuten, editor and publisher of the Bellefonte R-publican and Daily News, died Thursday evening of last week, aged sixty-seven years. Internment took place Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Tuten was born in East Cambridge, Massachusetts, his ancestors having come from Holland to Ireland and thence to the United States.

On the 10th of February 1870, he was united in marriage to Mrs. Marie P. Gray, widow of Edward L. Gray, at East Cambridge, Mass. One son was the result of their union, Earle Chester Tuten, who survives.

Mr. Tuten came to Bellefonte from Bedford in 1870. He and his brother Robert P. Tuten, bought the Republican at that time. The brother severed his connection with the paper in 1876, and went to Sidney, Iowa, where he now resides.

Compliments Ex-Senator

The Philadelphia Record. Ex-Senator William C. Heinle has at the last moment been persuaded by his friends to register as a candidate for re-election to the State Senate in the Thirty-sixth district (Clearfield and Centre). Mr. Heinle is a tried and trusted Democrat and reformer. He is of precisely the quality of material needed in the next Legislature. No mistake will be made by the voters of his district if he shall be sent back to represent them.

Dr. George W. Atherton Seriously Ill. Dr. George W. Atherton, president of the Pennsylvania State College, who recently returned from a three months trip to California where he went in hope of regaining health, is lying critically ill at his home in State College. The attending physician gives little hope for his recovery. He is suffering from Bright's disease and an affection of the heart.

At the hospital

The readers of the Reporter will regret to learn that Mrs. Porter Odenkirk, of Lewistown, was obliged to go to a Philadelphia hospital and undergo a very serious operation peculiar to her sex. The operation was performed several weeks ago, but Mrs. Odenkirk has not been able to leave the hospital up to this time.

Must Display Signals

The postoffice department has decided that patrons on rural mail routes must display signals when mail is placed in the box for the carrier to collect. After July 1st, carriers will only open boxes when signals indicate that mail has been placed in them.

LOCALS

Mrs. Witmer Smith and baby, of Bellefonte, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Smith, Monday.

A waiting room was erected at Gregg station, west of Centre Hall. This will be quite a convenience to passengers taking the train at that point.

Miss Roxanna B. Brisbin represented the Centre county Rebekah Lodges at the State Assembly in Pittsburg, last week. She was again re-appointed district deputy for this county.

Mrs. Mary Odenkirk, Thursday of last week, went to Lewistown to assist caring for the family of her son, Porter Odenkirk. Her daughter-in-law, as will be learned from a notice elsewhere in this issue, is at a hospital.

Carriage Builder S. L. Condo, of Spring Mills, was in town Monday, on his way to Nittany Valley to deal off several vehicles. Mr. Condo is building up a fine trade in his line, and is yearly extending the radius in which he sells his manufactures.

George Horner, of Pleasant Gap, was a caller Tuesday, having made his first trip to Centre Hall since his recovery from typhoid fever. Mr. Horner has had a great deal of sickness in his family during the past year, but at present all the members of the family are well.

A suit has been filed in the Union county court against the borough of Lewisburg asking damages to the amount of $10,000 for the death of Jesse Fetter, a young man of Winfield who was ground to pieces under the wheels of a Reading freight train last October at the University siding. It is claimed that guard rails should have been erected where the accident occurred.

Hon. John Noll, of Bellefonte, announces himself a candidate for re-nomination for assemblyman. Mr. Noll, as the reader knows, represented Centre county in the last legislature, and always favored measures of special interest to his constituents, and cast his vote against gang methods. Mr. Noll can be safely trusted for another term not only by the Democrats of Centre county but by every voter.

The man who wrestles with the cow and teaches the calves to suck, who casts the corn before the swine, is now in greatest luck; for butter's on the upper grade, veal's higher than a kite, pork is climbing up the scale and beef is out of sight; eggs he gathers every day from his Poland chicken coop eat almost worth their weight in gold and we are in the soup. His corn brings him a fancy price, it's rising every day, and he takes in all kinds of mon for half a load of hay.

A Bridge of Crocodiles

A traveler writes of a port in north-western India. "The great sight of Karnah is the crocodile preserve at Nagar, for some seven miles off. There are hot springs here which feed a shallow tank containing nearly a hundred crocodiles. The story, usually thought to be fictitious, of the Englishman who for a bet crossed the tank by jumping successively from the backs of these crocodiles is based on fact. The hero of this foolhardy feat was a certain Lieutenant Beresford, a friend of Sir R. F. Burton. When Burton and his companion were visiting the crocodiles' tank they noticed that these reptiles and certain islets of reeds happened to make an almost continuous bridge across the tank. This prompted the daring subaltern to hazard the feat of crossing by hopping from one crocodile to another. To the amazement of the spectators he succeeded in this apparently mad attempt. Sir Richard Burton had already successfully performed an equally daring feat. He managed to muzzle a crocodile by means of a lasso and then jumped on the reptile's back and enjoyed a somewhat zigzag ride."

Inside Your Bones

People usually imagine that their bones are of solid mineral construction, without any feeling in them. As a matter of fact, there are blood vessels and nerves inside the bones just as there are outside. During amputation of a limb much more pain is felt when the bone is attacked than when the flesh is being cut through. Through the marrow which is inside the bones run the nerves and blood vessels, entering the bones from the flesh without by little holes. Nature adapts the bony structure of various animals to their habits in a very interesting manner. Sluggish creatures, like the sloth, have solid bones, whereas the bones of the deer and the antelope are comparatively light, so that they may run fast, and the leg bones of the ostrich are hollow. You will find in the bones of any skeleton the application of mechanical principles which have only become known to man through the processes of laborious and long considered invention.

A Finger Pillory

The finger pillory is still preserved carefully in the parish church of St. Helen Ashby-de-la-Zouch and is thus described: "An ancient and rather singular curiosity is a finger pillory. This instrument seems to have been used for the punishment of disorderly persons during divine service. It consists of two upright posts about three feet high, which support a beam of nearly the same length, in which are bored holes of various dimensions, cut first horizontally, then perpendicularly, in order that the first joint of the finger may be inserted and the finger retained in an angular form. The culprit is then secured by bringing down over the holes another beam which is attached by a hinge at the end to one of the posts and fastened at the other by a lock."—London Academy.

Holding the Breath

It is a physical impossibility for a man to hold his breath for the length of time they can hold their breath, and what practice and determined effort, combined with natural great lung capacity, can do in this direction is shown by the long periods for which champion divers can remain under water. If a man succeeded in continuing to hold his breath in spite of the physical discomfort in which he had placed himself the result would simply be to induce a state of coma. When this state was reached nature would reassert herself, and the breathing functions would again resume full activity, preventing a fatal issue in spite of their own's desire.

Mme. Scarron

Mme. Scarron, afterward the famous Mme. de Maintenon, the wife of Louis XIV., was in her girlhood remarkably beautiful. She was dark, with piercing black eyes and wavy hair. In middle life her gravity of countenance and deportment was considered quite extraordinary in that age of gayety. One of her contemporaries said that she did not smile once a year, and yet she was not gloomy, but only of a sedate habit of mind.

A Monster God House

In Mexico are found ruins of ancient Aztec temples, or "god houses," some of which are thousands of years old. One of these, near Cholula, is in the form of a truncated pyramid. Each side of the base of this pyramid is 1,423 feet, which is twice the length of the great pyramid of Egypt. The height of this Mexican pyramid is 177 feet, and its base covers an area of forty-four acres.

Not There

"Judge," said Mrs. Starvem to the magistrate who had recently come to board with her, "I'm particularly anxious to have you try this chicken soup." "I have tried it," replied the magistrate, "and my decision is that the chicken has proved an alibi."—Philadelphia Press.

Wife (wearily)—Woman's work is never done! Husband (struggling with a buttonless shirt collar)—That's just what I thought!

The greatest illusion of all is to think you haven't any.

JUDGE C. A. MAYER DEAD

Venerable Jurist Expires at the Germantown Hospital Friday Night.

Charles A. Mayer, of Lock Haven, Judge of Clinton, Cameron and Elk counties, and one of the most venerable figures among the judiciary of Pennsylvania, died Friday night in the Germantown Hospital. He had been ill for several months.

Judge Mayer was born December 15, 1830, in York county, and spent most of his boyhood in Chambersburg. He was educated in the academy there and in Franklin and Marshall College being graduated from the latter institution in 1848.

In 1854 he was admitted to the bar of Clinton county, and afterward he served two terms as District Attorney. He was elected President Judge of the Twenty-fifth Judicial District in 1865. He was re-elected in 1875, 1885 and 1895, being continuously on the bench for thirty-eight years—probably longer than any other Judge in the State. He was a lifelong Democrat.

Judge Mayer married Miss Helen McCormick, daughter of Saul McCormick, of Philadelphia, in 1861. She died in 1893. Two daughters survive, Mrs. Jane B. Coryell, of Germantown, and Miss Helen E. Mayer.

The S. S. Convention

To the Sabbath School Workers of Centre County

The time is close at hand for our county convention at Howard, May 31st and June 1st. The first session begins at 2 p. m. Programs were mailed all recorded schools and should have been presented last Sabbath and your delegates elected. If programs or statistical card have not been received by your school inquire of your superintendent of last year, and if he has not received them write at once to me. The names of all desiring entertainment should be sent Miss Susan V. Fletcher not later than May 28th and as much earlier as possible.

The important subjects to be discussed and the able speakers on these topics assure a rich and instructive treat to all who attend. Only a few over sixty schools have returned statistical cards. These cards are necessary to complete the report to convention and State Association. Do not fail to send or bring report cards filled out to Howard, May 31st. Also remember the 2 cents per member offering for Sabbath School work.

Pray for and come to the convention.

Yours sincerely, A. C. LATHROP, Secretary.

To the Best Paid Man

It's sound sense that we tell you. Your work costs less dollars and is best every time you use the L. & M. Paint.

You do more painting with one gallon of L. & M. than with two gallons of other paints and the L. & M. Zinc hardens the L. & M. White Lead and makes the L. & M. Paint wear like iron.

4 gallons L. & M. mixed with 3 gallons Linseed Oil will paint a moderate sized house.

Actual cost L. & M. about $1.20 per gallon.

A. T. Terrell, Riverhead, N. Y., writes, "16 years ago painted with L. & M. Only now requires repainting!"
