UNITED STATES IN CUBA.

Secretary Taft declared himself provisional governor of Cuba. He retained the present officers and judiciary of the island and the Cuban flag. The occupation will last only until a new government is installed. Fearing a collision between the insurgents and the rural guards, Secretary Taft sent 450 marines by rail from Havana to Cienfuegos. A hundred marines will be put ashore near Sancti Spiritus, owing to troubles reported there. The Army and Navy Departments at Washington are on a war basis, and were open all day Sunday. The Army has completed plans for a second military expedition to Cuba. Cubans are discussing the organization of an annexation party. The insurgent forces will disband, return all stolen horses and keep their personal arms.

Havana (Special).—Cuba is under American control. The prophecy of Senator Dolz that its inhabitants would retire as Cubans and awaken Americans has come true. Marines were landed to guard the treasury and rural guards patrolled the streets under orders of the American commissioners. Every movement now awaits the nod of approval of the American War Secretary.

Havana (Special).—Four hundred and fifty marines were sent to Cienfuegos Sunday night by rail as a precaution, news having been received by Governor Taft that fighting was liable to occur between the insurgents and the rural guards and militia. The marines will reinforce those already there, who were landed from the Marietta and Dixie. The ill feeling between the Cubans at Cienfuegos is very strong. That is the city where the disturbances took place last year.

Some excitement is reported at Sancti Spiritus. An order has been given to land 100 marines from the Tacoma Monday at Tunas de Zaya, the nearest port to Sancti Spiritus. A thousand men will be landed at Havana. They will camp at Camp Columbia. The forces which are now coming will be landed at different places on the island.

The first landing of any considerable number of American troops place Sunday night, when 450 marines came ashore from the squadron in the harbor. This force proceeded for Cienfuegos at 9 o'clock on a special train. It was explained that this movement was not made on account of any actual trouble in Cienfuegos, but for the purpose of exerting a calming influence on the local situation, which contains some possibility of a conflict by reason of the tense feeling existing between the government volunteers and the insurgents. The battleship Kentucky arrived. The Indiana, with two collars, is expected. The Texas, Prairie and Brooklyn are expected in a few days.

The negotiations between the Funston Commission and the commission appointed by the insurgents for the delivery of the rebels' arms are progressing. General Castillo, although he expects the necessity for the delivery of arms, is touchy about some of the details. He desires the Americans to take some measures against the Moderates, which would be unwise in the circumstances. There is no danger that General Castillo will do anything to put obstacles in the way of peace. Pino Guerra and Ashert are doing their best to facilitate matters. General Guzman, from Santa Clara, is expected here Monday. No trouble is feared in that province, except at Cienfuegos. The governor of Santa Clara, General Alaman, who is a rabid partisan of ex-President Palma, tendered his resignation, but Governor Taft has asked him to withdraw it. The provisional government considers his services necessary in re-establishing order.

Wish to Retain Arms. Governor Taft has also requested Senor Quesada, the Cuban minister at Washington, to withdraw his resignation. He has also instructed the Cuban department to state to cable to all the Cuban representatives abroad to retain their offices until further notice.

A strong annexationist feeling is growing. There is talk of organizing an annexationist party, which has never been done before. Some Moderates are taking a prominent part in this movement.

The day at the palace passed quietly and rather gloomily. There are as yet no signs of Secretary Taft's actual occupancy of that edifice, which Sunday was the scene of a number of farewells to ex-President Palma and his family. The members of the diplomatic corps and the foreign consuls called in a body to say good-by.

The Funston commission and the revolutionary commission have agreed that the horses captured or seized by the rebels might be kept, but the Cubans raised a point about the arms, which General Funston refused to concede. They wish to keep the arms, which are the private property of some of their men, arguing that they bought these arms with their own money and have always kept them in their houses. The arms were used for hunting deer and other purposes.

A largely attended meeting of rebels was held Sunday at General Ashbert's camp, near San Francisco de Paula. Senor Zayas made an appeal to the men to lay down their arms. Juan Gualberto Gomez and General Ashbert also spoke. They said that in a few hours they would all go to their homes, for now there was no further necessity for their services in behalf of liberty. They declared that the new elections promised by Governor Taft would be fairly conducted.

General Funston expects to remain in Havana in general charge of the work of disarmament. When this is completed he will take command of all the United States troops in Cuba.

Rebel Generals Happy. Gen. Pino Guerra, speaking Sunday at the new situation in the island, said all the men of his forces were eminently satisfied with the arrangements. He expressed the belief that the stability of the government was now assured and predicted that never again would there be a revolution in Cuba, thanks largely to the United States government for the hand it had taken in the settlement of the difficulty.

While many of his men wanted to parade in Havana before dispersing, their commanders regarded this as unnecessary, and General Guerra said there would be no demonstration that would permit of the possibility of a renewal of the previous ill feeling. Asked whether his men shared his contentment, General Guerra said: "The men under our commands will obey us. Those who do not certainly never were with us. The revolution is ended and we have won, so we are supremely content."

EXPLOSION OF OIL.

Then Came a Two Hundred Thousand Dollar Fire.

Cleveland, O., (Special).—An early morning fire, caused by an explosion of oil in the building of the Pittsburgh Plateglass Company, destroyed that building and communicated flames to a half-dozen other buildings in the congested part of the down-town district. A second explosion in the building where the fire originated resulted in the walls falling about 11 o'clock and three firemen were taken to hospitals in ambulances, but none are thought to be fatally hurt. The loss by the fire is about $200,000.

The Cleveland News sustained damages amounting to $25,000 by water running into its pressroom, but the paper has come out with its regular editions. The fire has broken out afresh several times and has caused a day of excitement.

Washington (Special).—Arrangements have recently been completed by the United States Geological Survey for collecting and analyzing samples of water from the Susquehanna River. Daily samples are taken at West Pittston, Danville and Williamsport, Pa. The object is to discover the amount of mineral matter carried by the water and its variation from week to week.

Great Iron Vessels Driven Through Buildings a Block From the Water Front at Pensacola—Fire Adds to Night of Terror in the Florida City—5,000 Houses Damaged.

THE TWO WRECKED CITIES. PENSACOLA. Loss of life heavy, especially among mariners.

Property loss estimated at $5,000,000 and the city practically wrecked.

Over 50 big steamers and sailing vessels wrecked; big iron steamers driven through buildings a mile from the water front.

The Navy yard is badly damaged and several gunboats undergoing repairs there are said to be beached.

MOBILE. Loss of life estimated at from 5 to 50.

Property loss over $3,000,000.

Revenue cutter Alert and several steamers sunk.

Velocity of wind 90 miles an hour.

City placed under martial law.

Pensacola, Fla. (Special).—The worst hurricane to visit this city in its history raged here furiously all Thursday night and Friday morning and with a gale still blowing, the city presents a wrecked appearance and the damage is estimated at $5,000,000.

The loss of life will be heavy among the mariners, but so far only one body has been recovered, a man named George Morgan, a fisherman. Other bodies are reported along the shore, but have not been recovered.

Commencing at 7 o'clock, the wind blew at 50 miles for three hours, then increased to 65 miles. From that time until 5 o'clock A. M., it remained about 80 and 90 miles an hour. The tides from the bay backed into the city for blocks, destroyed homes and making rivers out of streets.

When the gale was at its highest, women and children were running frantically about the streets in darkness, the alarm of fire was sounded and this added to the confusion.

The fire started in the Pitt Mill, near the business district, and horses of the fire department refused to go out in the weather. With the tin roofs flying about them; trees and wires falling over them the firemen took their hose wagons by hand and rushed down the streets to the scene, and after hours of work controlled the blaze.

War Vessels May Be Lost. No communication can be had with the navy yard, but it is believed that the yard has been badly damaged. A number of warships were there.

The vessels there undergoing repairs were the gunboats Vixen, Machias, Isla de Luzon and Gloucester, besides several smaller craft and the quartermaster's steamer Poe. They were in an exposed position, and it is feared they may have been beached.

Of the 50 or 60 big steamers and sailing vessels lying in the harbor only 5 or 6 are afloat now. They have been driven ashore, and along the water front is a mass of wreckage of steamers, tow boats, launches and sailing craft of all descriptions.

Thirty fishing vessels in port have been destroyed or damaged, and the three big fishhouses, with their wharves, are gone. Muscogee wharf and the Commandancia and Tarragona wharves of the Louisville Railroad are badly damaged.

Great iron ships of 2,000 and 3,000 tons have been driven not only ashore, but have gone through houses a block from the water front.

Every house along the water front for a distance of 10 miles has been destroyed, and the wonder is that the loss of life is not greater.

Every business house from the wharf, on Palafox Street, to the Union Depot, has been unroofed, many plate-glass windows broken, stocks badly damaged and wires and poles all mixed up together. There are no electric-light, car, telephone or telephone service.

Added to the horror of the situation is the thieves, who are breaking open trunks all along the beach, entering unoccupied houses and stealing everything in sight. Several arrests have been made, but it is impossible to protect property under such conditions.

Medal of Honor Legion. Winsted, Ct. (Special).—The Medal of Honor Legion put itself on record as opposed to the movement to take from the War and Navy Departments the sole right to pass upon the cases of applicants who have been recommended for a medal of honor.

The legion resolved that the present method of award of the medal is proper and that to change it by giving the power to Congress would subject awards to political influence.

To Vote On Dispensary Law. Raleigh, N. C. (Special).—The Raleigh dispensary, which produces an annual net profit of $60,000, is to run the gauntlet of a popular election in the near future. In a declaration today in the Superior Court Judge Webb granted a petition for a mandamus to order an election. The decision is important, constraining the Watts and Ward acts, under which North Carolina rural districts are under prohibition and a number of the cities have dispensaries.

A GREAT FEAT IN ENGINEERING

The Pennsylvania Railroad's Tunnel in Washington.

STATIONS AT THE OFFICE BUILDINGS.

Completion of an Important Feature Connected With the Construction of Terminals There—Separate Bores for Trains Going in Each Direction.

Washington, D. C. (Special).—The great tunnel of the Pennsylvania Railroad that runs under Capitol Hill, between the Capitol and the Congressional Library, was finished Thursday. It was intended that President Cassatt, of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and some of the officials of the company, should be taken through the tunnel. But, owing to Mr. Cassatt's illness, the plan was abandoned. The tunnel is about four-fifths of a mile long, and is about 80 feet below the surface of the street on Capitol Hill. Of all the many engineering feats involved in the construction of the new terminals of the Pennsylvania Railroad, the building of this tunnel was regarded with most apprehension. Congress cheerfully gave its consent to the building of miles of solid masonry walls and steel bridges over the streets, and all the other details of the great work, but committees of the House and Senate were in session more than a year hearing the engineers of the Pennsylvania Railroad and other expert testimony before they were finally convinced that a tunnel could be built under the plaza between the Capitol and the Library without endangering either of those massive buildings.

The work was begun in December, 1903, at New Jersey Avenue and D Street, Southeast, from which point to B Street the work was done in open cut. Here the actual tunneling commenced. Four drifts, two upper and two lower levels, just large enough for two men to work, were pushed forward and the timbering employed. As the timber arch was formed great shovels, operated by compressed air, dug out the core, the material being hauled away on cars.

The tunnel is known as a "twin" tunnel, so called because it consists of two parallel tubes, separated by a masonry wall, thus making each tube an individual tunnel, containing a single track. This not only eliminates the danger of collisions since trains in the west tube are southbound and those in the east tube are northbound, but it will make traveling far more comfortable since the trains in each tube, going only one way, will clear the tunnel of the gases and the smoke by the current created by the train's motion.

The work of building the parallel tubes was hindered by many serious difficulties, first of which was the presence of water and quicksand, but by the exercise of care and engineering skill, all these difficulties were finally surmounted and today the tunnel men turned the tunnel over to the track layers for their work.

The tunnel cost $2,000,000. Where it approaches the corner of B Street and North Capitol a tunnel will be built to a station in the subcellar of the office building of the House of Representatives, so that representatives coming from New York or other cities on the Pennsylvania can go directly to their offices in the building from their train. A similar tunnel will be built to the building that is now being constructed for suites of office rooms for the Senate at the other end of the Capitol plaza.

MURDERED IN INSANE ASYLUM. Miss Nellie Wicks, Aged 21 Years, Was The Victim.

Newburgh, N. Y., (Special).—Lizzie Halliday, a murderess, confined in the Matteawan Hospital for Insane Criminals, made a murderous assault on a female attendant, Miss Nellie Wicks, aged 21. Miss Wicks had occasion to go into the lavatory adjoining the ward about 8.30. The Halliday woman followed her in, knocked her down and, taking a pair of scissors from Miss Wicks, stabbed her in the throat. Miss Wicks died two hours later. Lizzie Halliday, who is a gipsy, in 1895 killed her husband Paul, and two women, concealing the bodies under the house at Burlington, a little place in Sullivan County.

An insane fondness for Miss Wicks and violent opposition to the nurse's impending departure from the hospital was the motive which prompted Mrs. Halliday to the murder. Mrs. Halliday had displayed a great deal of affection for Miss Wicks and the nurse had made her one of the most trusted patients.

HE WOULD KILL JEWS

Kaulbars Thinks It "Undesirable" To Stop Massacres.

Odessa (By Cable).—Replying to a deputation of municipal officials, who complained of the violence daily committed by members of the League of the Russian People against peaceful citizens, Jews and Christians alike, Governor-General Kaulbars said that the preservation of order was a matter concerning the police, but he personally doubted whether it was possible or even desirable to attempt to suppress the exasperation of the loyal elements against the revolutionary students, who were guided exclusively by Jews. These loyal elements included the Emperor's best sons, whom the government esteemed its most dutiful citizens.

Dismayed at these expressions of the Governor-General, the municipal officials suggested that the victims were mostly defenseless inhabitants who were not concerned in the revolution, to which General Kaulbars replied that he regretted that this was the case, but he must say that the population was thus punished for tolerating revolutionists among them instead of delivering them to justice.

"I do not think there will be fresh outbreaks," said Governor-General Kaulbars, "but in the event of the assassination of even one member of the League of the Russian People, Odessa will be inundated in blood."

The deputation thereupon retired. The tone of Governor-General Kaulbars' speech, which is regarded as an open expression of approval of the horrors of counter revolution, has created much alarm. While no gathering of Liberals is permitted, the League of the Russian People is establishing without hindrance 10 meeting places for its propaganda.

The Christian labor organizations have issued a proclamation declaring that in the event of a fresh outbreak they will defend the Jews with their last drop of blood.

Anarchy Rules Viatka. St. Petersburg (By Cable).—Grave agrarian disorders have broken out in the province of Viatka, the center of the disturbances being in the important district of Malמוש, with a population of more than 100,000 where according to the reports received, the inhabitants of 70 villages have joined the uprising, have disarmed and expelled the police and are pillaging and destroying the residences of the land owners and devastating the country. It is rumored at Viatka that the administrative police chiefs in the Malמוש district and eight of their subordinates have been killed. The excesses began September 20 with a riot over the enrollment of army reserve men for their autumn service. At the village of Multani a mob of peasants attacked the enrollment station, killed a sergeant and six rural policemen, mortally wounded the assistant police chief of the district and destroyed the lists of reserve men.

The Viborg manifesto is thought to be more directly responsible for the disorders than anything else. It had a wide circulation in Viatka Province, and its exhortation to the peasants to refuse to do military service was spread by the members of the outlawed parliament from Viatka.

FREDERIC GEIBHARD WEBS. Miss Louise Morris' First Husband Gets Florodora Girl.

New York (Special).—Frederic Gebhard and Miss Marie L. Gamble, better known as Miss Marie Wilson, an actress who came into public notice as a member of the Florodora sextet, have since January 2 last been married.

They had made every effort to keep their wedding secret until a year should have elapsed. They probably would have succeeded had not a search of certain records of vital statistics, undertaken for another purpose, revealed the record of their marriage.

They were married in the home of Rev. Dr. Henry Marsh Warren, the hotel chaplain, who resides at 48 West Ninety-fourth Street. She gave her name as Marie L. Gamble, daughter of Joseph Gamble, of Washington, and said that the maiden name of her mother was Sarah Robinson.
