

THE DALE MURDER.

THREATENED MR. DALE'S LIFE

Within the past few days it has been learned that a particular individual vehemently berated Mr. Dale. In this tirade he remarked in these words, or their equivalent:

Sometime Dale will be on the road and I will let him have it. This quotation was related to at least two persons, at different times, without the least qualification. The information will be passed to District Attorney Runkle for further investigation.

MR. DALE STONED.

A short time previous to his murder, Mr. Dale related to his wife that on several occasions while driving home after dark in his buggy and passing along the pike above the old tannery site, he had been stoned. At other times sticks and clubs had been thrown at his vehicle.

DALE'S RESIDENCE ALSO STONED.

At various times during the past six months Mr. Dale's residence in Centre Hall has been stoned. Clubs, sticks and stones were hurled against the door, others were thrown toward the up-stairs windows, lodging on the second story of a porch.

These incidents show that enemies of Mr. Dale attempted to do him violence, and although he mentioned who he suspected the persons were who committed the assault, the cowardly always kept in hiding. Since the murder it is intimated that others saw the assault.

THE JURY DID NOT REPORT.

At this writing the coroner's jury has not yet made a final report. Its findings so far are that Mr. Dale "came to his death from a gun shot wound inflicted by hands of some person unknown to the jury."

LOCALS.

Mrs. Rose DeWoody, who makes her home with her nephew, Chas. D. Bartholomew, has been ill for the past week.

Elmer R. Long and sister, Mrs. D. W. Decker, of Penns Cave, Monday returned from Milroy where they visited for a short time.

Within a short time patrons on the Centre Hall Bell telephone exchange will have continuous service. That sounds like business.

There will be a meeting of Progress Grange Saturday afternoon. The Grange library will also be open from 4 to 5 o'clock on that day.

The United Evangelical Church at Hubersburg will be re-opened Sunday. Bishop Stanford, of Harrisburg, will be one of the ministers to officiate.

W. H. Bartholomew & Son have opened a fire insurance office in Centre Hall. They write cash insurance, and during the short time they are in the business, have written quite a bit of insurance. They are advertising in this issue.

While her husband is hunting in the Seven Mountains, Mrs. Joseph M. Gilliland, and daughter, Miss Nellie, of New Bloomfield are spending the time among friends in Penns Valley. While in Centre Hall they are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Goodhart.

While feeding his chickens, James McGuire, a prosperous farmer, of Deer Creek, near Philipsburg, dropped over dead Thursday of last week. He served in the civil war and was aged seventy-three years. His mother is still living at the age of ninety-nine years.

The football game between Gettysburg and Bucknell, to be played at Lewisburg, Saturday afternoon, promises to be one of the greatest football contests played in that section this season. Both teams are in fine condition for the game and each team is going in to win.

After an absence from his home at Forest Hill, Union, county, since the battle of Antietam, Jeremiah Rader returned recently. After the war he went to Europe, later returned to California, where he settled. In all this time he never wrote to relatives or friends, all of whom regarded him as dead. He experienced considerable trouble in establishing his identity, as his acquaintances during the sixties failed to recognize him.

Many of the Reporter readers will recall Carl Anderson, one of the Swedes who operated the drill for Mr. Brown when sinking the test well, east of Centre Hall. His death was caused by abscesses, and occurred in the Bradford hospital. He leaves a wife and three small children. This bit of news was received by a friend from Frank W. Bloomster, who is now located at Marvindale, McKean county, and is employed by Mr. Brown.

John F. Zeigler, of Altoona, spent part of institute week in Bellefonte, and from there went to Boalsburg where he was entertained by Miss Gertrude Wieland. Mr. Zeigler is a native of Gregg township, but has been in Altoona for some years. His appearance in Boalsburg is not unusual, in fact, it is stated upon good authority that he has become very much attached to that place, and in time may even claim a portion as his own.

DEATHS

HON. AUSTIN O. FURST.

Hon. Austin O. Furst, a former judge of the 49th Judicial District composed of Centre and Huntingdon counties and one of the foremost attorneys of Central Pennsylvania, died at his home in Bellefonte Monday, at 12 o'clock noon. His death was the result of a lingering illness which had as its beginning an operation performed in a Philadelphia hospital about two years ago.

Austin O. Furst was born in 1834, near Salona, in the portion of Centre county from which Clinton county was subsequently formed. His parents were John and Barbara Furst. His father cleared a considerable tract of land in Lamar township and applied himself to agricultural pursuits.

After attending the public schools at his home, Mr. Furst graduated from Dickinson Seminary, Williamsport, in 1854, with the honors of his class. Later he read law with his brother Cline G. Furst, Esq., at Lock Haven, and was admitted to the Clinton county bar in 1860.

Immediately thereafter he moved to Bellefonte, and was admitted to Courts of Centre county on January 28, 1861, and has resided there ever since.

In November, 1884, he was elected President Judge of the 49th Judicial District and served the full term of ten years, ending January 1, 1895.

The funeral services will be held this (Thursday) morning. Interment private.

Previous to the interment, the Centre County Bar Association will hold a meeting, at which time Judge E. L. Orvis will deliver an address on the life and character of ex-Judge Furst.

MRS. JOHN M. STOVER.

After an illness of but a few days, Mrs. John M. Stover died at her home in Aaronsburg, last Friday. Interment was made Monday, in the local cemetery, Rev. D. Gress, of Centre Hall, officiating, owing to a vacancy in the Aaronsburg Reformed pastorate.

About a week previous to her death Mrs. Stover received a paralytic stroke, which was the direct cause of her death. The deceased's maiden name was Eve Catherine Kremer, and she was married to John Stover, who survives, December 27, 1898. A son and a daughter also survive, namely, Thos. Z., at home; and Mrs. C. N. Meyer, of Coburn. Her age was sixty-two years, two months. She was a member of the Reformed church for many years.

HENRY GARNER.

A well-known character in Ferguson township, Henry Garner, at Fairbrook, died Sunday after an illness of two hours of acute gastritis. His age was eighty-one years.

Mr. Garner came to Centre county from York county sixty years ago. He was a blacksmith by trade, and in the days of battalion he was prominent in musical circles, being a splendid fifer. His life was heard at almost every point in the county when a company was being formed. He was a member of the Methodist church, and a staunch Democrat. Two sons—William and Jerry—survive, both residents of Baileyville.

GEORGE BARTHOLOMEW.

George Bartholomew died at Danville, aged eighty-two years, Wednesday of last week. The funeral was held Saturday from the residence of his daughter, Mrs. W. E. Ertel, at Howard, interment being made at Hubersburg, the former home of the deceased.

The children who survive are W. H. Bartholomew, Centre Hall; Rebecca, wife of Rev. M. Romig, Liverpool; Kate, wife of W. Elmer Ertel, Howard; Miss Jennie Bartholomew, Lock Haven.

W. GALER MORRISON.

Friday evening of last week, W. Galer Morrison died at his home in Roland, aged forty-six years, ten months. Interment Monday.

Mr. Morrison was recorder of Centre county, and after retiring from that office he went to Curtin's Works or rather Roland where he went into the mercantile business and at the time of his death was head of the firm of Morrison & Glenn. He also served as a Justice of the Peace.

Mr. Morrison is survived by a wife and one child.

JOHN RILEY.

John Riley passed peacefully away at the home of his step-daughter, Mrs. William Prince, at Curtin's Works. He was aged seventy-five years, and served in the 45th Regiment, P. V., during the Civil war. He leaves to mourn his death an aged and crippled widow and one daughter.

MRS. ADALINE CORNMESSER.

Mrs. Adaline Cornmesser, a native of Centre county, and the mother of Mrs. Ann Matts, of Philipsburg, died at Harrisburg, after a long illness, aged about eighty-three years. The remains were taken to Tyrone for interment.

JOSEPH BECHDEL.

After a lingering illness, due to the

NEWS FROM THE CAMP.

Deer or Bear Killed by Nearly Every Hunting Party in the Mountains.

The Bradford hunting party in the Seven Mountains killed a fawn the first day of the season. Al. Bradford, of Pine Grove Mills, shot it. No news was heard from them during the past three days.

The hunting club to which Lucas, Musser, Rev. Rhoads, Jos. M. Gilliland belong, have reported one deer killed. They are also located in the Seven Mountains.

A crowd of Philipsburgers, located at Six Mile Run have killed two deer. Woomer's Morrisdale club, at Black Moshannon, shot a fine doe.

The Gillintown club, also located at Black Moshannon, killed four deer. The Gatesburg and Baileyville club, at Dayton dam, have two deer to their credit.

Reuben Comley and party, at the Rattlesnake, killed two deer the first day.

The Bellefonte club, while getting no deer as yet, have killed a fine big bear. The Roosevelt club, of Baileyville, have one bear.

The Modocs, of Pine Grove Mills, killed one deer.

The Wingert party, of Green Brier, killed one or two deer.

A party from Reading shipped two deer from Coburn to their home.

AMBLER HUNTERS' SUCCESS.

Messrs. Samuel McVaugh, an ice and milk dealer, and Edgar Kerbaugh, a butcher, both of Ambler, Montgomery county, spent last week hunting in the Seven Mountains and Nittany. Friday they killed two wild turkeys, one pheasant and two rabbits. The game was captured in the gap, east of Centre Hall.

Mine Boy in Scotland and Again in America; Now a Congressman.

The most talked-about man in this Congressional district, and, indeed, in all the mining sections in Pennsylvania, today is William B. Wilson. Mine boy in Scotland and again mine boy in America, the story of the man's career reads like one of those delightful books based upon the lives of Lincoln or Garfield.

The story of Wilson, of his boyhood, of his manhood, of his climb over the rugged steeps of poverty to a high political position, is complete by one who knows the man, in the Sunday North American for November 25. It is a story every mine boy and every miner and every American voter may read with a feeling of pride in the opportunities his country offers to the deserving.

The story of the career of Thomas D. Nichols, the other miner-Congressman, will be published in the Sunday North American for December 2. Mr. Nichols' life is equally as engaging a subject to the character student as that of Mr. Wilson.

Shot a White Deer.

A rare specimen of American deer, known as the white deer or Albino, was killed by Solomon Kinley on Coal mountain, Lycoming county, last week. This doe was practically of a pure white color with the exception of its ears and face, which were more like the natural color of the deer.

A Reliable Remedy for Croup. Mrs. S. Rosenthal, of Turner, Michigan, says: "We have used Chamberlain's Cough Medicine for ourselves and children for several years and like it very much. I think it is the only remedy for croup and can highly recommend it." For sale by The Star Store, Centre Hall; F. A. Carson, Potters Mills; C. W. Swartz, Tusseyville.

Mrs. John M. King, Mrs. Morris Furey and daughter attended the wedding of the only son of Dr. English, of Pittsburg, and Miss Godcharles, at Milton. The ceremony took place Tuesday evening.

Tuesday a monument was erected in the United Evangelical Cemetery, near Tusseyville, over the last resting place of Miss Emma Swartz, daughter of Mrs. S. M. Swartz, of Tusseyville. It is a handsome piece of work, and was executed by H. G. Strohmeier, the Centre Hall marble cutter.

And now it has developed that about one million dollars contributed toward the San Francisco fund to relieve the earthquake sufferers has been stolen; in other words, the grafters swallowed up about that much. Horrid, horrid! But, is it any worse than to cut off appropriations to insane asylums in order that political friends may have an opportunity, by graft, to line their pockets to the tune of four to five million dollars?

SOME FIRST OCCASIONS.

Cannon and small arms were introduced in 1390.

Spinning wheels came to the rescue of women in 1530.

The first stereotyping was done in 1813 in New York.

Shirts resembling those now worn were in use in 1830.

"Phrenology," "discovered" by Franz Joseph Gall, a Viennese physician, in 1796, became a so called science in 1805.

The first submarine telegraph wire in this country was from Governors Island to the Battery in New York, laid in 1842.

Double entry bookkeeping was first used in the mercantile cities of Italy, notably Venice and Florence, in the fifteenth century.

Schwartz invented gunpowder in 1328. But Roger Bacon, a thirteenth century alchemist, gives a recipe for it in a work of his in 1270.

Natural Wells in Yucatan.

Since Yucatan, where the Mayas built their strange cities, is a coral limestone formation, it would, says a writer in Records of the Past, have been a barren desert but for its subterranean rivers and the cenotes, or water caverns, which give access to them. The Mayas noted the courses of the underground streams and built their towns round the cenotes. Many cenotes are now found surrounded by ruins and give indications of the methods employed by the Mayas to reach their cool waters. In Uxmal a cenote about forty feet deep is inhabited by a peculiar species of fish. At Bolanchen there is a cenote having five open fountains in the rocks at the bottom of the cavern. Ladders made by tying tree trunks together lead down a total distance of 1,400 feet, but the perpendicular depth from the surface to the water is not over 500 feet.

The Mixture in Roumanian.

Roumanian is inhabited by a bewildering variety of races, but whether of Greek, Slav or Teutonic lineage, the modern Roumanian makes it a point of honor to claim descent from the colonists whom Trajan planted in the conquered province of Dacia A. D. 107. Calling themselves Romani and their language Romaine, the proud citizens seldom draw out a legal document without some allusion to their founder, whom they style "the divine Trajan." The Roumanian language reflects the composition of the race and now but faintly suggests the language which Trajan spoke.

Tennyson's Gruffness.

Appropos of Tennyson's gruffness is a story repeated by the London Chronicle. Tennyson, in his last days gave audience to an American, a friend of Longfellow and Lowell, who came armed with credentials. "I hope you don't write," was the cautious old poet's first remark. "No, my lord, and I don't talk" was the swift reply. This response set Tennyson at his ease, and he at least "talked" to his guest's vast contentment.
