THE NEW LAW.

It is argued that the farmers are against the new primary election law because it makes them attend two more elections every year. If such an opposition exists then the law was all the more needful. It would be better if the farmers and the voters generally attended the primaries and neglected to go to the election than to neglect the primary and then go and vote for the candidates named probably by a few political manipulators. If both parties nominated good candidates it isn't a matter of import which one is elected. But if the citizens neglect their duty at the primary and indifferent and incompetent men are named on both tickets, as is often the case, the polling of every vote in the district will not remedy the matter. If the new law will conduce to get voters to attend the primaries it will accomplish more for good local government than those who drafted it ever dreamed.

Spring Mills.

Farmers are about all ready for winter.

Rev. E. E. Hauey helped to capture a bear in the seven mountains.

George Bartley is entitled to the "cromo" so far for killing the largest porkers in this town. One of his hogs weighed 470 pounds.

Miss Ida M. Condo visited Miss Anna M. Corman on Sunday.

A. W. Gentzel, of Shamokin, was in town again last week. He comes here about twice a year to see if any repairs are needed to his property.

Thanksgiving day was well celebrated here this year. It was general butchering day, and the porker's squeal could be heard in every corner, at various times throughout the day.

D. W. Zeigler has the reputation of being a good corn husker. Some of the huskers rushed through the lower part of the stalks for the largest ears. Workers of this kind should be noted and not given employment for a while.

Dr. H. S. Braucht is improving some, but is not yet able to be out.

Rev. J. M. Rearick preached a very good sermon here on Sunday.

Miss Joe Condo, of Howard, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. H. S. Braucht, who is not very well at present.

Spring Mills.

Clara Smith spent Thanksgiving with friends in Millheim.

Tuesday morning was the coldest of the season thus far.

Mrs. Maurice Burkholder, of Altoona, was a pleasant visitor at the home of B. W. Ripka over Sunday.

E. H. Shook and son Gross are ill of scarlet fever, but are improving.

Andrew and Allen Mark are also suffering from scarlet fever.

LOCALS.

Monday night mercury came near dropping to the bottom—8 above zero was registered.

John Lucas, the carpenter, who had been in Altoona working at his trade, is back to Centre Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Meyer, of Reedsville, drove from that place to Centre Hall Sunday morning, and returned in the afternoon. They took home with them their daughter Miriam.

Charles and Laura Barner, son and daughter of G. W. Barner, of Farmers Mills, recently visited their uncle, Charles Stamm, at Loganston.

Since the continuous service has been in operation at the Bell exchange, it became necessary to secure a supply operator, and Tuesday Miss Clara Krape began duties in this capacity.

Miss Roxanna Brisbin is back from Hartford, Connecticut, where she had been during the past few months. While in the Connecticut town she was engaged in a large millinery establishment.

"Fun in a Photograph Gallery" and "Out in the Streets" will be rendered in Grange Arcadia, Saturday evening, December 22nd, by the young folks of the Epworth League of the M. E. church, Centre Hall.

A singing class was organized last Friday evening, in Grange Arcadia, with George H. Emerick, president; Prof. W. A. Krise, secretary, and Hon. L. Rhone, treasurer. Prof. P. H. Meyer is the instructor. The class will meet every Friday night. Parents of scholars are always welcome.

R. H. Goodhart, of Altoona, an engineer on the Pennsy, had a narrow escape a short time ago. He was in the act of doing some minor repairing at his engine while it was standing over a cluder dump, and while so doing another engine crashed into the one he was working at, wrecking both of them to a considerable extent. Mr. Goodhart was knocked through between the tie and fell into the dump, and that is what saved his life.

Thanksgiving Day.

By W. A. Krise.

Recited at Thanksgiving Day exercises in Centre Hall Grammar school, by Miss Lois Krise.

Thanksgiving Day has come again, The day that brings good cheer, When all good people should rejoice For blessings through the year.

The harvest has been gathered in, The fruit all put away, And one and all should thank the Lord On this November day.

Our larder now is filled with food From God's storehouse above, For which we ever should give thanks, And praise Him for His love.

The turkeys have been roasting high, They feared the headman's axe, But now they're in the roasting pan, All lying on their backs.

Now while we sit around the board, Spread with the fruits of earth Let us remember that the poor Will sing no songs of mirth.

The poor we always have with us, The blessed Master said, Whose food is scarce, and who sleep not Upon a downy bed.

Then while we eat our daily bread On this Thanksgiving Day, Let's with the poor our bounty share, And thus God's law obey.

Misses Mary Reish, Besse Seanson and Mabel Brown visited friends at Pine Hall and attended the re-opening of the Reformed church at that place.

Mrs. Emeline Hess came from her home at Bellefonte, Saturday, to attend the funeral of Alexander Miller, and remained for some time with relatives in this place.

Mrs. John Musser and daughter, Katharine, of Bellefonte, and George Keller and son, of Houserville, spent Thanksgiving day at the home of L. Mothersbaugh.

The ladies of the Lutheran missionary society celebrated their annual anniversary with appropriate exercises, Sunday evening.

J. M. Wieland and daughters, Leona and Rebecca, attended the exercises at Pine Hall, Sunday.

The funeral of Alexander Miller, Sunday, was largely attended. Among those present from a distance were: Mr. and Mrs. Philip Wirts, of Houserville; Mrs. David Weaver and daughter May, of Centre Furnace; Mr. and Mrs. Newton Hess, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Shugart, Mr. and Mrs. William Martz, Mr. and Mrs. William Tate, of Ferguson township.

Thanksgiving services were held in the Reformed and Presbyterian churches Sunday evening.

Harry Gilmer, of near Rebersburg, visited his mother and other friends in this community. While here he assisted at the butchering.

E. F. Allen is working at carpentering at State College.

David Rhinewith, of Benner township, attended to business here on Monday.

Rev. and Mrs. Samuel Stein, of Leek Haven, were guests at the Reformed parsonage Monday.

Rev. W. H. Grob, of Carlisle, is enjoying the week with friends in Centre county.

Potters Mills.

Woodward. E. F. Orndorf and mother, Mrs. Wise, were to Millheim Monday afternoon. Revival meeting in the United Evangelical church will begin Sunday evening. Among those on the sick list are Mrs. Samuel Creamer and Mrs. Allen Yearick. Noah Kotner visited his sister, Mrs. Mrs. Annie Condo, at Aaronsburg, last week. Mrs. Kathryn Benner left for Spring Mills, Sunday. Benjamin Cohen took a load of pork to Union county on Tuesday. F. P. Guisewitz and family spent the Sabbath with his mother. Harris Stover, wife and baby Mabelle spent Sunday at the home of Mrs. R. M. Wolfe.

The Thanksgiving supper in Grange Arcadia was well attended.

It Sounds

Paradoxical

and it is, because it's true that you or any other man cannot afford to be poorly dressed. To do so is not making a good use of your capital, for that is what your personal appearance means to you.

To make the best of your capital—to be well dressed without going to a high-priced custom-tailor—to have all the advantages that go with good clothes, the power, the influence, the pleasures that are the possessions of a well-dressed man, there is but one thing to do: Make your selections from our stock of Kuppenheimer Clothes.

Kuppenheimer Clothes have all the style, the fine workmanship and individuality, the fit and quality which characterize the product of the metropolitan tailor who charges fifty, sixty, or seventy-five dollars for a Suit or Overcoat. You have probably seen them advertised in all the leading magazines.
