

DEATHS.

OLIVER P. REARICK.

A belated death notice is that of Oliver P. Rearick, late of Seymour, Missouri, which occurred November 24th. Mr. Rearick was born in Potter township, June 13, 1834, and in 1877 moved to the west. His first wife died some years ago, but he afterward remarried. A widow and several children survive. A local paper contained the following notice:

"Oliver P. Rearick died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Moses Rippe last Wednesday morning with what was thought to be heart trouble. He was as well as usual up to his death. He and his wife were caring for Mr. Rippe's place while they were attending camp meeting at Pleasant Valley. They were out milking when Mr. Rearick fell to the ground and was carried to the house and died within a few minutes. He was a good christian man and his death is sadly regretted by those who knew him. He was a Mason in good standing, and that lodge conducted the burial services."

ALEXANDER MILLER.

As a result of a broken limb, Alexander Miller died at his home near Boalsburg, Friday, aged fifty-one years, six months. Interment was made at Boalsburg Sunday, Rev. J. I. Stonecypher officiating.

The deceased was the son of John Miller, and with his sisters, Mary and Phoebe, lived on the old homestead at Shingletown. Mrs. Jacob Herman, of Lemont, is a sister, and the brothers are David and John, of Pine Grove Mills, and George, a twin, of Ferguson township.

Some weeks ago Mr. Miller fell from a load of corn fodder and broke his leg, which had previously been diseased, and the bone refused to knit. Friday he suddenly complained of a pain in his chest and in his throat, and in a short time afterward death came.

MRS. MARGARET VORE HOSTERMAN.

Mrs. Margaret Vore Hosterman, widow of the late David Hosterman, of Ocoola, Ohio, deceased, died, Tuesday, November 27, after an illness of several weeks.

Mrs. Hosterman, who before marriage was Margaret Vore, was born along Pine Creek, Haines township, January 31, 1831, and consequently was aged seventy-five years, ten months and twenty days. She was married November 8, 1853, and resided in Haines township until 1868, when she and her husband removed to Ohio, locating at Ocoola, where they resided until death. Eight children were born to them, six of whom survive.

Mrs. Hosterman was the aunt of Irvin V. Musser, former partner of W. H. Meyer, in this place.

GOTTLIEB HAAG.

The well-known hotelkeeper and German, Gottlieb Haag, died at the Bellefonte hospital Friday morning. He was born in Germany in 1829, and in 1854 came to America. After living at various places, he located at Pleasant Gap, where he built a hotel and distillery. Nineteen years ago he moved to Bellefonte, where he purchased the Haag house.

Mrs. Haag, also deceased, was a German lady. The couple were childless, but reared two boys—Harry Haag, of Bellefonte, and John C. Mulfinger, of Pleasant Gap.

PETER WOLF.

An old native of Centre county, and one still well remembered by many of the older residents of Penns Valley, Peter Wolf, died at his home in Warriorsmark, Huntingdon county, after a year's illness. He was born in Boalsburg, August 23rd, 1831. He is survived by six children, namely: W. R., of Altoona; Ammon A., of Tip-top; Mrs. Dorsey Cronister, of Springmont; Warren B., C. E., and Pennia M., at home. Interment was made in the cemetery at Warriorsmark.

ADAM GRENINGER.

After an illness of several weeks, Adam Greninger, south of Rebersburg, died Monday night, aged fifty-two years. The funeral will be held today (Thursday), Rev. Wetzel to officiate.

Mr. Greninger was afflicted with rheumatism for some time, but always endeavored to earn an honest living. He is survived by a wife, a daughter of John Wolf, late of Wolfe Store, deceased. Several children also survive.

JOSEPH E. TIBBENS.

Joseph E. Tibbens, of Loganton, was found along the electric car tracks at Altoona with his arm ground off at the shoulder, and other injuries. He was taken to the hospital where he died Friday. The remains were shipped to Loganton, where interment was made, the funeral being conducted from the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Tibbens, Monday morning. He is survived by a widow and two children.

MRS. THOMAS FRANK.

Mrs. Mahalia Frank, wife of Thomas Frank, died very suddenly at her home, at Boalsburg, Sunday, aged 84 years, and is survived by his wife and six children.

The wall of the National Bank Company building, at Milroy, is up and ready for superstructure. The company expects to be ready for business by the first of January. The lower story of the building will be occupied by the bank and the post office.

Judge Auten has handed down an opinion that a member of a borough council has no right to enter into a contract with the borough to do borough work. The question arose in a Sunbury squabble. His interpretation of the law seems to have been generally understood in almost all other towns, perhaps excepting Sunbury.

W. O. Rearick and wife, of Milroy, paid a visit to the former's mother and brothers' families, and also the relatives of Mrs. Rearick, on Friday and Saturday of last week. Mr. Rearick reports a sale of fifty lots from the Treasurer farm opposite the railroad station in Milroy, to Mrs. Rearick and son Rufus being the purchasers of five of them.

WHEN VACCINATION FAILS TO TAKE

Health Commissioner Dixon Explains Provision That Is Made In Such Cases So That Children May Not Be Debarred From School.

WHEN CLAIM IS MADE THAT "CHILD IS UNFIT"

In Exceptional Cases, Where Careful Investigation By Local or State Health Authorities Justifies Admission to School, It Is Authorized.

"After three carefully performed but unsuccessful attempts to vaccinate a child have failed, that child should not be debarred from school privileges, but should be admitted, and the Department of Health has provided for this," said State Health Commissioner Samuel G. Dixon in an interview.

"The Supreme Court of Pennsylvania," continued Dr. Dixon, "called attention in the recent opinion it handed down reaffirming the validity of the so-called vaccination law of June 18, 1895, to the hardship involved in the twelfth section of that act when it is beyond the power of children of school age to be vaccinated, although they may not previously have had smallpox nor previously been vaccinated, and even repeated attempts to perform the operation upon such children are without effect and vaccination will not take. In such cases, as the court pointed out, the physician cannot certify that such child has been successfully vaccinated so as to meet the requirement of admission to school. The court's decision suggested the possibility of the health authorities, state or local, making a regulation setting forth the conditions under which a child upon whom vaccination will not take, may be permitted to go to school. The court also suggests that the health authorities would have to consider whether such a regulation would be undesirable as affording opportunity for the evasion of the statute."

"The Department of Health," continued Health Commissioner Dixon, "has taken this tendency to evade the law into consideration, as it was obliged to, and yet we have endeavored to see that those children who could not be vaccinated should be admitted to school. Our method of accomplishing this from the first has been as follows:

"When the cases that we received inquiry about were within the limits of a borough or city having a Board of Health of its own, we suggested that after two unsuccessful attempts to vaccinate a child, the third attempt be made by or in the presence of the physician of the Board of Health. If this attempt failed, then the physician of the board, acting in his official capacity, should authorize the admission of the child."

"In the rural districts, where there are no Boards of Health to pass upon such cases, I have always asked that after three unsuccessful attempts to vaccinate a child have been made, the name of the child and the physician who made the attempts be referred immediately to the State Department of Health. The cases have then been at once investigated by our County Medical Inspectors or some one deputized by them, so that the child might not unjustly be debarred from school privileges. These methods of dealing with the situation have been in conformity with the Supreme Court's suggestion that the health authorities assume the responsibility of authorizing the admission to school of children upon whom, after a reasonable number of attempts, vaccination does not take."

"Taking advantage of the spirit of this part of the Supreme Court's opinion, we have also endeavored to deal with the cases of children where there was reason to believe that the child's physical condition did not make vaccination at the present time advisable. The Attorney General of the State has given an opinion that a teacher was not authorized to accept a certificate from a physician stating that the child was not in a physical condition to be vaccinated. It is reasonable to believe, however, that although the simple giving of such a certificate by the family physician would not be sufficient, the spirit of the Supreme Court's opinion would permit the recognized health authorities throughout the state, after careful investigation, to pass upon such cases."

"Therefore when such cases are now brought to the attention of our department, we have suggested that inside borough or city limits, the local Board of Health, through its physician, decide whether the child is well enough to attend school and yet not in a fit condition to be vaccinated. In the districts where there are no Boards of Health we are having such cases investigated and passed upon by our regular County Medical Inspectors."

"It will thus be seen," concluded Dr. Dixon, "that the State Department of Health is doing everything possible to prevent any child from being unjustly deprived of his schooling. If the parent or guardian, however, refuses to permit a child to be vaccinated simply through prejudice, the health authorities certainly have no power to interfere with the operation of the law. In such cases we have done everything we could to overcome this prejudice by education, so that the innocent child might not be made to suffer because the parent desired to leave it exposed to the ravages of smallpox rather than undergo vaccination, which the Legislature of Pennsylvania, in the exercise of its police power, has made one of the requisites of admission to school."

Tinder Boxes. A man was buying a camping outfit. The dealer, as he packed the camp stove, said:

"And I shall add a tinder box as well."

"A tinder box?" exclaimed the camper. "Of course not. I am after camp things, not curios."

"Campers, explorers and big game hunters, nevertheless, often include a tinder box among their luggage," said the dealer. "A tinder box is cumbersome, troublesome, old fashioned, that can't be denied, but it is reliable. In a damp climate, in a flood, where matches may go back on you, a tinder box will never fail."

"There is a regular trade in tinder boxes, and there is a town in England, the town of Brandon, that devotes itself wholly to the manufacture of gun flints and tinder box flints. These antique devices are sold in the most rural parts of Spain and Italy, and, as I said before, explorers, campers and big game hunters often include them in their outfits."

Care of the Nostrils. According to a common sense physician much of the catarrh and so called cold in the head from which those living in large towns suffer is due directly to the dust which inevitably lodges in the nasal passages while on the city streets and against which no precautions are taken.

The membrane which lines the nostrils, he says, is of a highly sensitive nature. The dust and grime irritate this tender surface.

They also tend to stop up the nasal passages by accumulating there, and this obstruction with many persons passes as catarrh. In reality it is nothing more or less than lack of cleanliness and sanitation. At least twice a day the nostrils should be carefully cleansed with a soft rag and warm water. If this is done immediately after coming in from the street so much the better, as in that way the dust particles will have less time to irritate the delicate membrane.—Philadelphia Press.

How Diphtheria is Contracted. One often hears the expression, "My child caught a severe cold which developed into diphtheria," when the truth was that the cold had simply left the little one particularly susceptible to the wandering diphtheria germ.

When Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given it quickly cures the cold and lessens the danger of diphtheria or any other germ disease being contracted. For sale by The Star Store, Centre Hall; F. A. Carson, Potters Mills; C. W. Swartz, Tusseyville.
