NO MEDICINE

But Change of Food Gave Final Relief. Most diseases start in the alimentary canal-stomach and bowels. A great deal of our stomach and bowel troubles come from eating too much starchy and greasy food.

The stomach does not digest any of the starchy food we eat-white bread. pastry, potatoes, oats, etc .-- these things are digested in the small intestines, and if we eat too much, as most of us do, the organs that should digest this kind of food are overcome by excess of work, so that fermenta-ails result. Too much fat also is hard to digest and this is changed into acids, sour stomach, belching gas, and a tion, indigestion, and a long train of bloated, heavy feeling. In these conditions a change from indigestible foods to Grape-Nuts will work wonders in not only relieving the distress, but in building up a strong digestion, clear brain and steady nerves. A Wash. woman

Only A Phonograph.

A scandal was averted at the Hotel Martha Washington (for women exclusively) by the efficient sleutning of the house detective. The hour was late and all the elderly spinsters' slumbers were untroubled when a strange sound was heard. A man's voice above the parlor floor-at 12 o'clock! Curl papers and kimonas were the costume most in vogue among the group gathered in the hallway. They listened, and once again the man's voice disturbed the conventional halls of the hotel.

"Je vais faire des emplettes ce matin," observed the intruder. "Je vais, tu vas, il va," he added in clear, resonant tones. It couldn't be the night watchman or the clerk. It was clearly a stranger, a foreigner. A bunch of curl papers and a kimono detached themselves from the shuddering group and marched down to the office. 'Where's the head bellgirl?" demanded their owner. "She has gone home, madam," said the clerk, "What can I do for you?" "There is a man—a creature—a foreigner-upstairs!"

The house detective approached the door of a bedroom and listened. "Je connias le fils du jardinier," asserverated the masculine voice. The house detective thundered at the door. "What is it?" asked a startled feminine voice.

"There is a man in your room." The door flew open and revealed the indignant face of the occupant.

Held Up Two Policemen.

Louis Goldman, aged 15, ran away from his home several days ago, taking a Fourth of July pistol that explodes nothing more harmful than caps, and a collection of yellow-backed novels. He rented a room for a month, paying $4 to Leon Weinroch. Thursday he wanted to go home and went to Weinroch for his money. Weinroch didn't look at the transaction in Louis' light, and out came the toy pistol. Weinroch quailed. Two policemen got there just in time to see Weinroch count out $4 in change under the steady gaze of the Fourth of July pistol. The boy ran at sight of the policemen. He got to the roof and hid behind the water tank. When his pursuers appeared he poked the toy pistol at them and they dodged behind another water tank. The neighborhood went to the roof and dodged this way and that as the toy pistol covered one or the other. Finally the cops outflanked Louis and captured him and his toy

Snore Duet In A Window,

Because Dr. Dalrymple believed that public decency was being violated when he saw an intoxicated man sleeping beside a live pig in a saloon window, he made a complaint to police headquarters. Detectives arrested John Reid. Dr. Dalrymple appeared before Justice Van Auken. "This man," said the physician, "was so drunk that he did not know what he was doing. If you should fine him I would be willing to pay his fine, but the parties who placed him in that front window with a pig should be punished." "Some persons may think there was something funny about this, but I do not," said Justice Van Auken. "I am going to find out who put Reid in that wind dow, and when I find the man I will punish him. I will discharge you. Reid, and I want you to help me." Reid says that all he remembers was that a wager was made that he would not lie down beside the pig.

A Million Pounds of Turkey.

The annual feast of turkey was a greater and a more expensive feast Thursday than in many years. was estimated by an expert that in Greater New York a million pounds of turkey were eaten; that the cost of the feast was from 25 to 30 cents a pound, and that if the turkeys were packed in rows eight deep they would fill the roadways and the promenade of the Brooklyn Bridge from end to end. More than seven thousand charges of the municipality feasted on the noble bird under the supervision of the Department of Charities. Twenty-six hundred men and women sat down to a bountiful feast of turkey and chicken stew on Blackwell's Island, and in the Metropolitan Hospital 2000 patients and 300 employees had a fine Thanksgiving dinner. The change from previous years was that that were no religious services.

Weekly Review of Trade and Latest Market Reports.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: In all departments of agricultural, industrial and mercantile activity the current year is surpassing even the phenomenal record of 1905, which in turn eclipsed all preceding years. Leading manufacturing industries are reciving orders for delivery far into next year, the volume of forward business being exceptional for iron and steel products, and a sharp advance in the price of raw cotton testifies to the consumption by spinners.

Operations continue at the maximum in pig-iron furnaces, yet deliveries are so unsatisfactory that imports are constantly arranged. Confidence in well-maintained consumption is evinced by purchases abroad for delivery next year, and demands from the United States have advanced foreign quotations.

Less activity is noted in the hide market, due to the overbought condition rather than any lack of inquir-The foreign decline has not yet reached the point where hides are offered for shipment hither. Strength and quiet continue to characterize the leather market, the only activity being noted in belting butts and oak backs suitable for belting purposes. The light demand from shoe manufacturers in this vicinity is attributed to the inventories usually taken at this time.

Liabilities of commercial failures thus far reported for November ber amounted to $6,809,901, of which $2,957,969 were in manufacturing, $3,643,477 in trading and $208,155 in other commercial lines.

What Do They Cure?

The above question is often asked con-cerning Dr. Pierce's two leading medi-cines, "Golden Medical Discovery" and "Favorite Prescription."

The answer is that "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most potent alterative or Discovery "is a most potent alterative or blood-purifier, and tonic or invigorator and acts especially favorably in a curative way upon all the mucous lining surfaces, as of the nasal passages, throat bronchial tubes, stomach, bowels and bladder curing a large per cent of catarrhal cases whether the disease affects the nasal passages, the throat larynx, bronchia, stomach (as catarrhal dyspepsia), bowels (as makous tarrhal dyspepsia), bowels (as makous tarrhal dyspepsia), bowels (as makous tarrhal dyspepsia), the chronic or ulcarative stages of these affections, it is often successful in affecting cures.

The "Favorite Prescription" is advised for the cure of one class of diseases—those reculiar weaknesses, derangements and rregularities incident to women only. It is a powerful yet gently acting invigorating tonic and nervine. For weak worn-out, over-worked women—no matter what has caused the break-down, "Favorite Prescription "will be found most effective in building up the strength, regulating the womanly functions, subduing pain and bringing about a healthy, vigorous condition of the whole system.

A book of particulars wraps each bottle giving the formulæ of both medicines and quoting what scores of eminent med-ical authors, whose works are consulted by physicians of all the schools of practice as guides in prescribing, say of each ingredient entering into these medicines. The words of praise bestowed on the several ingredients entering into Doctor Pierce's medicines by such writers should have more weight than any amount of non-professional testimonials, because such men are writing for the guidance of their medical brethren and know whereof they speak. Both medicines are non-alcoholic, secret, and contain no harmful habit-forming drugs, being composed of glyceric extracts of the roots of native, American medicinal forest plants. They are both sold by dealers in medicine. You can't afford to accept as a substitute for one of these medicines of known composition,
