New York (Special). - Twenty dead, two fatally hurt and 145 others more or less seriously injured is the result of the wreck of an electric express train on the New York Central Railroad at Two Hundred and Fifth Street and Webster Avenue. Of the large number of injured, 50 are, according to hospital and police reports, seriously hurt, and the death list may be increased.

Most of the others are suffering from lacerations or shock and will

E. R. Rogers, the motorman of the derailed train, who was arrested by order of the coroner and taken before him for examination, was subsequently paroled on his own recognizance to appear for the coroner's inquest. Rogers declared that the train was running no faster than steam trains were commonly run. The cause of the wreck is still a matter of speculation. All night Inspector Flood, of the police department; Coroner Schwannecke and Assistant District Attorney Smythe, together with other members of the District Attorney's force, looked over the scene and sought to determine the cause of the derailment of the train. The result of their investigation may become known when the inquest is held by the coroner. All four of the tracks of the New York Central through the rocky cut where the train left the rails and several of the cars went to pieces had been cleared. The track on which the train was running and which was ripped up in the accident | Del. had been restored, the third rail rely under normal condition

Seventy Miles an Hour.

With the clearing of the wreckage, interest turned to what the authorities might do. Perhaps the most significant statement of the day was the one made by Coroner Schwan-He had secured a statement from Motorman Rogers, of the wrecked train. In this, according to the Coroner, the motorman had stated that he was running on schedule time when the accident occurred and admitted that the speed of his train was 70 miles an hour. Rogers, said the Coroner, declares that he did not know anything was wrong until an eighth of a mile beyond the place of derailment.

The train consisted of a doubleheader motor coupled into one engine, with one motorman, drawing five coaches. The first was a smoker, the second is described as a power car, though it is commonly designated as a combination baggage and smoker, and the three following were ordinary passenger coaches.

A TERRIBLE TRAGEDY AT SEA.

Disaster Occurs Without Warning, and in a Moment the Companionway Is Choked Up With Fragments of the Seven Victims - The Steamer Was Shatter d and Disabled.

New York (Special) .- The Hamburg-American Line steamer Valdila, fruit laden from the West Indies, ame into port with her forward decks shattered, her funnel flat upon the deck and the story of a boiler explosion on board, which caused the instant death of seven members of the crew and the serious injury of another. The exploding boiler was known as the auxiliary and supplied team to the various hoisting engines, anstans, steering gear, etc Off Hatteras it was decided to turn steam from the auxiliary boiler into the main steam pipes to help out in making the speed necessary to contract requirement and to save the perishable cargo. All through the loading ports in the West Indies it is said the auxiliary boiler had been working with 80 to 100 pounds of steam, whereas just before the explosion occurred the steam gauge show was being increased by forced draft when suddenly there came a "puff, as it was described, and seven men ous Wisconsin University baseball lay dead in the companion-way of the pitcher, who was supposed to be forward 'tween decks. forward 'tween decks.

In the boat were several bodies of men who had died from the effects of long hours of exposure to a deathdealing temperature. In the boat also were 11, whose suffering was so intense that they seemed oblivious to the fact that death was in their midst, and that they had escaped only by virtue of their ability to withstand the rigor of zero weather in an open boat at sea.

The boat brought a tale of disaster that has rarely been equaled in New England waters, and it is believed that when the final count is made it will be found that not less than 150 lives were lost.

Grim Tokens of Suffering. Following closely in the wake of the solitary lifeboat came bodies, cast upon the beach by angry waves. Then came lifeboats and rafts. gave out this statement: "We have come to a satisfactory understanding upon the assumption that Congress will pass the amendment to the Immigration Bill introduced February 13.

The filibustering tactics on the Immigration Bill in the Senate were brought to a close by assurances from the White House that there would be no ruling on the practice, inauguarated by South Carolina, of states importing foreign labor. Several Southern senators believed that the new bill would prohibit further importations of foreign labor by states. Both Messrs. Bacon and Tillman disclaimed any intention to conduct a filibuster, and many other Democratic senators stated that even if the Georgia Senator and the South Caolina Senator did entertain such purpose theywould not follow them. During the debate on the Immigraion Bill in the Senate a member of the Cabinet, who was on the floor, told senators that the subject of state immigration had received the attention of the Cabinet at its meeting and that there had been a general conclusion that the terms of the bill would not require a new ruling in the South Carolina case.

Instead of the Senate discussing that clause of the bill which relates to the Japanese situation, and which is really the only reason why the Immigration Bill has been resurrected, the entire day was devoted to a clause in the bill which some of the Carolina.

OVER HALF MILLION

Savings Bank Treasurer's Defalcation Serious.

THE BAPTIST CONVENTION FUNDS.

A Statement Is Issued Dec aring That the Institution Will Have More Than Enough to Pay All Depositors in Full -Treasurer Walker 1 id Not Touch Cash, but Abstracted Bonds.

New Britain, Ct. (Special) .-- More than half a million dollars' worth of securities were taken from the vaults of the Savings Bank of New Britain by the missing treasurer, William F. Walker, according to a statement issued by the board of directors of the institution, following the collateral in the bank by State Bank Commissioners Kendal and Noble. There is left a surplus of about $143,000 over and above the amount due the depositors, the actual shortage being $565,000. The directors believe the greater part of the securities will be recovered.

As the bank commissioners were preparing a statement to give to the directors Mayor George M. Lauders sent a letter to Governor Woodruff asking that Commissioner Kendall be removed from office on the ground of neglect of duty and incompetency He pointed out in this letter that when Mr. Kendall began an examination of the affairs of the bank last Thursday Treasurer Walker, or a plea of illness, left the bank, and Commissioner Kendall did not continue his work, but returned home to await Walker's convenience, knowing at the time that the latter did not return home that day.

In an interview Mayor Lander says he is prompted also to take this ac tion through personal knowledge that the bank was not examined, as a rule, until after an appointment had been made by the commissioners with Treasurer Walker, while they are supposed to visit a bank without previous notice.

Bank Suspends Payments.

There was no little excitement in and about the savings bank building during the day, owing to the uneasiness of hundreds of depositors, who suddenly found that they could not get their deposits under 90 days, the bank, upon orders of Attorney Gen eral Holcomb, having taken advant of withdrawal. The examination of the bank apparently shows that Walker did not touch any of the ready cash or the book accounts, and the shortage is purely an abstraction of bonds. No one in New Britain has been able to give a reason for his need of the bonds, as members of his family his fellow-employes in the bank and by information obtained wall. Later he was removed to the ties in New York, and to learn the

The directors' statement follows: The officers of the Savings Bank of New Britain, working with the bank commissioners, have examined the assets of the Savings Bank of New Britain and find that there is an apparent shortage of about $565. 000. After charging this amount off there will be still about $143,000 of a surplus, which makes the amount due the depositors safe.
