A Duzzling Prospect.

A poor Mexican laborer who chanced pon pay one returned after his fortuate find to the doorway of his miserable hovel and sat down to enjoy at Mr. Wilson and family came to Centre leisure the prospect of riches. At first, he confided afterward to his old employer, his thoughts were hardly thought at all; they were a vague, delicious gollea vision in which details were ignored. After a time, however, t occurred to him that he might as cell make up his mind definitely what s would do with his money when he cot it. He could decide upon but one hing, but with that he was quite conented. Screens in that region were aknown and insects troublesome, but is had heard of a remedy. Profitable Bouquet Sending.

A Russian grand duke, finding himelf with a few days to spare in Paris, vent one evening to the theater and, seing a person of importance, thought himself bound to soud a bouquet to the placipal actrops. A month afterward, being in the same apartments, his servant anaounced that a lady wished to see him. Going to the room, he found an unknown lady before him. "I am afraid your highness does not recentize me,? she said. "I am Mariquita, an actress, and I have come to Interment was made at Wolf's thank you for your numerous kind attentions,"

"I recognize you now, madame," replied the duke, "but I think you are misiaken. I only sent you one bouquet."

"But it was your servant who brought them each evening," she said. Accordingly the servant was called, and eventually, with much confusion, he said to his muster:

"When I took the first bouquet, your highness, the lady gave me a tip of 5 francs, and as the bouquet cost only 40 sous I made 3 francs over it. So I same result each time. I pray your highness' pardon."

Neglected Colds Threaten Life.

[From the Chicago Tribune.] " Don't trifle with a cold, ' is good advice for prudent men and women. It may be vital in the case of a child. Proper food, good ventilation, and dry, warm clothing are the proper safe-guards against colds. If they are maintained through the changeable weather of autumn, winter and spring, the chances of a surprise from ordinary colds will be slight. But the ordinary light cold will become severe if neglected, and a well established ripe cold is repeated the performance, with the to the germs of diphtheria what honey is to the bee. The greatest menace to child life at this season of the year is the neglected cold."
