Eagles Banquet Tonight.

The local lodge of Golden Eagles will hold their annual banquet at Old Fort Hotel, this (Thursday) evening.

Clover Seed.

We have now on hand choice common red clover seed. Consult us before buying. All seed will bear inspection. FOREMAN & SMITH, Centre Hall, Pa.

Summer School.

The spring term of the Boalsburg Normal and Preparatory School will open April 15th and continue eight weeks. Pupils from a distance can obtain boarding at reasonable rates. For further information address H. C. ROTHROCK, Principal.

Post Cards.

A new line of Souvenir Post Cards—all kinds and at all prices. The local views are the prettiest yet offered for sale at this office. Birthday, Stork, Art, Poses, Comic Cards, etc., etc.,—more than one hundred kinds.

New Switch Board.

The Bell Telephone Company placed a new switch board in their Centre Hall exchange. The old board was too small to accommodate the growing business of the company. The board was put into position and connection made by Messrs. Harry Jacobs and Harry Harter, both of Harrisburg; and regular employees of the Bell Company. The latter is a native of Centre Hall, being a son of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Harter, of Harrisburg.

Tuesday morning Cleveland Mitterling went to Pittsburg with a view of finding employment there.

THE RURAL TELEPHONE.

Several More Lines to be Extended into Rural Districts from the Centre Hall Exchange.

The telephone on the farm in Penna Valley is a recent acquisition, yet the extensiveness of the business of The Patron's Rural Telephone Company is gratifying. It is an encouraging proposition, for there is no reason why farmers cannot make these 'phones a paying proposition as well as being connected with the outside world by wire for social reasons. Like the rural free delivery, 'phones in farm homes have come to stay.

During the past two weeks an effort has been made to extend branch lines from the Centre Hall exchange to the farm of D. J. Meyer, tenanted by Newton Yarnell, and a side line to the residence of John R. Lee, south of Colyer. This line is practically assured, there having been sufficient cash subscribed for its construction. This line will be known as Branch Company No. 19.

Another line will be constructed along the Brush Valley road, west of Centre Hall, to the farm of Wm. S. Brooks, (and probably farther west) with a side line to the home of Samuel Gingerich, and other points. More definite points will be given in a later issue.

A third line is also being contemplated along the Brush Valley road, east of Centre Hall, the terminus being in the vicinity of Penns Cave.

LOCALS.

Mrs. D. K. Geiss, of Centre Hall, is ill and confined to bed. It is a case of grip.

Messrs. Foreman and Smith advertise common red clover seed for sale. Their seeds are all choice.

E. L. Stover, the Aaronburg thrasherman, has ordered a new Peerless threshing machine with a side stacker attached.

The Reporter's Georges Valley correspondent says Green Decker, of Fleisher, North Dakota, is at his farm here.

At their entertainment the Millheim base ball club cleared $40. The entertainment was reproduced at Madisonburg, which receipts added to the above sum.

Mrs. Andrew Ruhl, at Buffalo Cross Roads, Union county, who had been seriously ill, is much improved. Her husband took sick last week, and for a time was in a serious condition.

Dr. H. F. Bitner, who holds a professorship in the Millersville Normal School, was in Centre Hall for several days last week, and while here was looking after his two fine farms, southwest of Centre Hall.

A number of new subscribers have been added to the Reporter's subscription list within the past month. The editor returns thanks, and will make an effort to all the more make the Reporter a weekly letter from the old home place.

Harry E. Bible, formerly from Spruce town, is now chief clerk in the store of M. P. Brumbaugh, in Altoona. He realizes that the only way to get the news from Penna Valley is to become a subscriber of the Reporter, which he did.

A patient sufferer is Mrs. Jacob Walker, west of Centre Hall. She was ill when the family moved to the Glace farm, purchased by them, three years ago, and for the greater part of the time was confined to her room. This sickness has not eliminated her cheerful disposition.

Miss Lola Strohm, daughter of ex-Commissioner James B. Strohm, of Centre Hill, is in Philadelphia where she is employed in a millinery establishment. Miss Strohm has had considerable experience in the millinery line, having spent a season in New York and one in Easton.

"The first sign of spring" is the heading of an advertisement of Montgomery & Company, the popular Bellefonte clothiers. Before you buy your spring suit, call around at Montgomery's store. You will find there the latest styles in all wearing apparel, and the prices no higher than asked for common goods elsewhere.

While sitting in her home Saturday evening, Miss Anna Shoop discovered some one making an effort to gain entrance into the house. The man first peered through the windows, and afterward tried the doors. Miss Shoop called her father, Samuel Shoop, who had retired. He quickly dressed, came down stairs and made an investigation, when the man was discovered at the back part of the house. As soon as the stranger observed Mr. Shoop he took to his heels.

After a visit of several weeks in Centre county, J. Newton Erhard, of Inavale, Nebraska, returned to his western home. He is a son of Wm. Erhard, deceased, and when a boy lived with his parents on the E. M. Hoyet farm, west of Centre Hall, then owned by Peter Hoffer. It is past twenty-five years since Mr. Erhard went west, living all this while in various parts of the west alone—without a wife to comfort him. The coming spring he will begin "backing" it on a large farm. One of his crops will be one hundred and forty acres of corn, which will give a slight idea of the size of a farm he is over-seeing.

Spring Mills.

Wednesday of last week Mrs. Jane D. Nofsker celebrated her sixtieth birthday anniversary, which proved a very delightful and enjoyable occasion. Her niece, Mrs. C. C. Cumings, gave a large party and served an elegant and sumptuous dinner to celebrate the event. The tables were beautifully set, artistically decorated with flowers and lavishly furnished with substantial and dainties of a choice and toothsome character, which were highly enjoyed by the very large company of relatives and friends. Mrs. Nofsker, who is familiarly known to every man, woman and child in the village as "Aunt Jane," entered into the spirit of the occasion with almost the same vim and dash as she was accustomed to do fifty years ago. Notwithstanding her advanced age, she seemed to be ubiquitous—she was here, there and every where to ascertain if all were enjoying themselves, and was anxious that everyone should feel perfectly at home. In the afternoon she delivered quite a neat address, thanking the company for the many remembrances presented to her and assuring them that she appreciated their kindness far beyond the power of mere words. Social conversation and mirth followed, till late in the afternoon when all the guests returned to their homes, after expressing themselves as having been delightfully entertained, and wishing Aunt Jane many returns of the day. Mrs. Nofsker was the recipient of a large number of useful and handsome remembrances, quite a number being from friends residing at a distance who were unable to be present. Among those present were Rev. and Mrs. G. W. Mellins, Mr. and Mrs. James Kennelley, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Pealer, Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Hering, Mrs. John Kennelley and Mrs. Owens, of Lewistown, Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Miller and two sons, Mrs. C. P. Long, Mrs. Sweetwood, Mrs. A. Leitzel, Mrs. Margaret Ruhl, son and two daughters, Mrs. H. S. Braucht, Mrs. C. A. Krape, Mrs. Wm. Smith and daughter, Mrs. John Shavey, Mrs. Kate Condo, Mrs. Susan Ruhl, Mrs. D. M. McCool, Mrs. Lucinda Rankle, Mrs. Jacob Hezel, Mrs. W. O. Gramley, Mrs. H. H. Raubau, Mrs. Eligaboth Hering, Mrs. John Hosterman and daughter, Mrs. C. C. Bartges, Misses Lizzie Stover, Mary Wood, Bertha Duck, Anna Musser, Paul Leitzel, Mrs. W. R. Donachy, of Lewistown; Mrs. Joseph Lutz, Mrs. H. W. Kreamer, Centre Hall.

The K. G. E. will hold their annual banquet in the hall, the evening of the 21st inst. Miss Ida Condo, who has been ill and confined to the house for the past three months, is slowly improving. Emery Ripka expects to go on the road next month, as agent for a large grocery house.

Dr. Henry F. Bitner, of Millersville, spent Sunday with his mother, at Penn Hall.

Miss Lella Ardrey, of Bellefonte, spent a few days last week with Miss Sylvia Zuber.

S. C. Brungart, a Spring township school teacher, visited friends in Spring Mills and vicinity.

Bruce S. Gramley, a Junior at Pennsylvania State College, spent Saturday and Sunday with his parents.

Wm. J. Greenoble and sister Margaret, of Yeagertown, spent a few days in Penna Valley with friends and relatives.

Miss Elia V. Condo, teacher of the Manor Hill school, entertained her school and a few others at the home of her parents, at Penn Hall, Friday evening. The following were present: Sara Breon, Bruce Stump, Claudia, Verna and Keller Snyder, Jewett Brooks, Howard, Carrie, Cora and John Frazier, Elsie, Earl and Lester Cumings, Harry Reish, Adam Smith, Jordan Ruder, Ed. and Anna Durst, John and Esther Foreman, Helen, Margaret and Edgar Breon, Leslie Sunday, John and Richard Brooks, Sara Fisher, Mary Bartges, Maude Corman, Cavil Rice.

Georges Valley.

Leuchie Decker is on the sick list. Miss Rae Houtz, of Spring Mills, visited at Beech last week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gentzel and daughter, Miss Carrie, of Spring Mills, visited friends here, Saturday.

Misses Vera, Mazie and Carrie Emerick, of Brush Valley, were guests of their sister, Mrs. Calvin Lingie, over Sunday.

Thomas Decker, wife and son Wilbur, and Colonel Decker, of Brush Valley, visited their father, Green Decker, over Sunday.

Last week Dan Hackman moved into the house formerly occupied by Charles Lingie, who moved to Aaronburg. Ned Hackman moved into Samuel Ertle's tenement house.

Green Decker, who has been living near Flasher, North Dakota, for the past three years, is now at his former home at this place. He arrived very unexpectedly Tuesday evening of last week. All friends and neighbors are glad to see him looking so well.

Six Inches of Snow.

Six inches of snow fell Sunday. The fall began early in the morning, and continued during the entire day.

Why the Indians Masked.

"Among the North American Indians the origin of the use of masks lay," says a writer, "in the desire to conceal the emotions. Thus should two warriors meet in combat the mask conceals any expression, whether of sympathy, fear or other emotion. For instance, the knowledge that fear was depicted on one's face and that his antagonist knew it would very possibly insure the defeat of the one whose feelings were betrayed to the other. So in religious ceremonies the orator wears a mask that he may speak his inspired words without interference or embarrassment, either of which might arise were his personality not thus veiled. He must not be over-awed by anything, a condition which might ensue if he were recognized by friends, relatives or enemies, who might scoff at him. When masked the orator's duty is merely to listen to the inspiration which comes without effort through the medium of the spirit. And since this inspiration might seize any of the tribe at such times all come masked."

If Men Were Insects.

Out of every five animals in the animal kingdom four are insects, of which there are 200,000 species. In a human world of that sort for every gigantic man there would be four pygmies and of the pygmies 200,000 distinct races. These pygmies would be made up of a head, a middle body and a hind body, each of which would be composed of hard, shell-like rings, and because their bodies were thus divided or insected they might be called insects. Their legs would grow out of either the middle body or the hind body. They would breathe through holes in the middle body and eat, drink, see, smell, with all kinds of apparatus made for the purpose in various and often widely separated parts of the body. If some of these pygmies were young, weighed a pound and ate like a silkworm, they would in two months devour forty-five tons of food. It is scarcely remarkable, therefore, what millions of grasshoppers will do to a cornfield or gypsy moths to an apple orchard.

Polished and Vigorous.

Observing a passenger with the unlighted butt of a cigar in his fingers, the street car conductor requested him to put it out.

"It is out, you chump," responded the passenger.

"Pardon me," resumed the conductor, "if I have failed to make myself clear. The condition to which I had reference was not one of mere temporary non-combustion, but of elimination, the eradication, I might say, of the physical presence of your nicotine laden remnant, this process followed necessarily by cessation of the odor now permeating an atmosphere already somewhat deficient, I fear, in the essential element of ozone. I'm a humble conductor, and my aim is to please; but, you big porcine stiff, you throw that cigar through the door or I'll throw you and it both. See?"

"Excuse me, professor," replied the passenger meekly, and the incident was closed.—Philadelphia Ledger.

The Newborn and the Dead.

Lavater in his "Physiognomy" makes the following curious remarks: "I have had occasion to observe some infants immediately on their births and have found an astonishing resemblance between their profile and those of their father. A few days after this resemblance almost entirely disappeared. The influence of the air and food and probably the change of posture had so altered the design of the face that you could have believed it a different individual. I afterward saw two of these children die, one at six weeks and the other at four years of age, and about twelve hours after their death they immediately recovered the profile which had struck me so much at their birth, only the profile of the dead child was, as might be expected, more strongly marked and more terse than that of the living."

Spider Chased a Man.

A story is told by an explorer of a large and fierce South American spider which chases men if they come too near its lurking places. On one occasion he was pursued by one. "Riding at an easy trot over the dry grass," he writes, "I observed a spider pursuing me, leaping swiftly along and keeping up with my beast. I aimed a blow with my whip, and the point of the lash struck the ground close to it, when it instantly leaped upon and ran up the lash and was actually within three or four inches of my hand when I flung the whip from me."—London Standard.

Arranging Chrysanthemums.

In the arrangement of chrysanthemums the Japanese guard against seven faults. Their stems must not be of the same length, a single flower must not turn its back or present its full face, the flowers must not be hidden by leaves, or, should they be arranged in the way of steps, a full blown flower should never be placed at the base of the composition, and one odd one must not be allowed to fall between two others alike in color. Three flowers should not appear to form a triangle.

Unfeeling.

"My husband is a brute," said the excitable woman. "Have you been scolding him?" "Of course I have." "Ah, I suppose he talked back and used harsh language." "Worse than that! He yawned!"

Flitton.

"Little Bess—What's the fiction, Jack? Small Jack—Pa says it's a story that ends by saying 'they married and lived happily ever after.'"

An unbridled tongue is the worst of diseases.—Euripides.
