

DEATHS.

MRS. HENRY FRYER.

Elizabeth Esther Fryer, wife of Henry Fryer, died at Coburn at the age of fifty-five years, twenty-five days, after a few days' illness. She was the mother of thirteen children, two of whom preceded her to the grave in childhood. The surviving children are: Mrs. Ely Snively, of Benton; Jacob, of Sunbury; Mrs. Linnie Pholter and William, of Coburn; Calvin, at home; Mrs. Mollie Starcloth, of Sunbury; Andrew, at home; Clarence, of Harter, W. Va.; Walter, Pearl and Eva, at home. Her six sons acted as pallbearers. Interment was made at Aaronsburg.

CAPT. JACOB EISENHUTH.

One of the oldest citizens of Millheim passed away in the death of Capt. Jacob Eisenhuth, Friday of last week. Interment was made Tuesday. His age was eighty-two years. Surviving him are a wife and four daughters, namely, Mrs. David Brown, Williamsport; Mrs. Frank Davis, Bellefonte; Mrs. Philip Muser, Millheim; Miss Sarah, at home.

Mr. Eisenhuth did service in the Civil war, and for many years conducted a drug store in Millheim. He was also a justice of the peace in that branch some years ago.

MRS. CHARLES BOHN.

Wednesday of last week Mrs. Charles Bohn, of Lemont, died at her home in that place, aged twenty years. Her maiden name was Taylor, and she had been married but eight months. Interment was made at Boalsburg Saturday.

Lyman Bliss Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Thompson, of Liberty township, aged twenty years, died in the Lock Haven hospital. As a result of a hard stroke on his side received while ploughing, a foreign growth developed on his bowels, which caused death.

Mrs. Ellen L. McCaleb, wife of Joseph McCaleb, died at her home near Nittany, aged about sixty-four years. Her death is a severe blow to her husband, who has been blind for several years, hence practically helpless. In addition to her husband she is survived by several children.

George Clifford Rice, aged sixty-three years, six months, died at his Reedsville home after an illness of several months. He was one of the leading business men of Reedsville during the past forty years. He served during the Civil War as a volunteer. A widow and six children survive.

John J. Fisher died at his home in Half Moon township. About three years ago he was married to Miss Minnie Whippo, who with a child, survive.

Fair weather for the fair. The Peeney was the early bird that got the worm Wednesday morning at the Nittany Furnace.

Thomas McCullough, of Jersey Shore, sold from one acre of ground in July 325 bushels of Early Sunrise potatoes at eighty cents a bushel.

Mr. and Mrs. James L. Lytle and family, of State College, drove to Centre Hall, Sunday. They visited Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Auman, on the Lytle farm at Earlstown.

J. Weston Hall, one of the men who were making a soil survey of Centre county, has been transferred to Winbora, Alabama, where he will pursue the same kind of work.

The new county bridge at Spring Mills, across Penns Creek, is being erected this week by the York Bridge Company. The abutments, which are of concrete, were constructed by Rhodes & Nicol, Bellefonte. The bridge will be a decided improvement in that quarter, and was badly needed for a number of years.

From Huron, South Dakota, Capt. and Mrs. James P. Davis came to Penns Valley and are now among friends, making their headquarters with the former's brother, John Davis and sister Miss Lizzie, near Linden Hall. It was in 1854 that Capt. Davis left Centre county for the Pacific coast; a short time afterward he returned to Illinois, locating in Stephenson county where many Pennsylvanians made their homes. He was in that county at the outbreak of the Civil war, and enlisted as a three months' man. At the expiration of that time he re-enlisted in an Illinois Infantry, and was promoted to the captaincy of one of the companies. He served until the close of the war, returning again to Stephenson county, where he was recognized by being elected county treasurer for a term of four years. Later he migrated to South Dakota, his present home, where he engaged in agriculture. At present he is living retired, enjoying the fruits of his labors while a younger man. Mrs. Davis, who was Miss Johnson, moved from Georges Valley to Illinois with her parents in the early fifties. Mr. Davis is a well-preserved, intelligent and agreeable gentleman, and is able to entertain his boyhood friends in a manner quite pleasant.

What could Lieutenant Governor Murphy have meant when he said in his Jamestown speech the other day, "as Pennsylvania and Virginia were alert one hundred and thirty years ago to-day, each to strike down that which threatened to harm the other, so must Pennsylvania and Virginia be alert now when different foes must be conquered? We haven't heard that there is anything the matter with Virginia and we can't see how Virginia can help us in our troubles. The remedy which we must apply is an aroused public conscience to guide us at the polls and Virginia can't participate in our elections. It is true that the people of that State can sympathize with us in our lack of civic virtue and self-respect. But we must cure our own ills with our own votes and the time to begin is at the approaching election and the way the election of Mr. John G. Harman to the office of State Treasurer.

The Philadelphia machine shows the same indifference to the interests and will of the people as it did before the outbreak of two years ago. The people of that city restored the machine to power last winter by the election of Mayor Reyburn and it is indulging in a riot of bossism and a deluge of political immorality. If Sheatz in elected the State machine will be quite as daring as that of the city and the looting and grafting will be resumed and continued indefinitely. Happily, however, there is no danger of such a result. Sheatz will be defeated as badly as Plummer was two years ago if not worse. The highlink of the Philadelphia machine just came in time to admonish the people of the danger of restoration in the State.

Manifestly President Roosevelt has gone mad on the subject of Federal authority over the affairs of the States. He wants to completely revolutionize our form of government in order to gratify his inordinate lust for power. But the people are not likely to sympathize with such absurd notions. The history and traditions of the government of the fathers are as dear to the hearts of the people to-day as they ever were and though Roosevelt has been a popular idol he will lose out if he advocates such nonsense as was expressed in his St. Louis speech last week.

If every Democrat in Pennsylvania votes for the splendid candidate of the party for State Treasurer next month his majority will be equal to the largest that has ever been received by a candidate with the single exception of that cast for Roosevelt three years ago. And there is no reason why every Democrat should not vote for him. He will be an ideal public official. Capable, courageous and honest he will do whatever is possible to restore the public life of the Commonwealth to the high plane which was once an honor to the people.

If Governor Stuart wants to do some effective reform work through the medium of the criminal courts he has a splendid opportunity to manifest it by beginning on the Insurance grafters who were investigated last year. Insurance Commissioner Martin was among those who were condemned in the report of the Committee but so far from that having any adverse effect on Martin's standing at the Governor's office the indications are that he is still in the highest favor. At any rate he continues to hold his office and draw the salary.

Dave Lane is again instructing the voters of Philadelphia to stuff the ballot boxes at the coming election. If the voters of Philadelphia are wise, however, they will pay no attention to Dave Lane's advice. Ballot box stuffers will go to jail this year. The style of treating that sort of calendar has vastly changed within a couple of years. Even crooked Dave Lane won't be immune from punishment this year if there is anything doing in his line of political work this year.

A citizen has not performed his full duty in the election of this year when he casts his own vote any more than a man discharges his full duty when he notified the police that a crime is being committed. He ought to assist the police in preventing crime just as he ought to urge his neighbors to vote to rescue the State from the desperadoes who are despoiling it. Let us all do our full duty this year.

The corrupt and contented City Party men of Philadelphia may have, like the dog, returned to their vomit, but the vast hosts of independent Republican voters in the interior of the State who voted for Mr. Berry two years ago will vote for Harman this year. They have not been purchased, dragooned nor deceived into supporting Sheatz.

Tuesday morning Mrs. John H. Weber accompanied her daughter, Miss Bessie, to Philadelphia, where the latter underwent an operation for appendicitis, at the St. Agnes Hospital, Broad and Mifflin streets, Wednesday afternoon. Up to the time of going to press no word has been received as to the outcome.

The increase in the salary of public school teachers had no charm for Miss Alice Robinson, who was a successful teacher in public schools. She decided some time ago to become a professional nurse, and with this view in mind went to Philadelphia Wednesday morning, and will take a course in the Presbyterian Hospital.

One thing is certain and that is this: Former residents of Centre Hall retain their love for the place. The Reporter this week contains a certain number of personal references to former residents, absent for many years and here are two more—Hiram and James Osman—who left Centre Hall forty-six and forty years ago, respectively, and are here to see their sister, Mrs. Catharine Musselman, and niece and nephews. Hiram Osman was born at Centre Hill, on the farm owned by Peter Smith, and grew to manhood in Centre Hall. He learned the milling trade at Farmers Mills, and later was in mills at Bellefonte, Centre Furnace and Phillipsburg, and from there went to Altoona, his present home. He is now a watchman at the Pennsy shops, and has been on the pay rolls of the company for twenty-two years. A short time ago he made a trip to Wayne, Michigan, where his brother James Osman lives, and the result was the brother accompanied him to the east. The latter Mr. Osman located in Detroit, and at present is a resident of Wayne, Michigan. He is engaged in an extensive factory devoted to the building of carriages and cutters. The brothers are both Civil war veterans.

What Lava is Good For. Tourists in Italy are astonished at the practical use made of the lava that has flowed from Vesuvius in past and recent eruptions, for all Naples and its vicinity appear to be a world of lava. The streets are paved with it. There are staircases and statues, drinking troughs, bric-a-brac and even jewelry of this strange material which once bubbled from the yellow and dripping lips of the great crater above. The careless guides make money out of it by pressing coins or other objects on partially cooled fragments and selling these to visitors. On the ashy flanks of the mountain there is enough lava to build another New York or Chicago—a shoreless frozen sea, it seems, of dull black that shimmers strangely purple in some lights. These heaving billows and snake-like masses were once white hot, steaming and even exploding as the fiery flood met some little innocent stream on the way down.

Mistakes in War.

In the Bull Run defeat McDowell laid the blame on Patterson. In the battles around Richmond Lee's plans failed on account of Huger's lethargy. At Pittsburg Landing Grant would have been successful but for Wallace. At Gettysburg Lee's hands were tied by the dilatoriness of Stuart. And so on from the foundation of the world to the present time. It has been said by writers on the art of war that every battle is a series of mistakes. These mistakes are made on both sides and are the cause of victory as well as defeat. It is almost amusing to think of the numberless good and sufficient reasons that Shafter could have given if he had been defeated in Cuba. If Japan had been worsted in the Russo-Japanese war, one result would have been that Oyama would have written the book of lamentations and excuses instead of Kuropatkin.—Chicago Chronicle.

An Old Time Playful Prisoner.

Over a century ago there occurred in London what the Annual Register called "a most unparalleled atrocity." It was only the theft of a pocket handkerchief from a pocket, but the circumstances of the deed explain the vehemence of this denunciation. Four men were on their trial for assaulting a man in his house at Ponder's End, putting him in fear and stealing from him, and one of them relieved the tedium of the trial, which lasted eight hours, by picking the pocket of one of the turnkeys as he stood in the dock. An official had the presence of mind to order the restoration of the handkerchief, and the prisoner had enough presence of mind to obey "with the most careless indifference," but the court, we read, "were horror struck." Justice, however, pulled itself together sufficiently to sentence all four men to death.

Smith's New Studio

At State College, which is nearing completion, will unquestionably be one of the best fitted galleries for high class photographic work in central Pennsylvania. The large and commodious skylight room will comfortably accommodate a group of 60 people, and is so arranged that any light known to the photographic trade can be made. An electric light of 4000 candle power will enable pictures to be made at night equal to any daylight work.
