

SABBATH KEEPING.

Few Things Contribute More to the Demoralization of a Community than Letting Down the Sabbath Bars.

It is very evident from recent discussion among citizens that this community considers engaging in ordinary farm work on the Sabbath day a much greater sin than much else that is done in our midst on that sacred day which, as a matter of fact, the Reporter claims rightly is equally bad. If this discussion brings out the true character of certain Sunday habits into which we have fallen it will be a good thing. The reason why Sabbath plowing stirs up a community while other equally bad deeds cause scarcely any comment is that we have become habituated to the latter.

Right here is a strong argument for even in little things; the force of habit blinds to the sinful character of many Sabbath acts; but these things are none the less transgressions of divine law because man forgets that they are such. The Lord holds us responsible for ignorance that could have been avoided.

A common excuse for violating the Sabbath law is, "I had no other time; I must do it on that day." What employer would excuse a workman who would take a half day of his employer's time, without permission asked and granted, for the transaction of his own business? The Lord has given man six days for his own works and reserved the seventh for Himself, and yet man is ever encroaching on the Lord's time.

And then this plea of necessity: You go to the Cave on the Sabbath because you have no other time. You are not compelled to go to the Cave. Millions of people have never seen the Cave and never will see it; and they will die just as happy as you. You forgot to get meat or coffee or tobacco Saturday evening and so you make a journey to the store or shop Sunday. A great multitude of people would cheerfully do without meat one day in seven if they were sure of it on the other six; and perhaps your physician will tell you that if you should omit drinking coffee for one day, you would not suffer any irreparable injury; and then, as to the tobacco and cigars, perhaps, perhaps, it would be asking too much entirely to demand that you dispense with such delicacies for twenty-four hours!

Then, Mr. Merchant, you say you cannot compete with other stores if you refuse to open your doors on the Sabbath, or you wish to accommodate a friend; that is, you have more regard for the actions and wishes of men than for the Lord. Again it is claimed that butchers must kill on the Sabbath. Why do not all butchers have to do so? And is it not well known that multitudes who know what good meat is would not eat the meat if they knew the animal had been killed within twenty-four, or even forty-eight hours or more? Whence then this need of haste?

And so we might go on through the list, and, perhaps, if we were right honest with ourselves and the Lord, we would find that the real reason why we do many things on the Sabbath is that we do not call it a delight, the holy of Jehovah honorable, and are not ready to honor it, by not doing our own ways, nor finding our own pleasure, nor speaking our own words on that holy day (Isa. 58:13).

Rumors come to my ears that Centre Hall has been "rougher" than usual of late. I do not know; I am not in the best position to know; but this I do know that it is much easier to keep a community up to a certain moral standard than it is to raise it to that standard after it has fallen below. We are all interested in preserving the fair fame and the welfare of our beautiful village; and if it is getting "rougher" we all need to act promptly and vigorously. Few things contribute more to the demoralization of a town than letting down the Sabbath bars.

W. HENRY SCHUYLER.

Lifted $600.

W. Albert Dugan, superintendent of the clay mines of the Pennsylvania Fire Brick Company, was robbed of $600 while getting on the Bald Eagle valley train leaving Bellefonte about 8:15 o'clock Thursday night of last week, after attending the Bellefonte fair, relates the Daily News. There was a rush at the station and while going up the steps of the car with everybody shoving, Mr. Dugan felt a hand at his hip pocket and grabbed for it and caught the pick-pocket's hand but the fellow wrenched the hold loose and dived down the steps on the other side, where there was no one to stop him, and escape in the darkness was easy.

Camp-Moyer.

The marriage of Wallace Edgar Camp, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Camp, of Tyrone, and Miss Lucy Potter Moyer, daughter of the late Curtin Moyer, also of Tyrone, was solemnized Tuesday. They will be home at Tyrone after November 1st.

Among the Sick.

Samuel Stover, who for many years made his home with the Bible sisters, east of Centre Hall, is seriously ill. Mrs. Margaret Gulstwie, who is some eighty years of age, is quite feeble, owing to her advanced age.

It is not winter yet, but butter and eggs have attained mid-winter prices. New Worcester double barrel hammerless shot-gun for sale. Apply at this office.

Wednesday afternoon W. B. Mingle, Esq., started on a business trip to Philadelphia and Reading.

Mrs. Rebecca Emerick and son Norman spent Sunday at the home of the former's sister, at Mt. Eagle.

J. O. Deinger brought to this office a twig two feet long from an apple tree bearing thirteen fine apples.

Tuesday a steer broke from its pasture on Grange Park, loitered on the railroad track and was run down and killed by a railroad engine.

From newspaper accounts many school boards neglected filing the proper papers with the state department, and consequently will lose the extra appropriation on account of the increased minimum salary law. There is no excuse for any school board having failed to perform this plain duty. The consequences will be a direct loss to the taxpayers whose interests they should have guarded.

Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Garver are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Dinges, having come from their home in Philadelphia for recreation. Mr. Garver delights in hunting for small game, and makes pheasant shooting a specialty. When at home Mr. Garver is tied closely to business, being manager of the Edison Brothers commission house, 110 Dock street, and this fact makes them enjoy the freedom of the mountains more than usual.

Wallace W. Wilson and Dr. J. G. Spangler, both of Huntingdon, and Prof. John D. Meyer made an inspection of the water power along Penns Creek, Saturday, at which time the Rote mill water power was leased with a view of erecting an electric light plant with which to furnish sufficient light for the various towns in Penna Valley. These parties have had their eye on this water power site for several years, and they assured the Reporter that the scheme is not merely on paper, but that the plant would be built. See an account elsewhere in this issue.

Last week mention was made that a handsome and imposing monument had been erected over the last resting place of Mr. and Mrs. James G. Evans, in the cemetery at Salem Reformed church, near Penn Hall. An erroneous impression appears to have placed all the credit for this work to Dr. D. M. Wolf, which is an injustice to the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Evans, namely, Rev. Dr. L. K. Evans, J. Wells Evans and Rev. John M. Evans, who were interested in its erection as well as Dr. Wolf. It is due the Reporter to say that this correction is not a result of a misstatement in these columns.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles most always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It corrects inability to hold urine and acrid pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take, and sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sized bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

DEATHS.

B. Frank Thompson, of Beech Creek, at one time a prominent citizen of Centre county, died at his home at that place Friday morning, of typhoid fever. Mr. Thompson was aged about fifty-seven years and was married to Miss Mary Hughes, of Buffalo Run Valley. Besides his wife two sons, Guy and Allen, also survive.

Robert Cox, who thirty-five years ago was a resident of Pennsylvania Furnace, but who the last quarter of a century has been caretaker of the Fairview cemetery, Altoona, died in that city of general infirmities. He was aged eighty-one years, and is survived by seven children.

Mrs. Sarah H., wife of Cyrus W. Rote, died at her home in Salona of a complication of diseases, aged sixty-seven years. She is survived by her husband, three sons and one daughter.

George Baughman, a native of upper Bald Eagle Valley, died at his home at Morrisdale, of consumption, after a lingering illness, aged thirty-five years. He is survived by a wife and several young children.

Mrs. William Carlis died at the home of her son-in-law, John Grieb, at Tylerville, aged sixty-nine years.

How to Cure a Cold.

The question of how to cure a cold without unnecessary loss of time is one in which we are all more or less interested, for the quicker a cold is gotten rid of the less the danger of pneumonia and other serious diseases. Mr. B. W. L. Hall, of Waverly, Va., has used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for years and says: "I firmly believe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to be absolutely the best preparation on the market for colds. I have recommended it to my friends and they all agree with me." For sale by
