A BATTLE WITH THE NAVAJOES

Troops Suppress An Unruly Indian Band.

THE CAPTURE OF THEIR LEADER.

The Army Detachment Consisted of Four Officers, Seventy-four Men and Three Indian Scouts, Under Command of Capt. H. O. Willard—Three Indians Were Killed.

Washington (Special).—In a battle between United States troops and Indians, which occurred in Southern Utah several days ago, three persons were killed and another wounded, all believed to have been Indians. The news of the occurrence was conveyed to the Indian Bureau in a telegram from Superintendent Shelton, of the San Juan Agency.

The army command consisted of four officers, 74 men and three Indian scouts. The telegram to the Indian Bureau, which was dated at Ship Rock, New Mexico, follows:

"The troops have returned from Southern Utah. They arrested Bylillie and nine other Indians. Three others were killed and one wounded while shooting at the Indians. The Indians are quiet and I do not anticipate further trouble."

This is the first information received here regarding the encounter. The officials of the Indian Bureau assume that the killed and wounded were Indians.

The Indians taken into custody are part of a band of Navajos that have been making trouble on the Navajo reservation, in Northwestern New Mexico and Northeastern Arizona.

For some time a number of Indians, under the leadership of Bylillie have been creating disturbances because of their disinclination to observe the regulations of the Indian office and their efforts to prevent others of the tribe from doing so.

So pronounced have their objections become and so offensive their actions, that Superintendent Shelton made a request that a body of soldiers be sent to the reservation, and accordingly troops I and K, of the Fifth Cavalry, under command of Captain H. O. Willard, were dispatched from Fort Wingate, N. M., to Arnette, Utah, on the 22nd inst. It was understood at the time that they should simply go through the Indian country on a practice march, and it was not intended that their presence should mean any more than a demonstration to the Indians. Mr. Shelton's idea being that the mere sight of the soldiers would have a quieting effect upon the turbulent members of the tribe.

The War Department received a telegram from Captain Carter J. Johnson, who was dispatched to the Ute Indian camp, in South Dakota, to conciliate that tribe, who threatened outbreaks. The telegram, which was sent at midnight from Thunder Butte, South Dakota, says:

"Visited the tribe. Found them quietly waiting our arrival, expecting me to be able to adjust their difficulties. Will hold council with head men, and will report results of meeting. Agent has dismissed voluntary force and controls situation with Indian police. No immediate danger to life and property."

The Director of the Mint has been instructed to work to the utmost capacity the mints at San Francisco, Denver and Philadelphia for the coinage of the large amount of bullion on hand, and every other branch of the Treasury Department that can in any way afford relief is working overtime.

Secretary Cortelyou conferred with various representatives of the cotton, sugar, grain, lumber and other large industries, with a view to facilitating movements that will effect a substantial easing of the general situation, and is much encouraged by the results of his efforts.

Comptroller Ridgely issued an official statement which says:

"The Comptroller's office will in every proper way facilitate the immediate increase of national bank note circulation. With this end in view all such national banks as have government bonds in the hands of the Treasurer of the United States to secure deposits, and also have any available capacity for increased circulation, will be allowed to substitute other bonds satisfactory to the Secretary of the Treasury, as a basis for government deposits, provided the government bonds thus released are used to increase circulation.

"This rule will apply not only where the bank transferring the bonds from the deposit account takes out the additional circulating notes, but also where an arrangement can be made for any other national bank having capacity for increased circulation to take out the additional notes.

"National banks are urged to take this question up immediately with the department by telegraph and take out the additional circulation as rapidly as possible. The Comptroller's office will be glad to furnish whatever information is needed in regard to circulation printed and on hand and bonds available for this purpose. (Signed)

WILLIAM B. RIDGELY, Comptroller of the Currency.

THE GOVERNMENT TO OPEN ITS VAULTS

Offers to Add $300,000,000 to Bank Circulation.

MINTS ARE WORKING OVERTIME.

Plan to Loosen Millions in Ready Cash by Accepting Other Securities in Lieu of Government Bonds Now Held at Washington to Secure Federal Deposits in the National Banks.

Washington (Special).—Secretary Cortelyou had a conference with Comptroller of the Currency Ridgely, and took up the matter of increasing the national bank circulation in every way possible to give relief as quickly as it can be done, not only in the large cities requiring currency for payroll and such purposes, but also in country districts where the banks have difficulty in obtaining currency from their reserve assets. There are a large number of banks that have left more than the maximum amount of circulation outstanding. Many of these banks have government bonds on deposit to secure government deposits. Mr. Ridgely is urging these banks to substitute other bonds acceptable to the Secretary of the Treasury for their deposit security and use the government bonds thus released in taking out increased circulation. There is a possibility of increasing the circulation from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 in this way, with circulating notes actually printed and now on hand in the vaults of the Comptroller's office. There are $90,000,000 of government bonds in the hands of the Treasury to secure government deposits, and it will be possible to increase the national bank circulation by more than $300,000,000 before the limit of capital stock is reached. The telegram and telephone are being used to urge the banks to take prompt action in this matter.

The conditions in the Treasury Department are very satisfactory in view of the large disbursements of the past week.

The Director of the Mint has been instructed to work to the utmost capacity the mints at San Francisco, Denver and Philadelphia for the coinage of the large amount of bullion on hand, and every other branch of the Treasury Department that can in any way afford relief is working overtime.

LITTLE NAVAL BATTLE AT VLADIVOSTOK

Russian Torpedo Boat Under Red Flag.

FIGHTS THE FLEET AND BATTERY.

The Unequal Combat Ended by the Beaching of the Destroyer Skory, Which Had Been Seized by Agitators, but Not Until She Had Done Serious Damage to the Other Vessels.

Vladivostok (By Cable).—An exciting little naval battle took place in this harbor between the mutinous crew of a Russian torpedo boat destroyer and their loyal comrades. The mutineers finally were subdued, but not before a number of men had been killed or wounded. The mutinous boat is the Skory, and she gave fight to the gunboat Manduschur, the destroyers Garasov, Smedy and Serditz and the garrison of one of the harbor forts, manned by the Twelfth Regiment of Artillery. The Skory soon was overwhelmed, and she had to be beached to save her from sinking. This was not accomplished however, before her guns had done considerable damage and several officers and men or the other ships had been killed or wounded.

The crew of the Skory were incited by agitators, some of whom had managed to get on board and take charge of the harbor forts, manned by the Twelfth Regiment of Artillery.
