THE DALE MURDER.

Occurred a Year ago Tuesday—No New Evidence so Far as the Public Knows.

Tuesday it was a year since the murder of Josiah C. Dale, which deed was committed somewhere between the Dale farm, on Nittany Mountain, and Centre Hall. As far as the public knows there is at this time no evidence pointing to the criminal other than that developed at the time of the habeas corpus hearing, all of which appeared in this paper. One of the county papers, assuming to speak for one of the county officials, has stated in effect that evidence against a certain individual has been obtained, but it is not generally believed that the article was written with authority or that any new incriminating evidence has been developed.

In the issue of the Reporter of November 22nd, of last year, the writer advanced two theories of where the murder might have taken place. The first theory was that the deed was committed at or near the barn. This was then and always has been the personal opinion of the editor. The second theory, advanced by many who expressed themselves on the subject, was that the killing was done on the south slope of Nittany Mountain, at or near what is known as Adam's road. The Reporter's opinion as to the place where the murder was committed and by whom it was committed has never changed, it maintains at this time that the main points in theory number one, as printed in the issue referred to above, are true. These points follow:

(a) The murder was committed at or near the farm buildings. (b) The time of the murder between five and six o'clock. (c) The buggy with the dead man in it was side tracked until an auspicious moment when it was liberated.

A peculiar feature is that none of the five members of the Moyer family, tenants on the farm, saw Mr. Dale any time after about 2:30 p. m., and although Andy Moyer saw the buggy at the barn, observed that Mr. Dale's horse was in the stable, when he went into an adjoining lot for a calf, and was gone but ten minutes and during this time was in view of the buggy, he fails to know anything whatever about the murdered man leaving the Dale farm.

Green Corn and Potatoes.

In the local markets green corn is selling for fifty-five cents, but there is little that can be termed first class. Grain merchants are not buying corn at any price, as it is too risky to store in quantities.

Few potatoes have been shipped from the valley this season. The crop was not a good one and many farmers were obliged to leave it in the ground, on account of scarcity of help, until a large per cent. had rotted. The remaining portion of the crop, while the tubers look well on the outside, are more or less affected by the rot and are black streaked on the inside. The ruling price has been fifty cents for sixty pounds.

Real Estate Property Sold.

The Foust property, consisting of a house and lot and a small tract of wood land, was sold by the administrator, James L. Foust, to James H. Runkle at a public sale held last week. The tract of five acres of land on which is a small dwelling house was knocked down at $250, and the four acres of wood land at $51.

Lewisburg has another $3000 damage suit on hand. Jacob Hower, an undertaker, was thrown from his wagon and injured. He sued for the above amount. The accident was caused by the wheel of his wagon striking an ash pile.

Biliousness and Constipation.

"For years I was troubled with biliousness and constipation, which made life miserable for me. My appetite failed me. I lost my usual force and vitality. Peppin preparations and cathartics only made matters worse. I do not know where I should have been today had I not tried Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. The tablets relieve the ill feeling at once, strengthen the digestive functions, helping the system to do its work naturally."—Mrs. Rosa Potts, Birmingham, Ala. These tablets are for sale by The Star Store, Centre Hall; F. A. Carson, Potters Mills; C. W. Swartz, Tusseyville.

E. church, pastor of the deceased, assisted by Rev. Durkee, of Pleasant Gap, conducted the services.
