

LOCALS.

Rev. D. Gress is confined to the house, nursing a case of tonsillitis.

It was Daniel Webster who said "the farmers are the foundation of civilization."

Attention is called the political announcements in another column of this issue.

Keep in mind the concerts Thursday and Friday nights. Everybody will be there.

H. Lee Brooks, of near Linden Hall, advertises sale of farm stock, implements, etc., for March 19th.

Samuel Gingerich leased the dwelling house purchased from Mr. Strohmeyer to H. C. Robinson, the lumberman.

Dr. G. W. Hosterman has installed a new chair in his dental office. It is fitted up with the latest improvements.

A note from W. A. Sandoe, Jr., of Ingram, states that his father had been down with grip since Friday, but is improving.

Hiram Lee has become a citizen of Chester county, and is now located at Chester Springs, having moved there from Lewistown.

William Donley, the Renovo child murderer, was refused a new trial by Judge Hall, and Monday was sentenced to be hanged.

Hon. L. Rhone, Capt. George M. Boal and W. Gross Mingle were at Pennsylvania State College Friday of last week—Patterson Day.

Wednesday Rev. W. H. Schuyler went to Newton Hamilton to assist in the installation of Rev. E. A. Snook over the Presbyterian church at that place.

James C. Gilliland, of Oak Hall Station, who had been seriously ill for several weeks, has improved sufficiently to be out of bed, but as yet has not ventured out doors.

The man who is not only willing but eager to perpetuate a great curse in any community because he profits by its existence is not the best kind of a citizen, but he has a good deal of company.

Guy Jacobs, a student at Pennsylvania State College, came home a few days ago, and since has been confined to the home of his mother, Mrs. Lizzie Jacobs, on account of sickness—a case of mumps.

ROLLS FOR SALES—Persons having public sales will find that I am prepared to furnish rolls and bread on short notice, in any quantities. The quality guaranteed, and prices right. MRS. F. E. ARNEY.

Messrs. T. L. Frank and L. A. Shreckengost, both of Millheim, accompanied by George H. Emerick, of Centre Hall, who is entertaining them, were callers at the Reporter office. The young men are members of the singing class holding a convention.

There will be no services next Sabbath in the Presbyterian churches of Centre Hall and Spring Mills. The pastor will be absent preaching at Shade Gap, Huntingdon county, for the pastor, Rev. W. G. Finney, who has been absent from his field for several months on account of poor health.

A. N. Bitner, formerly a railroad man at Pine, is now engaged in conducting a pool room and tobacco store in Milton. He learned telegraphy at the Paddy Mountain College of Telegraphy, which institution has a number of station agents and telegraphers to its credit. Mr. Bitner, however, prefers to be the boss on the job, consequently he left the service of the railroad company. Just at present Mr. Bitner is visiting Mrs. Andrew Gregg, a cousin, in Centre Hall.

Placing the Responsibility. For six months or more the drug-gist's assistant had occupied his leisure moments by writing verses for the village paper, in the "poets' corner" of which publication they appeared anonymously every Thursday, says the Youth's Companion. On opening his copy of the Weekly Bugle one morning, and, turning first, as was his regular habit, to that particular corner, he was surprised and gratified beyond measure to see his name in full appended to his latest poetical outbreak.

He hastened to call at the office of the Bugle. "Mr. Stires," he said to the editor, "I want to thank you for signing my name to my poem in this week's paper. It encourages a fellow when he gets proper credit for his work." "Oh, that's all right, Jobson," responded the editor. "We thought it was about time to place the responsibility for that poetry where it belonged."

Condensed. "Here is an article on 'How to Live a Hundred Years.'" "Yes, and the whole subject can be condensed into two words."

"What are they?" "Don't die."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Not the Music He Loved. Mrs. Talkamore—Your husband is a great lover of music, isn't he? Mrs. Chatters—Yes, indeed, I have seen him get up in the middle of the night and try to compose. Mrs. T.—What? Mrs. C.—The baby.—Stray Stories.

Well Named. "This is the parlor, eh?" tentatively remarked the real estate agent, who was looking over the house.

"Yes," replied the old man Kidder, "but I usually call it the courtroom. I've got seven daughters, you-know."

DEATHS.

MRS. ROBERT RAMER. After an illness of several weeks, due to Bright's disease, Mrs. Robert Ramer died at her home, along the Dry Gap road, north of Altoona, Sunday afternoon. Her age was fifty years, three months, eighteen days. The remains were brought to Centre Hall Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday morning the funeral was held from the home of her mother, Mrs. Sarah Foreman. On account of the sickness of Rev. D. Gress, pastor of the Reformed church, Rev. B. F. Bieber, of the Lutheran church, officiated at the burial.

The deceased's maiden name was Almira Foreman, daughter of John Foreman, deceased, and Mrs. Sarah Foreman, of Centre Hall. Her marriage to Mr. Ramer occurred in November of 1900, and her husband and an adopted daughter, Verna, survive. She was a member of the Reformed church, and was highly regarded in the community in which she lived.

Beside those already mentioned there survive the following brothers and sisters: Frank A. Spring Mills; David R., Bellefonte; Robert D., Centre Hall; J. Wes., Centre Hill; Edward, Youngstown, Ohio; Mrs. Susan Homan, State College; Catharine, June, Mrs. L. L. Smith, all of Centre Hall.

JACOB MARKLE.

Jacob Markle died at his home near Oak Hall, Sunday night at 12:30 o'clock, after an illness of several months from dropsy. He was aged seventy-five years, and besides his wife is survived by the following sons and daughters: Abram, Joseph and Mrs. Elizabeth Krumrine, of State College; Mrs. Alice Houtz, Ed. and Charles, in the west. Funeral services Wednesday afternoon.

MISS ELLA MCCLAIN.

Miss Ella McClain, for forty-eight years a resident of Bellefonte, died Saturday morning. She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Nora McClain, and three brothers: James, of Spangler; Frank and Bernard, of Bellefonte.

The Glove Factory.

The glove factory is no longer a myth, but a reality. Monday the machines were started, and every day since the factory has been turning out its product. Besides the work done in the factory, a number of ladies at various points take the cut gloves to their homes and sew them up there. They are returned to the factory, the work inspected, and by machinery are turned, and then you have it—a canvas glove.

Orders have already been received for more gloves than the present capacity of the factory can supply, but in time the help will be increased to meet the demands for the product.

The Musical Convention.

The musical convention, under the direction of Prof. P. H. Meyer, in Grange Arcadia, is in progress. There are a goodly number of singers, and there is every indication that the concerts Thursday and Friday nights will be the greatest musical feasts ever held in Centre Hall.

Three sessions have been held regularly each day, and Prof. Meyer is impressing his singers with the necessity of prompt attendance. Besides the regular sessions, groups of singers are preparing for solos, duets, quartets, etc., for the concerts.

Wabash May be Coming.

The following dispatch was sent out from Altoona:

For the past week a corps of surveyors, said to be employed by the Wabash, have been running a line through Morrison's Cove and Turkey Valley, in the south end of Blair county, and as a result farmers are excited over the prospects of a railroad through that section.

Representatives of the Pennsy have been sent out to protect the company's interests.

W. L. Foster, of State College, is a Republican candidate for assembly.

Among the announcements this week is that of John D. Miller, of Walker township, Democratic candidate for county treasurer.

Strohmeyer Sold Property.

To prove that real estate is not going begging in Centre Hall it only need be stated that H. G. Strohmeyer, a few days ago, sold the Emerick property adjoining his home for more than twice the sum paid for it a few years ago, when it was bought at public sale. Samuel Gingerich was the purchaser of the property from Mr. Strohmeyer, and although he does not intend occupying it in the spring, the investment was made with that idea in view. The price paid is said to have been in the neighborhood of $1000.

Shipping Evaporated Apples.

The first car load of evaporated apples for the season of 1907-1908 is being shipped out this week from the Centre Hall Evaporating Company's plant, at Centre Hall. Charles Miner, one of the firm, of Walcott, New York, arrived here beginning of his week, and he and his partner, D. A. Booser, have since been sacking the fruit and preparing it for shipment. The whole product of the plants at Centre Hall and Coburn has been sold, and will be shipped in car load lots as rapidly as it can be sacked and delivered.

Wants a New Road Law.

Governor Stuart will ask the next legislature to provide for better care of the public highways of Pennsylvania, either by State or township control. The governor made this promise in a speech before the state board of agriculture, of which he is president, in defending his action in cutting from $4,000,000 to $1,000,000 the good roads appropriation made by the last legislature.

Odd Fellows Sell Lots.

The local lodge of Odd Fellows sold the two building lots, below the Reformed church, to W. J. Mitterling, who contemplates erecting a dwelling house on them. The price paid was $480. These lots were purchased about two years ago for $500, but were timbered. The order figures that it had a profit of about $50 on the deal.

The Sick.

Mrs. George Reish has been seriously ill for over a week. Her condition today is no better. . . Aaron Thomas is around again, as usual, but has not gone to work yet. . . Samuel Stover, at the home of the Bible sisters, is ill again. . . Al Osman is very much better. . . Mrs. Anna Wolf, at Ardmore, is not improving.

School Directors' Association.

The school directors' department of the State Educational association will meet in their tenth annual session in Assembly Hall, High school building, at Harrisburg, on Thursday and Friday, February 13 and 14.

Oak Hall.

Rev. McKelvey, of Pine Grove Mills, transacted business in town last week.

Miss Margaret Peters visited at home over Sunday.

Miss Mary Kidder, of Boalsburg, was a caller in town Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Dale spent last Thursday at the home of L. Mothersbaugh, at Boalsburg.

Mr. Krape, of Salona, was the guest of his daughter, Mrs. Ferree, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Dale and A. W. Dale attended the reception given Prof. Patterson, at State College, on Friday from 2 till 5.

B. F. Homan and family attended the funeral of George Homan, at Pine Hall, Monday.

Many a life is prolonged by a little prudence at this season. Every man ought to be courageous enough to own himself. Let us hope every man concerned in the robbery of the state will get justice.

Spring Mills.

A week's service will be held in the Lutheran church, commencing Monday evening, 10th, by the pastor, Rev. B. F. Bieber.

Dr. D. E. Gentzel Saturday made a professional visit east of Wells Store. Owing to the blizzard he was snowed in and could not reach home until Monday night.

C. P. Long, who for the past month has been seriously ill, is on the mend. Messrs. E. S. and B. W. Ripka, of Centre Hall, were Spring Mills visitors Friday evening, and while here were in attendance at the regular session of I. O. O. F. lodge meeting.

David Boone, last Friday, purchased a fine new organ from C. E. Zeigler.

A good ice crop is being harvested on Sinking Creek, and everybody is busy storing away the crystal beauty.

The attendance in our schools this winter is good in general, and especially in the primary department. The directors can congratulate themselves for selecting Miss Cora Brungart as primary teacher, as she proves to be an instructor of more than ordinary ability. She applies herself to the work, and her pupils are advancing rapidly.

The Spring Mills Glee Club met at Roaman's Tuesday evening. There certainly was some fine music.

Linden Hall.

Mrs. J. W. Keller accompanied her brother, Charles Miller, to Woodward, Saturday where they visited their sister, Mrs. Wolfe. Mrs. Keller returned Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Campbell entertained a number of the girl friends of their daughter, Mary Love, Saturday, in honor of her fourteenth birthday. Among those present were Ruth Ross, Eva Catherman, Ollie Harter, Edwin Wickland, Elizabeth Bible and Arline Gingerich.

Miss Madie Gingerich is spending this week at the Weibly home.

R. H. Potter, who has been housed up for some time, is improving slowly.

The first ice that has been cut on the dam here for a number of years is being put away. It is six inches thick. John Reish came up from Selina grove, where he is attending college, to attend the funeral of his uncle, George Homan.

Mrs. Will Houser and Miss Sadie Felding are both housed up from an attack of gripple.

Sober.

A. P. Zerby, of Bellefonte, was in this community last week.

H. Eisenbuth is making use of the snow and is taking out extract wood and props.

Mrs. Andrew Zerby, who has been sick for several weeks, is not improving very rapidly.

The ground hog saw his shadow on Sunday, which is a good sign for six weeks more of cold weather.

F. C. Auman and Miss Blanche Wolf visited at the home of Edward Noll, at Pleasant Gap, last week.

H. Eisenbuth bought a horse a few weeks ago.

Colds on the Chest

Ask your doctor the medical name for a cold on the chest. He will say, "Bronchitis." Ask him if it is ever serious. Lastly, ask him if he prescribes Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for this disease. Keep in close touch with your family physician.

When you tell your doctor about the bad taste in your mouth, loss of appetite for breakfast, and frequent headaches, and when he sees your coated tongue, he will say, "You are bilious." Ayer's Pills work well in such cases.

Made by the J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.
