An Ink Pencil Almost For Nothing.

Everybody nowadays is buying an ink pencil. A first class ink pencil is worth $2.50. You can get the Commercial Ink Pencil, one made by a reliable American manufacturer, worth $2.50, and The Philadelphia Press, daily edition, one year worth $3.00 or both worth $5.50, by sending a check for $3.50 to the Circulation Department of The Philadelphia Press, Seventh and Chestnut Streets, Philadelphia.

Keith's Theatre.

Harry Houdini, handcuff king, is at Keith's theatre, Philadelphia, this week. He presents for the first time his own original invention, that of getting out of an air-tight iron can, filled to the brim with water, after he has been locked in with six padlocks.

Chance for Reporter Readers.

In order to test the Reporters great circulation and its superior advertising value, we have made arrangements with J. D. Murray the popular druggist to offer one of his best selling medicines at half price to anyone who will cut out the following coupon and present it at his store.

COUPON

This coupon entitles the holder to one 50c. package of Dr. Howard's specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia at half-price, 25c. I will refund the money to any dissatisfied customer.

J. D. MURRAY.

TWENTY-FIVE CENTS

Dr. Howard's specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia is not an unknown remedy. It has made many remarkable cures right here in Centre Hall and so positive is Druggist J. D. Murray of its superiority in curing dyspepsia, constipation, sick back and liver troubles that he will, in addition to selling it at half price, refund the money to anyone whom it does not cure.

If you cannot call at his store, cut out the coupon and mail it with 25 cents, and a 50 cent box of the specific will be sent you by mail, charges paid.

Stationery for Ladies.

A fine grade of box paper, having embossed at the top "Centre Hall, Pa." has just been added to the assortment of stationery for ladies. The quality and style are good enough for the use of a queen.

A YOUNG MAN'S BEST ASSET.

Temperateness is a Business Demand-- It is Essential to Success in Life, Says John H. Converse.

"The best asset a young man can have is character. The young man who is honest and upright in all his dealings, and is entirely free from the use of intoxicants and is temperate in all things, possesses one of the most valuable requisites to success in business."

"There are three important avenues in business," he said, "stenography and typewriting, accounting and selling goods. You will find that in all ordinary business establishments the requirements are, as a rule, one of these three things. There are three things which I think are elements of success in business. They are industry, devotion to your employer and cheerfulness.

LOCALS.

FINE PRINTS.

Care With Which They Are Treated by Amateurs and Collectors.

How careful collectors and amateurs of fine engravings are of their treasures is illustrated by a written agreement that a local firm of dealers in such things had to sign recently when they wanted to borrow several particularly rare engravings for an exhibition they were to have in their galleries.

The owner of the prints insisted that from the time the box in which the prints were sent to the dealers was opened in the shop no hands but those of the junior partner of the firm were to touch them. The owner stipulated expressly that the member of the firm was to take them out of the box, frame them himself, hang them on the walls and when the show was over follow the prints back through these various stages until a porter was ready to screw the cover of the packing box or again. The prints were so rare and fine that the junior partner cheerfully agreed to all of these conditions for the sake of showing the engravings.

That the prints were extremely rare may be appreciated from the fact that before two of them in particular came into the private collector's possession he made a special journey to Stuttgart, Germany, to see them, and when he looked at them he left an open order to a dealer in that city to buy them, no matter what they cost. He got them, but he paid the highest price ever known for such engravings to bring. New York Press.

CRANKY METAL.

Moods and Mystery That Are Embodied in a Piece of Steel.

A cutlery company will make a hundred razors from the same piece of steel by the same process, and part of the razors will be good and part of them bad. It may be fifty of one kind or seventy-five or twenty-five—nobody knows. The maker doesn't know; the buyer doesn't know. Barbers say that even the price doesn't seem to make much difference. You may get a good razor for a quarter or a bad one for $5. And the same razor will get a contrary edge today, so that you can hardly shave with it, and tomorrow, without additional sharpening, it will work like a charm.

One tap will go on a bolt easily and stay there. Another tap will hardly go on at all. A third may be screwed on tight and snug and yet keep coming off in spite of all that can be done.

Sometimes men that work with machines have a premonition of coming disaster, as do the men that sail on the seas or thread the winding paths of the big woods. Nature as well as pieces of mechanism seems able to communicate to man why they are in a calamitous and threatening mood. Chicago Tribune.

Madrid and Its Climate.

Along the Mediterranean shore Spain presents a narrow ribbon of fertile, delightful country. The region is often called "the garden of Spain."

It is a great contrast to pass from these tropical shores to the wind swept plains of Interior Spain. The level country included by the Guadarrama and the Cantabrian mountains forms in the west an extensive wheat growing region. Toward the east as the rainfall decreases pasturage encroaches upon arable culture. In New Castle, on the south of the Guadarrama and in about the center of Spain, the political capital has been placed. The level country in which it has been dropped, as if by accident, is for the most part a waterless plain, swept in winter by the piercing winds from the naked mountains of the north, sweltering in summer under the effect of the sun's rays on bare rock and soil.

The climate of Madrid has been tersely described by its inhabitants as "three months of winter and nine of hades."

Honey Ants.

Certain Mexican ants are selected by their kindred as storehouses of honey. They are fed with honey until the abdomen speedily becomes smooth and round and so filled with honey that the skin is transparent. These ants are doomed to pass the remainder of their lives as mere honey cells, from which their kindred extract the honey when it is required. There are several specimens of these ants in the British museum with the honey still within their transparent bodies. The Mexicans raid the nests of these ants for the sake of the honey that their bodies contain, and the ants are eaten raw as sweets.

The Full Particulars.

The other day a lady who lives in our town entered a grocery store and asked to be shown a good kind of breakfast cereal.

The clerk took down a package and said:

"Madam, this is a predigested food."

"Oh, is that so?" she returned. "And by whom?"—Woman's Home Companion.

Good For an Appetite.

"You must have a good appetite," remarked the thin man enviously. "What do you take for it?"

"In all my experience," replied the plump one, "I have found nothing more suitable than food."—Philadelphia Press.

More Profit in Stock Raising can be made if the digestive capacity of your animals is increased and perfect health maintained. Dr. Hess Stock Food is the prescription of Dr. Hess, (M.D., D.V.S.) for increasing digestion, regulating the bowels and relieving the minor stock ailments.

A healthy animal digests only about 50 per cent. of its food. By the addition of bitter tonics this amount can be increased. If a healthy animal can be improved, think of the profit in feeding
