An Unsecured Loan.

Though pawnbrokers are not supposed to have any friends, only customers, there is a story that is told in New York that shows that they sometimes stretch their rules—if the right man comes along. A certain man had been having a very hard streak of luck. If there were twenty-one horses in the race, his choice would never be better than No. 20. Finally his money was all gone; also all of his negotiable property. When he had spent his last dollar for breakfast, he turned into the pawnshop where all his valuables were being cared for, and they amounted to considerable.

"I'd like to have $500 on this," he said to the proprietor, laying down an ordinary lead pencil on the counter. Without a change of countenance, the pawnbroker made out a ticket and passed the money over the counter.

Right there the racing man's fortunes seemed to change. Every one of his selections proved an easy winner, and, as he pushed his luck, he was able at the end of the week to redeem his pencil and all his other valuables. —New York Globe.

A Doubtful Guarantee.

The Arabs and, indeed, all Moslems have the practice of re-enforcing promises by adding to their word of honor the Arabic phrase Inshallah ("Please God"). How much meaning it conveys in some lands of the east is told in the pages of "In Moorish Captivity." The pious proviso is a very useful formula to the Moors and is frequently used in making promises that they have no intention whatever of keeping, as they can then take refuge behind the Almighty when they are taxed with their breach of faith. There is a story told of a man who kept a shop in Gibraltar and who knew the ways of the Moor. To him one day came one of the faithful, who was desirous of buying some cloth. On being informed that the price was $2 a yard, payment in sixty days, he replied:

"All right. I will take so much and will pay you in sixty days, Inshallah."

"No," said the vender, "the price is $2.50 payment in sixty days. For sixty days, Inshallah, the price is $2.50."

Her Hidden Ambition.

There is an instance, rare in the profession, of a musician who had little enthusiasm for her calling, just as Fanny Kemble, the actress, was by no means enamored of the stage and would have quit it had not circumstances bound her there. A brilliant young violinist, a native of Holland, played one day for Edward VII, when he was the Prince of Wales. "Is there anything you care more for than your Stradivarius?" asked the prince, expecting, of course, a negative reply. "The young Netherlander colored a little. 'The violin is not an absorbing passion with me, your highness,' she replied. 'Ah! Perhaps you have a leaning to another branch of art?' suggested the prince. 'Indeed, I have not,' the violinist said in a burst of confidence. 'But, your highness, I just love to cook! I really believe I should make an excellent chef if I had the opportunity to practice.'—New York Tribune.

A "Fine Old Woman."

During the evening a gentleman came to Mrs. Siddons and said, "Madam, I beg your pardon for asking so rude a question, but in consequence of a wager allow me to ask your age." She replied, "Seventy-eight years old." "Hang it," said he, "I have lost." And he abruptly went away. Mrs. Siddons immediately said, "Puppy!" "Very true," I observed, "but why did you tell him you were so old?" She replied, "Whenever a lady of an uncertain age, as it is termed, is asked how old she is she had better add ten or more years to her age, for then the inquirer goes away saying, 'What a fine old woman!'"—"Journals of Sir George Smart."

Foresight and Delicateness.

In Chicago is a woman who combines the functions of caterer and trance medium, serving her customers with refreshment psychical or physical, according to their wishes. Either she or the sign painter whom she employed must be a humorist, for her sign reads thus: "Madame Blank, caterer and trance medium. Groceries and Provisions."

Guaranteed Ghosts.

"No intelligent person pays any attention to ghosts," said the dogmatic person. "Perhaps not," answered Miss Cayenne, "unless the ghost has been able to secure an introduction from some psychic research society."—Washington Star.

The Bohemian.

"Ah, once a bohemian always a bohemian!" exclaimed the unscissored poet. "A bohemian never changes." "No, not even his collar," replied the practical man, who had met a few bohemians.—Chicago News.

Wayside Communings.

Wareham Long—Wot started the hard times anyway? —Tufford Knutt—We did, ye ole fool! We was sufferin' with 'em long 'fore anybody else caught 'em.—Chicago Tribune.

Locating the Blame.

Father—Why, when I was your age I didn't have as much money in a month as you spend in a day. Son—Well, pa, don't scold me about it. Why don't you go for grandfather?

Congressman Foelt had a bill passed to appropriate $25,000 for a post office building at Lewisburg and $50,000 for public buildings at Lewistown.

JUNE ON THE GREAT LAKES.
Restful, delightful, interesting, and instructive, there is no trip like that on the Great Lakes, those inland seas which form the border line between the United States and Canada. And June is one of the most charming months in the year in which to take the trip.
For comfort the fine passenger steamships of the Anchor Line have no superiors. As well-appointed as the palatial ocean greyhounds which plow the Atlantic, their schedule allows sufficient time at all stopping places to enable the traveler to see something of the great lake cities and to view in daylight the most distinctive sights of the lakes, and the scenery which frames them.
The trip through Detroit River, and through Lake St. Clair, with its great ship canal in the middle of the lake, thence through Lake Huron, the locking of the Portage Entry, lake and canal, across the upper end of Michigan are novel and interesting features.
The voyage from Buffalo to Duluth covers over eleven hundred miles in the five days' journey. Leaving Buffalo, the steamships, Junata and Tionesta, make stops at Erie, Cleveland, Detroit, Mackinac Island, the Soo, Marquette, Houghton and Hancock, and Duluth.
The 1908 season opens on June 16, when the Steamer Tionesta will make her first sailing from Buffalo.
The Anchor Line is the Great Lake Annex of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and the service measures up to the high standard set by the "Standard Railroad of America."
An illustrated folder, giving sailing dates of steamers, rates of fare, and other information is in course of preparation, and may be obtained from any Pennsylvania Railroad Ticket Agent, who is also prepared to book passengers who may desire to take this trip through the Great Lakes and back.

It looks more like Bryan every day. The winning ofttime comes on the third trial.
And now Col. Reynolds is bent on having a place in the Republican national convention, and to get it he intends contesting Emery's seat in that body. After being beaten so badly, the colonel ought to be satisfied with a perch on the rooster roost.
