SUNFLOWER SEEDS WANTED.—Several quarts of sunflower seeds can be sold by application at the Reporter office.

HORSE FOR SALE.—The undersigned offers for sale a five year old horse, weight 12 to 13 hundred, all correct. He is a Western animal, and a good one.

CAUTION.—I hereby caution all persons against purchasing two notes of date on or about February 24th, 1906, for one hundred dollars each, in favor of Wm. M. Grove and Peter Smith, respectively, for which I have received no consideration and which I shall refuse to pay.

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE.—Letters of Administration on the estate of Jonas B. Royer, late of Potter's Mills, deceased, having been duly granted to the undersigned, he would respectfully request all persons knowing themselves indebted to the estate to make immediate payment, and those having claims against the same to present them duly authenticated for settlement.

DECKER FARM AT PRIVATE SALE.—The undersigned offers at private sale the farm known as the Green Decker farm, in George Valley, Gregg township, containing 150 acres and 38 perches.

PUBLIC SALE.—The undersigned offers at public sale at his residence on the pike between Penn Hall and Spring Mills on SATURDAY, AUGUST 22, 1 P. M.

Why He Does It.

"It isn't often that I have faith enough in the medicines put up by other people to be willing to refund the money if it does not cure," said druggist J. D. Murray to one of his many customers.

"The Dr. Howard Company, in order to get a quick introductory sale authorized me to sell the regular fifty cent bottle of their specific for half-price, 25 cents, and although I have sold a lot of it, and guaranteed every package, not one has been brought back as unsatisfactory.

"One great advantage of this specific," he continued, "is its small dose and convenient form. There are sixty doses in a vial that can be carried in the vest pocket or purse, and every one has more medicinal power than a big pill or tablet or a tumbler of mineral water.

"I am still selling the specific at half-price, although I cannot tell how long I shall be able to do so. Any person who is subject to constipation, sick headache, dizziness, liver trouble, indigestion or a general played out condition, ought to take advantage of this opportunity.

Notice to Democrats.

BELLEFONTE, Pa., Aug. 5, 1908.

The Democrats of Centre county are hereby requested to meet in a mass meeting, Monday, August 17, 7:30 p. m., in the Arbitration room of the Court House, Bellefonte, for the purpose of amending the present rules governing the Democratic party in Centre county, and to adopt such new rules as may be deemed necessary for the governing of the party in said county.

W. D. ZERRY, Chairman.

Farmer Killed in Open Field.

William Mowery, a farmer living west of Lewisburg, was instantly killed by lightning Tuesday afternoon while working in an open field.

Not returning to the house, his wife sent their little daughter out to call him in. A few minutes later she came back shrieking: "Pop is killed."

There was an ugly gash on his forehead and a red streak across his neck and down his leg. He is survived by a wife and two children.

An Honest Expression.

The Altoona Tribune, always Republican in politics, makes this honest confession:

"There isn't a particle of use in pretending that the hard times have come to an end in this state. They have not. There are families in this city who are in positive want and the same is true of other cities. If we are to continue our shout for Prosperity we must see her face to face.

Grossman Farm Sold.

The Joseph Grossman farm, south of Earlstown, and lying east of the Tusseyville road, was recently purchased by James W. Raymond, of Linden Hall. The farm contains about sixty acres, and the price said to have been paid was $50, per acre.

Mr. Raymond is an energetic man, a careful farmer, and good manager, and no doubt will be able to bring his new possessions up to the best tilt.

Child ate Poison.

James Edgar Lebard, a two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel J. Lebard, of Kelly Cross Roads, Union county, found a box of large sugar coated tablets containing strychnine, arsenic, mercury and iron and ate ten or twelve of them. He was immediately seized with convulsions and died in a half an hour.

Colyer vs. Potter's Mills.

In a game of baseball between nine from Colyer and Potters Mills, played Saturday at Potters Mills, Colyer was beaten by a score of 15 to 8. The game was well attended, and there was an abundance of amusement.

SCORE BY INNINGS:

Colyer.....0 1 0 1 0 1 4 8

Potters Mills.....0 1 4 0 5 0 3 2 -15

A NOISY CONVENTION.

One in Which Comanches and Panthers Were Outshrieked.

The noisiest, the loudest, the most exciting and perhaps least logical campaign was that of 1860. William Henry Harrison, hero of an Indian victory at Tippecanoe, a plain old man who had lived his opponents sneeringly said, in a log cabin decorated with coonskins and had drunk hard cider, was selected by Thurlow Weed as a better candidate than Henry Clay.

The issues between Van Buren, the Democratic candidate, and Harrison were not clearly drawn, but the adventurous circumstances of Harrison's early life were skillfully utilized for theatrical effects. Processions miles long with log cabins, cider barrels and coonskin caps on poles stretched from state to state. Glee clubs were a feature of the campaign, and the Indian fighter was fairly sung into office.

In the convention of 1860 began the modern custom of cheering and counter cheering. The Seward contingent gave a parade the day of the convention. While they were marching Lincoln supporters filled the Wigwam. With the naming of the candidates began the cheering. Murat Halstead said that when Seward was nominated and seconded "the shouting was absolutely frantic, shrill and wild. Comanches or panthers never struck a higher note or gave screams with more infernal intensity. Looking from the stage over the vast amphitheater, nothing was to be seen below but thousands of hats—a black, mighty swarm of hats flying with the velocity of hot pots over a mass of human heads, most of the mouths of which were open."

But when Lincoln's nomination was seconded the west was heard from. "I thought the Seward yell could not be surpassed," said Halstead, "but the Lincoln boys were clearly ahead and, being their victory as there was a lull in the storm, took deep breaths all around and gave a scream that was positively awful and accompanied it with stamping that made every plank and pillar in the building quiver."

On the third ballot Lincoln was nominated. The shouting was so deafening that the cannon which was discharged on the roof of the building could not be heard inside. — Chicago Record-Herald.

PERILOUS SLEEPWALKING.

The Tragedy on Which Bellini Wrote His Celebrated Opera.

Somnambulists can maintain their footing in the most perilous places—so long as they remain in a state of somnambulism, but if suddenly awakened they instantly lose their self possession and balance.

On one occasion a young woman living in Dresden was seen at midnight walking on the edge of the roof of her house. Her family were immediately told of her plight, but were afraid to go near her. The neighbors gathered about the house and placed mattresses and blankets along the street in hopes that they might save her in case she fell.

She danced for over an hour on the slanting roof, apparently retaining her balance without difficulty, and every now and then she would advance to the edge and bow to the silent crowd standing many feet below her.

At last she climbed down on to the wide gutter which ran in front of the window through which she had come, with the evident intention of re-entering the house. The crowd watching her so intently drew a sigh of relief. But, unfortunately, her terrified relatives, thinking to assist her, had placed two lighted candles in the room near the window, and as she approached the light fell directly in her eyes.

Instantly the shock awakened her, and she swayed back and forth in her perilous position; then, with a frightful scream, she fell headlong to the ground. She was fatally hurt and died in a few hours. It was on this tragedy that Bellini wrote his celebrated opera "La Sonnambula."—Washington Post.

The Tragic Loco Weed.

The abominable Mexican plant known as the loco weed has the peculiar property of making irrational both men and beasts who partake of it. Horses and cattle out on the prairies after grazing upon it go crazy, and a "locoed" pony will perform all kinds of queer antics. It is said that if a man comes under its spell he never regains his senses, the insanity produced by it being incurable. It is said that the loss of mind of the ill fated Carlotta was no doubt due to the fact that some enemy drugged her with a preparation of loco, although history has it that she went insane by reason of her husband's execution.—Baltimore American.

A Gentle Husband.

Woman (to her husband, busily engaged writing)—My dear, correctly speaking, what is a dentist? Husband (crossly)—Derived from dent, French for teeth, a man who pulls teeth. (Husband settles down to writing again.) Wife—My dear, you said this morning that linguist was derived from the Latin lingua, a tongue. Husband (crossly)—Yes. Wife—Well, dear, is a linguist a man who pulls out tongues? Husband—No, madam, but I wish he did.—London Answers.

The Best Man.

"Why is it?" asked the dear girl, "that the bridegroom's attendant is called the 'best man'?"

"I suppose it's because he is the best of," growled the fussy old bachelor.—Kansas City Newsbook.

Considerate Censorship.

"Does your father know I love you?" "No. Papa isn't very well, and we've kept it from him."—Harper's Weekly.

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes.

The kidneys are your blood purifiers, they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood.

If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work.

Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries.

It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits.
