From Millheim Journal.

Mrs. G. R. Stover, of Lykens, is visiting relatives in this place and community.

Jeff D. Stover, a farmer of Haines township, transacted business in town Tuesday afternoon.

Prof. and Mrs. S. Ward Gramley and Dr. and Mrs. William Groff spent Sunday with friends at Millroy.

Mr. and Mrs. Reuben O. Braucht and son, Daniel, of East Waterford, are visiting relatives in this section.

Mr. and Mrs. George Frankenberg and two children, Mr. David Shall and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Keen left Friday morning for an extended visit at Freeport, Ill.

G. W. Harter, of Loren, Ill., spent several days the past week in this place. He left for Harter, W. Va., Monday, where he expects to locate for the present.

E. H. Zimmerman, the lumberman, returned Saturday from a three weeks' business trip to Elkland, Tioga county. His son, George who accompanied him, still remains at that place.

LOCALS

A. P. Luse & Son have just received a large quantity of first class cedar shingles, and offer the same for sale at a reasonable price.

G. W. Smith, formerly of Centre Hall, but now division officer and instructor at the Morgana Reformatory, was in town for a day or two last week.

The old home had sufficient attraction for Morris Breen, who is now located at Pulaski, New York, engaged as a plumber, and consequently he came here for a short stay with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Perry W. Breen.

Miss Alice Robinson, for a few days last week, was at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Robinson, in Centre Hall. Miss Robinson is at the Presbyterian hospital, Philadelphia, where she is studying to become a trained nurse. After about a year's stay at that institution she is very much pleased with her work.

W. L. Miller and sister, Miss Kate Miller, son and daughter of Miles Miller, of Pittsburg, Kansas, are making their first trip east since they were bits of children. They are spending the time with J. C. Bible, and uncle, and others of the Bible family and before returning will also visit D. E. Bible, at Mt. Carmel, and J. R. Bible, at Phoenixville. They are very much delighted with the old home place of their parents, and think the mountains beautiful.

Rev. and Mrs. Isaac Heckman, of Northumberland, the former pastor of the Methodist church here; Rev. W. W. Rhoads, also a former pastor of the local United Evangelical church, accompanied by his daughter, Miss Ida Rhoads; Rev. and Mrs. G. W. McInay, of Lock Haven, also former pastors in Centre Hall, were all here during the Encampment. Rev. Heckman and wife and Rev. McInay and wife were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. James B. Strohm for a part of the time.

Sheffer's ice cream is very well known as one of the best brands made, and there is plenty of it sold in Centre Hall, but while eating it few people realize that the proprietor of the Sheffer ice cream plant, at Dewart, is Charles F. Sheffer, formerly employed by the Howard Creamery Corporation at its Centre Hall plant. Mr. Sheffer came here to get practical knowledge of the business, and from here he went to Pennsylvania State College and graduated there. He is now both a manufacturer of ice cream and butter on a large scale, his sales in a year amounting to as much as $50,000 per year. Mrs. Sheffer is from Millheim, and with her husband and two very interesting little children—Robert and Hazel—visited among friends in Centre Hall.

The whole of Centre county, Mr. Sheffer says, has a worm spot in his heart, and largely because he no only got his first experience in the business he is conducting here, but also his good wife.

Local Business Men Waking Up.

Local business men are waking up to the fact that it would be a source of profit to be represented at the Grange Encampment and Fair. If it is possible for business houses located at distant points to come here and do business at a profit, it certainly would be a great advantage for local business men to have their wares on exhibition. Exhibitors find that the business transacted during the week represents but a small portion of the sales made on account of the Encampment and Fair, but that orders come throughout the year. The man who examines your goods while on exhibition, and takes up your time without buying them, is simply looking to the future, and when ready to buy calls in person at your business place, or opens a correspondence.

There is nothing equal to advertising to bring business, and joining the exhibitors at the Grange Encampment and Fair is simply an advertisement.

Keith's Theatre.

There is a new feature in vaudeville performances at Keith's theatre, Philadelphia, this week. This is a grand opera, "The Patriot", said to be the first grand opera to be presented in the varieties. A surprise act is that of La Petite Adelaide, who, with her dainty dancers, appears in her original conception of Maude Allan's Mendelssohn's "Spring Song" dance. A welcome return is that of Winsor McCay, ("Silas") the cartoonist. Laura Burt and Henry Stanford, former leading lady and leading man for the late Sir Henry Irving, are presenting a playlet of country-villa life in Wales. Viola DeCosta offers a sprightly diversion in a playlet purporting to be a picture of student life in Paris. The bill is a very full one and includes many other musicians, comedians and humorists.

LOCALS

And now for the Centre County Fair.

Hereafter G. C. King, of Spring Mills, will operate his cider mill three days each week—Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Messrs. Harry Burkholder and Guy Jacobs have resumed their studies as students at Pennsylvania State College, the former being a senior and the latter a junior.

Andrew W. Gregg advertises sale of a lot of household goods for Saturday, October 24, and after the sale Mr. Gregg will take his family to Wilkes Barre where they will make their home.

Mrs. Amelia Deitzel, of Tusseyville, has been seriously ill for the past three weeks. She is suffering from an affection of the heart, and being well advanced in age—almost eighty—her condition is somewhat alarming.

A hunting party made up of sportsmen in the vicinity of Spring Mills and Penn Hall was recently organized, the leading spirits being W. M. Grove, Dr. H. S. Braucht and Frank M. Fisher. This party will no doubt make a good record the coming season.

As a representative of the Henry, Millard & Henry Co., manufacturers of the Advance gas and gasoline engines, Joseph T. Henry, of York, was at the Encampment and Fair with an exhibit. Wallace W. White, of Axe Mann, is their local representative.

J. W. Adams, of Huntingdon, visited the Encampment for the first time. He is a native of Millheim, and came to the county chiefly to look after the erection of a suitable tombstone for his parents. When here he also visited his brother, Perry Adams, of State College, a painter.

A week or ten days' visit to Tusseyville and Centre Hall was greatly enjoyed by Mrs. Lydia Meyer, of Aaronsburg. While at the former place she made her chief stopping place with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Eva Strohm, and when in Centre Hall with her nephew, James B. Strohm.

Miss Leila Huyett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Huyett, of Centre Hall, is a student at the Susquehanna University, Selinsgrove. She is a graduate of the Centre Hall High School, and is a good, faithful student. A greater part of her time while at the institution named will be devoted to music.

Having attained a reputation for correctness of work and neatness in execution of drafts, while in the employ of the state, Surveyor W. M. Grove is being called to all parts of Pennsylvania to do work for individuals and corporations. He had been in the coal regions for several weeks, and just returned to attend the Encampment.

Among the tenters on Grange Park who enjoyed the week's outing were Messrs H. M. Hettinger and John Breen, who with their families tented with the families of Harry E. Fye and Oscar C. Homan. Mr. Hettinger is employed in the car repairing shops of the Pennsy at Altoona, and Mr. Breen is a fireman in the yards at that place. They were very fortunate in having been among the employed during the picnic. They are natives of Penns Valley and belong to the class of energetic young men who were obliged to seek employment elsewhere than about the home of their youth.

16 Runs, 10 Hits.

In a one-sided game Thursday of last week, Centre Hall defeated Linden Hall by the score of 16 to 6. The way the boys pounded that Readsville pitcher no doubt made him wish he had never heard of the Grangers' picnic.

A total of nineteen hits, four of which were two-baggers, were collected off his delivery, and Eddie Martz was the bright star at the bat with five hits and five runs in as many times to bat. Stahl was a close second with four safe swats.

Following is the score of the slaughter:

The junior team also was busy during the week and defeated the snappy little fellows from Boalsburg on Wednesday by the score of 12 to 9. On Thursday Pleasant Gap met defeat by the tune of 8 runs to 2.

In all, it was a good week for the Centre Hall boys.

LOCALS

J. O. Stover, who had been living at Readsville during the flash times is back to Pottery Mills again.

And there wasn't a drop of rain during the entire week, and no one was at all apprehensive of a shower.

Centre Hall sent out another student in the person of Miss Beale Weber, who entered Bucknell University, at Lewisburg.

Monday morning Mrs. Laura Lee went to State College where she will remain for some time, provided she likes the work in which she will engage.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Keller, of Phoenixville, and Mrs. John H. Krombine, of Vintondale, were among the many former residents who were here during the Encampment.

G. W. Ocker, accompanied by his daughter, Miss Estie, were in Centre Hall Thursday and Friday. They are now living at Lewisburg, and although quite convenient to their old home make time pretty long between visits.

While neighboring towns and cities and farmers everywhere in the country are suffering from an inadequate supply of water, Centre Hall for a week furnished water for ten times its normal population, and could have done so for a week more.

Dr. S. C. Runkle, of Philadelphia, came up to visit his mother last week, and from there he and the aged lady came on to Centre Hall to attend the Encampment. Of course, the Doctor spent some time on his farm, east of Centre Hall, tenanted by his brother, John Runkle.

T. P. Hayes, of Watsonstown, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Potter, west of Centre Hall. Mr. Hayes had his leg broken some six weeks ago by a flying bolt from a freight train striking him. His limb is yet in a plaster paris shield, but he is able to walk with the aid of crutches.

To those who have thought of Eugene V. Debs only as an agitator, the report of his interview with Lincoln Steffens, which appears in the October Everybody's, will be an eye-opener. To socialists it will present their leader in a new light—"the kindest, foolishest, most courageous lover of man in the world."

William and Nellie Lohr, of Philadelphia, were in Centre Hall and vicinity among friends for a short while, but have returned to their home to prepare for the opening of the University of Pennsylvania. Mr. and Mrs. James Lohr, the parents of these young people, are justly proud over the fact that each of them secured a scholarship in one of several of the leading institutions in the east, while students in the city schools, for having attained high grades, and both selected the university named.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Sweetwood, of Clarno, Wisconsin, just completed a two weeks' visit to friends and relatives in Penns Valley. Mr. Sweetwood is a son of J. W. Sweetwood, of near Spring Mills, and has been in Wisconsin for a number of years, and is now engaged in farming. Mrs. Sweetwood is a native of Wisconsin, but both her grandparents are from the South side of Potter township, but went west many years ago, when "going west" meant privation to a greater or less extent. She is a descendant of the Swartz and Koppe, who wagoned it to the then far west. This is Mrs. Sweetwood's first visit east, and she met many heretofore unknown relatives, the writer being one of them.
