LOCALS.
Five car loads of apples wanted.—C. P. Long, Spring Mills.
Hay is being shipped from Penna Valley at a price ranging between nine and ten dollars.
Miss Bessie Weber was home over Sunday from Lewisburg where she is attending Bucknell University.
LOST—A long-wristed glove, tan kid, between Centre Hall and Spring Mills. Finder please leave at Presbyterian Manse, Centre Hall.
A council meeting of the Centre Hall charge of the Lutheran church will be held Saturday afternoon, October 10th. See notice published elsewhere.
George W. Bradford advertises a sale of hitch cows and stock bulls to be held at Hublersburg, Thursday, October 15th. See adv. in this issue, also posters.

The contract for building the state road from Philipsburg out the Tyrone pike to the dairy farm of Slim Batchelder has been awarded to Charles N. Waple, of Philipsburg; the road to be completed by December first.
The pasture fields are thoroughly dried up, necessitating the feeding of cattle in the barns. This enforced feeding for a period of at least six weeks, will reduce the surplus of coarse feed to a considerable extent.
Samuel Rowe arrived at Centre Hall last week on schedule time. He is in the best of spirits, and but for the missing leg, he is the same man as heretofore. Mr. Rowe thinks he will be able to wear a cork leg, and again assume his position with the company in whose employment he was when the accident befell him.
Mrs. Samuel Weber, of New York, is at present at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Weber, in Centre Hall, and with baby Mary. Weber will remain here for some time. Mr. Weber is expecting to be sent to the south by the firm with which he is associated, and in that event Mrs. Weber and the little babe will remain here until he returns to the north.
After a stay of a few weeks at Centre Hall with his wife and little son, Irvin V. Muser, Wednesday morning went to Beaver where he will again resume his position with a buscuit company with whom he had been associated for several years. While in Beaver Mr. Muser built several dwelling houses and sold them to good advantage, and on his return there he will at once make arrangements to begin the erection of a dwelling for his own use, having sold his home at the opening of the panic.

THE BALLOT.

It Will Contain Six National Tickets, Republican, Democratic, Prohibition, Socialist, Independence and the Socialist Labor.

Copies of the sample ballots for the coming election have been delivered to the state department from the printer. They will be distributed and certified to the different counties as rapidly as possible. These samples are printed on pink paper and are identical in make-up with the official ballots, so far as national and state offices are concerned. The candidates for presidential electors of the Republican, Democratic, Prohibition, and Socialist parties—those nominated at the April primaries—appear in columns in the order named, the order being governed by the total vote at the last election. Following these come the candidates for presidential electors of the Independence and Socialist-Labor parties, which were nominated by nomination papers. A blank column comes last. Candidates for judge of the superior court are then set forth, following which are spans, left blank, to be filled out by the counties, for congressman, state senator, state representative, judge of the court of common pleas, judge of the orphans' court and associate judge. These entries are all that appear on the ballot as turned out there. The candidates for county offices will be added by the commissioners of the various counties.

C. P. Long advertises for apples. He is a large buyer, and is now bidding for five car loads of the fruit.
Fine and fair weather for the fair.

PENN STATE ENROLLMENT.

The College is Growing in Popularity Among The State Strangers—236 in School of Agriculture.

The outlook for the Pennsylvania State college is exceedingly bright. The enrollment is nearing the 1,150 mark. The freshman class is a large one, numbering 375.

In the total list of students the greatest number taking one course is in electrical engineering. The course in agriculture ranks second with a total of 226 students. It is only a few years ago when the enrollment in the agricultural course cut a very small figure. In 1897 there were 26; 1898, 9, 17; 1899, 14; 1900, 1, 13; 1901-2, 14; 1902-3, 15; 1903-4, 16; 1904-5, 24; 1905-6, 41; 1906-7, 226. The above figures indicate the steady growth of the school of agriculture. It now ranks second and in a few years will probably be first. This is indisputable evidence of the interest that has been awakened among farmers of the state for a greater knowledge of the more scientific methods of farming.

Next to agriculture stands civil engineering, then mechanical engineering. In the school of engineering there are 605 students, divided as follows: Civils 215, mechanicals 146, electricals 244. In the school of mines and metallurgy there are 108, natural science 97, modern language and literature 24, mathematics and physics 2, preparatory department 49. THE ELECTORAL VOTE.

The Total Electoral Vote, 483—Necessary to a Choice, 242.

The following table will be of interest, and one frequently consulted between now and November 3rd. The forty-six state will cast four hundred and eighty-three electoral votes, the majority of which, or two hundred and forty-two, are necessary to a choice. The electoral vote of the forty-six states is based upon the apportionment act of 1900:

Alabama	11	Nevada	3
Arkansas	9	New Hampshire	4
California	10	New Jersey	12
Colorado	5	New York	39
Connecticut	7	North Carolina	12

Smullton
Ira Smull, of Newton, Kansas, was the guest of friends here during the latter part of last week. Mr. Smull is one of the men who took Horace Greely's advice and went west years ago, with the result that today he has a comfortable fortune.

Rev. Haney, with his family, visited in our midst during the week. It is worthy of mention that Rev. Haney is exceptionally ambitious and industrious. He teaches one of the public schools in the county, besides serving four congregations in the ministry, alternating two each Sabbath, and driving many miles to fulfill these duties. Besides this, during the summer months he assisted in repainting the parsonage and his home town church in Madisonburg.

Jacob Walizer, with his wife and daughter Eva, are visiting relatives in Bellefonte this week, and incidentally taking in the sights at the Fair.

John Brindle, accompanied by his son and his sister-in-law, of Feldler, were Sunday visitors in town.

Wesley Hackenberg, of New Berlin, visited his parents here last Sunday.
Mr. and Mrs. Newton Brungard attended the funeral of Daniel Brungard, in Logan-ton.
Wesley Snyder, of Greenbur, trans acted business in town.

Stanley Mallory, who holds a position at Turtle Creek, circulated among friends here during the week. This being his former home and birth-place, his friends were glad to welcome him.
Ammon Strayer made a business trip to Zion where he contracted for a job that means a lot of coin.

Harry K. Smull and Clayton Winters attended the horse sale at Millheim, Saturday.
Edwin Winters and family enjoyed a drive from their home in Millheim to that of his parents here, Sunday afternoon.

Gasoline barrels, whether full or empty, are as dangerous as a powder mill to those who handle them. Clarence Lantz, a Millburg drayman, was hauling a load of empty gasoline barrels to the freight station, and while standing on the wagon one of the barrels exploded with terrific force, knocking him to the ground. He lost two of his front teeth and had a couple of other bruises.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect it.
Prevalency of Kidney Disease.
Most people do not realize the alarming increase and remarkable prevalence of kidney disease. While kidney disorders are the most common diseases that prevail, they are almost the last recognized by patient and physicians, who content themselves with doctoring the effects, while the original disease undermines the system.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention this paper and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

HOLDING THE BABY.

Introducing a Nice Point in Baby Carriage Etiquette.

"That fellow doesn't know the first thing about the etiquette of the baby carriage," remarked one of a group of men at Thirty-first and Main streets.

The comment was made to all in a general way. One of the group, the man with a frayed collar and a look of patient resignation, gazed anxiously at a couple about to board a car. The mother was sparring in a desperate sort of way with one of those baby carriages which shop salesmen can open and close in a minute and the users in from five to thirty minutes.

"Don't see anything wrong with that," said the man with the frayed collar. "He's got to hold the baby even if she does have to wrestle with the carriage. You don't think he ought to hold the baby and take care of the carriage, too, do you?"

"Well, there's one thing sure," rejoined the objector—"the man doesn't know a thing about baby carriage etiquette. What you want to do is this: If the baby weighs more than the carriage, it's the man's place to hold the baby. If the carriage weighs more, he should hand the baby to his wife."

"Oh, piffle!" interjected the man with the big black cigar. "You're way off. What he ought to do is to hand the baby to his wife and the carriage to the conductor."—Kansas City Star.

THE NORMAN FARMER.

He Carries His Top Soil With Him When He Moves.

The modern farmer was applying electrical massage to a cart horse's sprained knee. During the intervals of rest he talked farm talk.

"There are tenants," he said, "who, when they move, carry their farms with them as the tortoise does his house. These people are the Norman French, the world's best farmers. Where you or I would require twenty or thirty acres of land to keep one family, the French farmer will keep his family on a quarter of an acre. If he chose to cultivate twenty or thirty acres he would become a millionaire. His secret lies in the perfection to which he brings his top soil. What with fertilizing and watering and clearing, his top soil is the blackest, finest, richest soil on earth. His top soil is to the French farmer what her voice is to a prima donna. And when he rents he contracts that on the termination of his lease he may carry off eighteen inches of the top soil with him.

"When you see a French farmer moving one small cart carries his household goods, and in seven or eight enormous drays his top soil lumps on behind."—New York Press.

Its Serious Defects From the Hygienic Point of View.
The size, the style and incidentally the cost of women's hats, says a writer in the Berliner Umschau, have taken up so much of the time of the people who make hats a study that they have not had a moment to devote to the head covering of the sterner sex. Considered from the hygienic point of view, little fault can be found with the hats of our sisters, although some of them, when viewed through the glass of reason, are unthinkable. But men's hats are faulty from the physician's point of view, and a wider knowledge of the defects of the modern hat would add to the already large army of bare-headed men. In order to demonstrate which hats should be avoided a perfectly healthy man was placed where the rays of the sun could strike him directly. He wore while taking the sun bath various kinds of hats for a period of fifteen minutes each. Every hat contained in the crown a thermometer, and these recorded as follows: The one in the Panama hat 77 degrees, the straw sailor 81, the silk hat 89, the felt hat 95 and the black hat and yachting cap 90 and 100 degrees respectively.

A Bath a Month.
Apparently the people of Persia are not great believers in the old maxim "Cleanliness is next to godliness," for baths are only taken once a month by the people, when they go to the public baths and make amends, so to speak, for the infrequency of their ablutions by spending a whole day getting cleaned and trimmed. At the baths they are washed, shaved, dye their hair and nails, get shampooed and spend the rest of the day eating buns and drinking sherbet. There are fixed days for men and women, and on bath days a man goes about the streets shouting "Hamum!" ("Bath day!"). After the bath the ladies have their hair plaited in a number of thin plaits, which are not opened and combed out until the next bath day comes round.

Thought Only of the Dynamite.
Some grim stories are told of Lord Kitchener, says the United States Gazette, and we have read one which, although we cannot vouch for the truth of it, has a decided Kitchener flavor about it. A young subaltern who was in charge of some works that were in course of construction in the Punjab had the misfortune to lose some native workmen through an accident with dynamite. Fearful of a reprimand from headquarters, he telegraphed to the commander in chief, "Regret to report killing of twelve laborers by dynamite accident." Back is said to have come the laconic message, "Do you want any more dynamite?"

Two Englishmen on a holiday in France were dining together at a Paris restaurant. Mr. Smith would order and ask for everything he wanted in doubtful French, while Mr. Cross would offer explanations that were in the nature of criticisms. At last Mr. Smith's temper rose to explosive point. "Will you," he said in English this time—"be so good as not to interfere with me in the use of my French?"

"Very well," retorted Mr. Cross. "I simply wanted to point out that you were asking for a staircase when all you wanted was a spoon!"—London Mail.

Suffering Humanity.
"Mrs. Sourmug, who thought she had a mission to look after suffering humanity, is married, isn't she?"
"Yes."
"I was surprised to learn that she had given up her mission in life."
"She hasn't. Her husband is going to be suffering humanity hereafter."—Houston Post.
