Nothing I Ate Agreed With Me

MRS. LENORA BODENHAMER.

Mrs. Lenora Bodenhamer, R. F. D. 1, Box 99, Kernersville, N. C., writes: "I suffered with stomach trouble and that I ate agreed with me. I was very nervous and experienced a continual feeling of uneasiness and fear. I took medicine from the doctor, but it did me no good.

"I found in one of your Peruna books a description of my symptoms. I then wrote to Dr. Hartman for advice. He said wrote to Dr. Hartman for advice. He said I had catarrh of the stomach. I took Peruna and Manalin and followed his directions and can now say that I feel as well as I ever did.

"I hope that all who are afflicted with the same symptoms will take Peruna, as it has certainly cured me."

The above is only one of hundreds who have written similar letters to Dr. Hartman. Just one such case as this entitles Peruna to the candid consideration of every one similarly afflicted. If this be true of the testimony of one person what ought to be the testimony of hundreds, yes thousands, of honest, sincere people? Tarring And Feathering.

Tarring and feathering, it seems, a European invention. One of Richard Coeur-de-Lion's ordinances for seamen was "that if any men were taken with theft or pickery, and thereof convicted, he should have his head polled, and hot pitch poured upon his pate, and upon that the feathers of some pillow or cushion shaken aloft, that he might thereby be known for a thief, and at the next arrival of the ships to any land be put forth of the company to seek his adventures without all hope of return unto his fellows."

A Government Lottery.

Why does the United States Government, which enforces with great rigidity the laws against lotteries, even to excluding foreign newspapers which contain advertisements of them, conduct lotteries itself in the disposal of public lands, as witness the recent distribution of the Rosebud farms? It would be easy to devise a different and indeed a more equitable system of allotment. haps some form of auction would be fairest and best of all. Anyway, is the appeal to chance in any respect more moral when administered by the United States than when proposed by the Spanish monarchy or the municipality of Paris?-New York

How To Kill Surplus Cats.

How to destroy surplus kittens or puppies in a painless way, without calling into use the old-fashioned method of a bag and a pail of water, is told in the annual report of the London Institute for Lost and Starving Cats. The directions are as fol-

"Take a dish cover, place it where it can be pressed into the mold of the garden, or in default of this, on an old cushion, so that the latter bulges out all around and makes the cover a right. Place the enimals beneath and pour four ounces of pure chloroform on wadding. Push the wadding under the cover, hold the cover down for three or four minutes and then leave undisturbed for an hour. The body must be stiff before burial."

EAGER TO WORK Health Regained by Right Food.

The average healthy man or woman is usually eager to be busy at some useful task or employment. But let dyspepsia or indigestion get hold of one, and all endeavor becomes a burden. "A year ago, after recovering from an operation," writes a Mich. lady,

"my stomach and nerves began to give me much trouble. "At times my appetite was voracious, but when indulged, indigestion followed. Other times I had no appetite whatever. The food I took did not nourish me and I grew weaker than ever.

"I lost interest in everything and wanted to be alone. I had always had good nerves, but now the merest trifle would upset me and bring on a violent headache. Walking across the room was an effort and prescribed exercise was out of the question. "I had seen Grape-Nuts advertised, but did not believe what I read, at the time. At last when it seemed as if I were literally starving, I began to eat Grape-Nuts. "I had not been able to work for a year, but now after two months on Grape-Nuts I am eager to be at work again. My stomach gives me no trouble now, my nerves are steady as ever, and interest in life and ambition have come back with the return to health."

NEWS OF PENNSYLVANIA

SUFFRAGETTES VETO VIOLENT AGITATION

Members of Pennsy vania Association Favor, Instead, Tactful Education to Further Cause.

Success of the cause of the suffragettes lies in tactful education rather than violent demonstration, according to Mrs. Rudolph Blankenburg, president of the Pennsylvania Woman Suffrage Association, delivered at the fortieth annual convention of the association, which was held in the Y. M. C. A. building, at Norristown.

"In writing to a clergyman, send him Bible citations in support of suffrage; in writing to business men, show them its economic side, and when enlisting the aid of teachers, show its educational advantages,' she cautioned in her response to the address of welcome made on behalf of the borough by Burgess Samuel Roberts. Addresses of welcome on behalf of the Montgomery County ords of the bank. Woman's Suffrage Association by Miss Ellen L. Thomas, and on behalf of the Norristown Women's Christian Temperance Union by Mrs. Sarah Simpson, were also delivered. Other responses were made by Mrs. Elizabeth B. Passmore and Mrs. Minora F. Phillips.

Also Work For Man's Rights. 'We are not working to secure woman's rights alone, but to preserve man's rights as well," declared Mrs. Passmore. Miss Thomas stated that the purpose of the movement is that "men and women should stand together in the State as they do in the home." Mrs. Simpson observed that "suffragettes do not identify themselves for enfranchisement as a means of popularity, but to work out faithfully and humbly a noble

Mrs. Olive Pond-Aimes encouraged the delegates by a contrast of the present with the former attitude of the W. C. T. U. toward the cause.

"Time was when to mention the enfranchisement of woman at a W. C. T. U. meeting was to cast a shadow over the proceedings. Now that subject is discussed at every W. C. T. U. meeting with relish."

The address of the day was delivered by Mrs. Lucy Hobart Day, State organizer, on "The Value of Organization." In answer to the question, "Is there any relation between the women who go into the business world and the increase in crime?" Miss Day said: "Where women vote there is less crime than where they do not posses the franchise.'

The association recently sent letters asking an expression of opinion on woman's rights to sixty-two canlidates for Congress. C. F. Barclay. of Sinnamehoning, Pa., replied:

"I handed your letter to my wife and asked her to give me her views on the subject. After considering the matter she told me that at the present time she has no desire to vote. As she has this view of the matter, I think I have nothing to say until she changes her views." C. C. Pratt, of New Milford, Pa., answered:

"I have no objection to woman's voting from the man's standpoint, but I have a most decided objection from the woman's standpoint. my estimation, business has within the past twenty-four years taken away about 50 per cent. of all the qualities that go to make woman lovable, and I would most earnestly plead that the other 50 per cent. might not be destroyed by politics. Let woman vote if she wants to, but protect me from the woman who wants to."

The convention resented bitterly published statement of Mrs. Humphrey Ward that "woman's suffrage in this country is dying out." As an effective answer to any such insinuation, the Pennsylvania Association will join with other associations in getting up a monster petition, which shall be sent first to Congress and then abroad.

EXONERATE DUNKLE.

Investigators Find He Exercised Due Diligence.

Washington (Special) .- Chief Examiner Finch and E. W. Lawrence, special assistants to the Attorney General, who investigated the charges made to the President that undue delay had occurred in bringing to trial the cases against J. B. F. Rinehart, ex-cashier of the Farmers' & Drovers' National Bank, of Waynesburg, Pa., which was closed in December, 1906, have made a report that there has been no improper delay on the part of United States Attorney Dunkle in prosecuting the cases, but, on the contrary, he has exercised due diligence to secure a speedy trial.

Bank Examiner Starek worked on the cases until indictments were returned, but, owing to his inability to devote sufficient time to the preparation of the evidence, the cases were continued until January 4, 1909. The investigators also find that unusual difficulties were encountered in preparing the evidence on account of the condition of the rec-

Depth At Which Miners Can Work. Below 50 feet the temperature rises in the proportion of one degree for every 65 feet of depth except where currents of water carry the heat away. The result is that at a depth of about 4,000 feet we reach a temperature of 98 degrees, or blood heat. This renders it exceedingly ed that mines are not workable below 4,000 feet. The thickness of the solid rocks building up the crust of the earth is at least 30 to 40 miles. At that derth the heat is such as would reduce everything on the surface of the earth to liquid. Consumption And The Telephone.

The panic recently created on the subject of the assumed danger lurking in the transmitter of the telephone is not precisely new. It is but the development of a fear which has caused misgivings for some years, as is pointed out by the British Medical Journal. On the supposition it says, that various germs of disease probably collect in the receiver and transmitter of the instrument at any rate in public telephone stations, some medical alarmists have thrown out suggestions that antiseptics, both in a dry state and in solution, should be applied for the safe ty of the telephone user. The recent dictum goes one step further, inasmuch as it is now an established fact that tubercle baccill, the casual micro-organisms of consumption, have been found-alive and in robust condition-in the instrument. It is quite natural, in view of such a find, that a feeling of alarm might seize hold of the more nervous .- Current Literature.
