

LOUIS SUNDAY DEAD.

Dies in Bed with Wife and Babe, and Not Discovered for Several Hours.

On arising Tuesday morning Mrs. Louis Sunday, of near Centre Hall, found her husband dead in bed, she and her little babe, aged a little over a year, having occupied the bed with him.

The age of the deceased was sixty-six years. Interment will be made at Centre Hall Friday morning. Besides his wife, six children survive, the oldest being about sixteen years of age.

GEORGE KLINE.

An exemplary young man—George Kline, of State College—passed away Thursday morning of last week after suffering from tuberculosis for some time.

Interment was made at the Branch cemetery Sunday afternoon.

HENRY KRYDER.

A highly respected and well known citizen was Henry Kryder, of Clintondale, who died Tuesday morning from the effects of a paralytic stroke received some few years ago.

Entertained Young People.

Friday evening of last week a number of young people gathered at the home of D. M. McCool, at Spring Mills, and spent the evening very pleasantly playing games of various kinds.

Lodges Banqueting.

Pine Grove Mills has two exceptionally prosperous lodges—Tussey Council Judo Mechanics, No. 515, and Penns Valley Lodge, No. 276, I. O. O. F.

LOCALS.

Mrs. Lucinda Weaver and Miss Lizzie Snyder, both of whom have been sick for a long time, are no better.

The ground is covered with less than an inch of snow, and the thermometer is marking around fifteen above.

John Rossman, for several days this week, was the guest of his brother, McClellan Rossman, near State College.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Swartz, of Tusseyville, entertained at dinner, Thursday of last week, Rev. and Mrs. B. F. Bieber, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Swartz, Misses Elsie and Virna Geiss, Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Smith.

"Pride of Penns Valley" is the name of a brand of butter manufactured by the Howard Creamery Corporation that is sold entirely on its high quality standard.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Wheat is still passing for the dollar. Dr. J. K. Hosterman, of Ford City, was in town Monday.

Mitterling, the cow buyer, shipped a car load of cows to the east Wednesday morning.

H. R. Treaster, of Centre Hill, is now located in Franklin county, but later expects to go to Maryland.

The annual meeting of Centre County Pomona Grange will be held at Centre Hall, Thursday, 21st instant.

William Markle bought the property of the late Jacob Markle, at Lemont, and intends making his home there.

Twice an ice harvest was in sight of D. A. Booser, the local iceman, but each time a warm wave cut the crop.

Thirty-six years an editor is the record of G. W. Schoch, editor and proprietor of the Millinburg Telegraph.

James Stover is back from Oak Hall where he was employed by Edward Sellers as moulder in the foundry for several months.

The people of Milton will vote on the proposition to erect a new fifty thousand dollar high school building at the municipal election next month.

W. Gross, Mingle elsewhere in this issue advertises his driving mare, buggies, etc., at private sale. There is a good opportunity here for some one to strike a bargain.

W. A. Krise received a notice from the pension bureau informing him that a pension of $12 has been granted Mrs. Margaret J. Albright, widow of the late John Albright, of near Spring Mills.

The second annual convention of the State Association of Postmasters will be held in Altoona in June. The organization was formed and held its first convention in Harrisburg last year.

Any one who ever spent a week-end at a great fashionable country estate will appreciate the delicious humor of Frederic Arnold Kummer's novel "Mr. Buttles," published complete in the February Smart Set.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Runkle, of near Dale's Summit, drove to Tusseyville Wednesday to visit the old home. Mr. Runkle will move to the farm of ex-Commissioner P. H. Meyer, near Linden Hall, next spring.

The nomination for candidates to be voted for at the February election will be made under the old law—by caucuses held in the various townships and boroughs. The nominations will be made Saturday, January 23rd.

Perry Luse and El. Lair played the part of horse and mule trainers last week, and one day broke in a pair of mules and a horse colt. There was some amusement and plenty of business connected with the undertaking.

Mrs. Elizabeth Lingle celebrated her eighty-third birthday Tuesday, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Q. A. Kennedy, near Centre Hall. Some of the immediate members of the family were with her during the day.

Two farms west of Centre Hall were rented recently. The J. Q. A. Kennedy farm to Will Bressler, of near Madisonburg; and the J. T. Potter farm to Shem Hackenberg, tenant on the Humes farm, near Bellefonte. Mr. Hackenberg some years ago was employed by the Potters as a farm hand.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Booser, of Centre Hall, gave a card party to a number of their friends Tuesday evening. Elegant refreshments were served, and the occasion was one greatly enjoyed by all present. The Boosers, since remodeling and refurbishing their home last summer, have one of the most delightful homes in Centre Hall.

Aroused by the fire last week, Millheim residents organized a fire company with twenty-seven members, the officers being: President, H. N. Meyer; vice president, S. W. Gramley; secretary, Wm. Groff; treasurer, H. T. Frank; fire chief, W. F. Shelton; assistants, S. W. Gramley, C. M. Sechrist; plugmen, J. H. B. Hartman, J. W. Reifsnnyder.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Worrel, of Girard, Kansas, are east among friends for a short stay. Mrs. Worrel, before marriage was Miss Mable Sankey, of Potters Mills, and her presence here is partially due to business matters relative to the adjustment of the Sankey estate. Mr. Worrel is a railroad man, and his leave of absence is but for a limited time.

Rev. J. R. Sechrist in his temperance sermon during the week of prayer quoted the saying of Neal Dow: "The saloon, if it could, would crush the church; the church, if it would, could crush the saloon." That statement represents the conditions in most communities where licensed places are tolerated. The churchman—(not, however, the Christian man)—is responsible for the existence of the liquor traffic in Pennsylvania. Without the churchman's support, the evil would at once be banished.

Spring Mills.

Mrs. C. L. Gramley and daughter, Mrs. M. C. Hains, and grandson Kenneth, visited at the home of T. M. Gramley last week.

Last Thursday William Rossman was brought home with a slight attack of pneumonia. His condition at this writing is somewhat improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Wood spent Friday and Saturday in Bellefonte.

William Ruhl, Jerry Condo, Homer Zerby and Calvin Zerby walked to Bellefonte last Friday to see "Quincy Adams Sawyer" played in Garman's Opera House. They were not the least bit tired but they came home in the train.

Emory Zerby, formerly of Penn township, but now a prosperous farmer in Big Rock, Ill., is spending some time in the east. At present he is visiting S. L. Condo of this place.

Dr. D. M. Wolfe went to Pottstown to visit Rev. Crider Evans, his lifelong friend.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Smith and daughter Martha are visiting the former's brother, Luther Smith, in Johnstown.

Miss Lottie Snyder, of Rutherford, spent several days with friends and relatives in this neighborhood.

Rev. J. M. Rearick, of Salona, and Merchant John Harter, of Rebersburg, were in town last Monday.

Mrs. C. A. Krape was confined to her room last week but now she is able to be up and about.

Spring Mills was well represented at the fire in Millheim, and all who were there are fully convinced that the disaster might have been lessened considerably had there been an adequate water supply and a little hose. And our unfortunate neighbors are wondering why they neglected to secure proper protection. Can't we profit by their sad experience, and take steps towards securing protection as well as comfort? We absolutely need a water company.

Georges Valley.

Miss Ella M. Decker, formerly of this place, was operated on for appendicitis in the Presbyterian hospital in New York City, about the middle of December. It is a pleasure to note that she is improving, and is again at her place of employment. Her brother, Dolan D. Decker, had been to see her. It being his first trip to that city, he says it was worth twice what it cost. He returned home last Thursday.

Mrs. S. W. Decker, of Mitchell, South Dakota, with her three children are visiting relatives for several weeks. Calvin Lingle and family moved to Lemont last week.

D. E. Hennigh spent three days at State College, last week.

F. W. Zettle is lumbering this winter.

Clayton Barger departed Tuesday morning for John Barger's, where he expects to spend the winter.

Grover Walker, teacher of Decker school, is ill and has closed the school for this week.

James Reeder, Wm. Mattern, Clayton Barger, Ammon Vonada, F. W. Zettle, Robert Finkle were to Millheim to see the fire.

A DUSKY CYNIC.

He Gayly Admitted That the Joke Was on Himself.

A lady was walking along Fifth avenue a couple of weeks ago when a big negro stepped up to her politely and asked her to give him a quarter.

"I am a shipwrecked sailor," he told her. "Three days ago the ship I was on went ashore outside Sandy Hook. Ever since then I've been wandering around without being able to get a job."

The lady gave him a quarter and passed on. A week later while going by the same spot on Fifth avenue she was approached once more by the same negro.

"I am a shipwrecked sailor," he began. "Three days ago"—

She let him finish. Then she remarked:

"Two weeks ago when I gave you a quarter you told me that same story. Then you said that you had been wrecked three days before. Now you say the same thing."

And she looked at the negro severely. He threw back his head and burst forth into roars of laughter.

"Did—did I give you that story last week?" he chuckled. "Did you give me a quarter? Well, if that ain't a joke on me!"

And she left him standing on the sidewalk convulsed with laughter.—New York Times.

CARDS IN CHURCH.

They Were Not Uncommon in the Old Days in England.

Frequent cases of card playing occurred in churches in olden days in the high or curtained family pews that were to be found in several parts of England.

A case of card playing was mentioned by the poet Crabbe as having occurred in one of those pews in Trowbridge parish church. Mr. Beresford Hope stated that card playing was not uncommon in churches having curtained pews, where those occupying them were screened from the observation of the rest of the congregation, and that one of the Georges is credited with taking part at a game of whist in the church he attended.

The church at Little Stanmore, in Middlesex, has a luxurious room pew which is approached by a special door and staircase.

The old St. Paul's cathedral before the great fire of London was used by business men as a sort of exchange. The portico was let out to hucksters, and in those days gambling and cards are both said to have been indulged in without let or hindrance within the cathedral.—London Standard.

Outwitting a Bushranger.

In Mr. George E. Bozall's "Story of the Australian Bushrangers" the following little episode is related: A man named Michael, who went to an inn for food, found the place in the hands of the bushrangers. Fourteen guests were already disarmed and were being searched in order. Michael was compelled to take his place in line. The bushrangers handed him a pannikin of tea before they took his money. Knowing what was coming, he held the pannikin as if the tea were too hot to drink, and when the leader of the highwaymen was looking away dropped his roll of bank notes into it. He stood quite quiet, and when the bushrangers came to feel his pockets there were only a few shillings in them. The robbers appeared satisfied and allowed him to go. He carried his pannikin out with him, took his money and put it in his pocket without being observed. Then he mounted his horse, rode to the nearest police station and gave information.

Her Indorsement.

"Madam," said the teller of a bank in Baltimore to a woman who had handed him a check to cash—"madam, you have forgotten to indorse."

A worried smile came to the woman's face, but she took back the paper and wrote something on the back thereof.

When again the teller looked at the check he found that the woman had indorsed as follows:

"The bank has always paid me whatever it owed, and you need have no worry. Therefore I indorse this check. Very truly yours, Anna M. Blank.—Harper's.

Radishes.

Radishes originated in China, where they have been cultivated for many centuries and sometimes grow as big as a man's head. In Germany the old fashioned country mothers cure hoarseness and cough with radish juice mixed with sugar candy. The radishes of today have no flavor, no character. Formerly their sharp, biting taste made them palatable.

An Outrage.

"What makes you so late?" asked the boy's parent.

"The teacher kept me in because I couldn't find Moscow on the map of Europe," replied Johnny.

"And no wonder you couldn't find Moscow! It was burned down years ago. It's an outrage to treat a child in that way!"

His Thirst.

"My poor man, how did you acquire such a thirst?"

"It was dis-a-way, mister: When doctor operated on me for appendicitis he forgot an' left a sponge inside o' me."—Boston Traveler.

A Man to Let Alone.

"What kind of a man is your new bookkeeper?"

"He's this kind: If you say two words to him, he'll say 200."—Detroit Free Press.
