MAY SEND THE CARPENTERS.

Washington, D. C. (Special) .---An innovation in international relief measures, so far as Europe is concerned, is to be undertaken by the American Government in expending the $500,000 in money appropriated by Congress for the Italian earthquake sufferers.

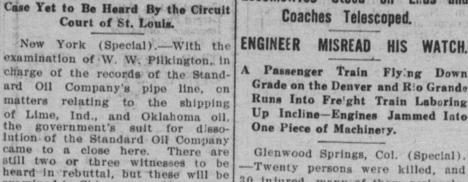

Realizing that a great need among the sufferers will be shelter from the elements, President Roosevelt has decided to send to Italy material for the construction of 2,500 or 3,000 substantial but necessarily very modest frame houses, supplementing this by supplying civilian carpenters, to supervise construction if this can be arranged.

Ever since the appropriation was made serious consideration has been given by the President and the State Department as to the best uses that could be made of it in the way of relief. Correspondence has been going on almost daily with Ambassador Griscom at Rome with a view to ascertaining the views of himself, his fellow-members of the American relief committee and of the Italian Government as to the most sensible course to adopt with a view to the best results.

A final decision was reached Saturday. Verbal instructions were given by President Roosevelt to Secre-tary Newberry whereby the machinery of the Navy Department was enlisted in the prosecution of the plan. Mr. Newberry at once got into tele-phone communication with the naval officials at New York, and, by quick work, has been able to make partial arrangements for carrying out the President's orders. The following statement was made public at the Secretary's office:

"The Navy Department has ar-ranged for the expenditure of approximately $500,000 in the purchase of building materials, including all articles necessary for the construction of substantial frame houses for the Italian sufferers, and the ship-ments will begin by the sailing of two steamers probably on Monday. This lumber is being delivered in New York, and the sailing of the vessels will proceed as fast as they can be loaded. Each ship will carry all the materials for the construction of about 500 houses, and it will require not less than six steamers for the entire amount purchased. If possible, the department intends to send with each vessel several civilian house carpenters with plans to assist in the erection of these houses."

In all, 192 witnesses were called by the government and 140 by the defense. The record of the testimony proper totals up 4,500,000 words. The exhibits, consisting of over 73,500 groups of words and figures, adds another 10,000,000 words. The printing office at Washington has been kept busy night and day for months completing the record, which, when bound will make 22 printed volumes. When news of the catastrophe city was pressed into service and a relief train was soon on the scene. The work of rescue was immediately begun.

A pathetic feature of the accident was the killing of a father, leaving two small children, the elder four years old, the younger two. The elder boy told a nurse at the sanitarium that his father called him Bennie, and this is all he will say. From a The fellow-passenger it was learned that the family was going to Grand Junction to visit relatives. It is supposed that Mr. and Mrs. Kettle, whose names appear among the dead, were the parents of these two little ones who were badly injured. Another sad case was that of the destruction of an entire family with the exception of an infant of three months. This helpless child was taken care of by a family at Shoshone, who intends to adopt the sole survivor of a once happy family.

One of the remarkable incidents of the wreck was the almost miraculous escape from the ill-fated chair car of a Mr. Stall, a Pueblo (Col.) salesman. Mr. Stall escaped-without a scratch, but is on the verge of collapse as a result of the nervous shock

Another heartbreaking scene was enacted in the wreck zone when kind hands gently lifted 4-year-old Alice Williams from the death clasp of her mother's arms. Near by lay the body of the father, decapitated, and on every side were lifeless bodies, victims of the disaster.
