At least for length the new school bill is worthy of consideration, but then it repeats about two thousand old ones, and that gives it an additional bit of prestige.

Bill to Free Toll Roads.

Mr. Shields, of Wyoming, introduced in the Senate a bill designed to facilitate the abolition of toll roads and toll gates throughout the Commonwealth by providing funds for that purpose. The title of the measure follows:

"Providing for the payment of the share of the state appropriations apportioned to counties for good roads and not applied for by such county for the purpose of building highways to the county treasurer of such county, whenever it shall be made to appear to the Highway Commissioner that such county has expended an amount, since the passage of a certificate creating the Highway Department equal to or greater than the amount of such appropriation for improvement of its highways by acquiring and making free from tolls any bridges or turnpikes which had heretofore been operated as a toll bridge or road."

The Weather Man.

The four inches of snow (equaling thirty-five hundredth of an inch of water) which fell the night of the third all disappeared by Saturday, and without rain to wash it. Thursday mercury was up to forty-eight degrees, and Friday to fifty-two, the highest for the week. Saturday fifty-one and thirty-three were the extreme ranges, and on that day twelve hundredth of an inch of rain fell, against eight hundredth the day previous. Sunday it was clear. Monday there was a trace of snow, with the temperature at thirty-five for the highest and twenty for the lowest. Tuesday there was a light snow, the flakes flying for the greater part of the day. By Wednesday morning about one and one-half inches of snow and rain had fallen, and then a copious shower followed. Toward noon it began growing colder, and the rain was turned to snow.

From Ohio.

From Green Springs, Ohio, William W. Leichty, writes the Reporter under date of 8th instant, thus:

"We have had fine weather here this winter, but little snow and only two days sleighing. The ground was not frozen over four inches. Much of the spring plowing has already been done, and if the weather remains as at present for another week, the most of that work will be completed. Last year ice was put away this month, but so far no ice has been housed this winter, and some predict that the crop will be short.

Say to Johnny Bubb, through the Reporter, that I am all right. Two railroads are running through our town. They are the Nickel Plate and the "Big Four."

Penny Will Not Touch State.

Numerous appeals have been made by Pennsylvania State College to the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to extend the Lewisburg and Tyrone railroad from Lemont to State College. A resolution was passed by the State Grange asking that the railroad be extended so that the state's great institution would be afforded better railroad facilities.

President McCrea replied to this that the "additional revenue to be derived from such an extension would not justify the capital expenditure involved."

Progress Grange.

The hot water plant G. L. Springer lately installed in his barber shop was put out of service Sunday night. Some of the pipes froze stopping the flow of water from the tank attached to the stove and the steam pressure becoming so great the tank was burst apart.

The new fire hose and hose cart lately purchased by the borough council was received Friday and placed in the hands of the newly organized fire company. Thus far everything is all right for the next fire, but what Millheim yet needs is an engine to force the water to the fire as our water plant certainly does not give sufficient force to render the hose of much value in subduing the flames of a burning building.
