township held Saturday night it was leaving only one room. Again and decided to secure Rev. S. H. Deitzell, of Maytown, to teach the spring term of the Spring Mills Academy, with the understanding that the school board offer him the position of principal of the Gregg Township High School for the 1909 1910 term. Rev. Deitzell has accepted.

The new principal is no stranger to Reporter readers. He himself laid the foundation for his education in the school of which he will become the head. A short time after the close of the winter term of school, the spring session of the Academy will open, which will oblige Rev. Deitzell to sever his connections as pastor of the Reformed church at Maytown within two months. He had been in the ministry seventeen or eighteen years.

LETTER FROM ARKANSAS.

John G. Rossman Describes the Result of a Storm in Arkansas.

In a letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Rossman, of Spring Mills, trated by an experience had by Messre. under date of March 11, Prof. John G. John H. Horner and John Jordan, of Rossman, an instructor in a private Colyer, on their way home from the training college, at Stuttgart, Arkan-Brisbin & Company saw mill, east of sas, describes the terrible destruction Old Fort, Thursday evening of last of a storm which struck Brinkly, Arkansas. The letter follows:

Never before and I hope never again must I see such a sight as I witnessed last night in Brinkly, Arkansas.

All day Monday the heat was op-Strohm, at Centre Hill, tenanted by pressive and the air forebode trouble, William M. Sweeney. They were and about 6 30 p. m. a very high wind burst upon us, carrying hail and rain, observed that the earth had fallen in The dormitory girls almost went wild, many of them being on the verge of bysterics, but all passed over, and a few broken window lights and broken down fences was all that our town

Tuesday's reports came that Brinkly, tentions to keep clear of all danger, a town of 2500 inhabitants and situand acting with this motive made a sted thirty-five miles north of Stuttgart, had been in the path of the While Mr. Jordan was making a storm. We were able to learn little, hasty inspection of the sunken earth, as wires were down and people who he was attracted by an exclamation of came from there could not describe it. Yesterday shortly after dinner I got a Horner struggling to extricate himself notion to go and see, so Prof. Stanley from the sinking earth beneath him, consented to go along. We dismissed for as he was avoiding the dangers of our classes and went to the station in one pit he fell into another. The earth | time to catch the 208 train. I shall never regret or forget the trip.

At the station news had arrived to the effect that the town was under could recover his balance his one leg martial government and that as fast thrust its length into a seemingly as people came into the town they were arrested and put to work. Possibly thirty-seven per cent. of the buildings can be repaired. The others will as a whole make good kindling wood. During our entire stay of six hours I did not see an undamaged building. Even box cars had the roofs main street is one great mass of debris, beneath which may be more than one corpse. A path wide enough had been cut there in order to allow wagons to pass one way. But one church remains standing. Brick structures suffered most; in some places the entire front has been torn away, at other At a meeting of citizens of Gregg places the entire house was taken, most frequently the roof, second and third stories were gone and the rest twisted out of shape. Beds, mattresses, coffins, cooking utensils, and what not may be seen. Horses, cattle and even then were running to and fro, not knowing where or how or to whom they belong.

The place where we ate had been a hotel where you find only the partitions of the dining room and kitchen, and we walked through a break in the side of the wall about 15 by 22 feet. No one knows the number of killed or wounded. The most conservative estimate puts the dead at 30 and the wounded at 65, while others make the loss as high as 49 dead and 400 wounded.

From a comparative financial view few disasters in recent years can compare with this. It is the most disastrons thing that has ever befallen Arkansas. On the other hand, the loss of life is very small. The time of the day may be one reason, and the rain immediately doing away with any serious fire and thus keeping down the loss.

The State militia owns the town and it is under martial law. They do not, however, interfere with one's sightseeing, providing you keep on the move. Last night two cattle car loads of convicts came in, who will today

We had to wait unth after midnight for a train, and waiting under such circumstances was not pleasant. We got back to Stuttgart at 2 o'clock.

Today's rain must make the suffering terrible.

Alcohol not needed

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is not a strong drink. As now made, there is not a drop of alcohol in it. It is a non-alcoholic tonic and alterative. Ask your own doctor about your taking this medicine for thin, impure blood. Follow his advice every time. He knows.

Ask your doctor, "What is the first great rule of health?" Nine doctors out of ten will quickly reply, "Keep the bowels regular." Then ask him another question, "What do you think of Ayer's Pills for constipation?" -Made by the J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.
