From Illinois.
One of the many appreciative Reporter readers is G. Bruce Goodhart, at Orangeville, Illinois, who is engaged in a lumber yard. He writes thus:

There is nothing that I pay out a dollar for when it comes to literature, that I feel I am getting my money's worth, than when I remit to The Centre Reporter. And why? Because it brings all the news from home every week. Had a very nice warm rain here, and vegetation is starting. Success to the Reporter.

Farm for Sale Near Millroy.
The undersigned offers for sale a farm, near Millroy, consisting of 200 acres, 100 of which is in cultivation. Balance contains good merchantable timber. Much is limestone land. About 50 acres is adapted to truck raising, and can be irrigated by a gravity irrigation plant. Running water in nearly all fields. Average annual yield of wheat for fifteen years was 1100 bushels. It is also a good stock farm. Price only $5000. For particulars address,
J. C. HOUSER, Lewistown, Pa.

The principal reason we do a lot of things is to keep some other fellow from doing them.

LOCALS

See Kreamer & Son's new adv. in this issue.
Mrs. Flora O. Bairfoot has been quite ill since Saturday.

A regular meeting of Progress Grange will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

A bill exempting the grounds of county and state fair associations from taxation passed the house finally.

Dr. W. H. Schuyler accompanied by Elder J. T. Potter are attending the sessions of Presbytery at Mt. Union.

As a result of a serious attack of grip, the general health of J. Emory Hoy, of Philadelphia, has been somewhat impaired.

"Grustark," at Garman's Opera House, Monday evening, was well executed, and greatly delighted those from Centre Hall who attended the play.

Drover William J. Mitterling and Farmer Peter Smith purchased horses at the recent horse sale at Millheim. The former bought a driver, and the latter a pair of draft horses.

A building lot adjoining that of John H. Durst, near the Centre Hall Station, was purchased by him from D. W. Bradford, the price being $200. Both plots are outside of the borough limits.

Miss Helen Bartholomew was home from Tyrone to see her new niece, the baby in the C. D. Bartholomew family. She returned to Tyrone again Tuesday, and resumed her duties as bookkeeper for a lumber firm.

E. M. Huyett, of Centre Hall, spent Friday night in Lewisburg, says the Journal. He is a well known lumberman, and is identified with the Sunbury and Selingsgrove electric line and the new river bridge at Sunbury.

Miss Bertha Sheeder, after spending some time at the home of her parents, Rev. and Mrs. B. R. M. Sheeder, at Aaronsburg, left for Irving College, Mechanicsburg, Tuesday morning, where she will resume her studies.

Wm. M. Grove, of the Spring Mills surveyor, had the good luck to catch several two and one-half pound suckers on his return from Watsonstown. Fishing will not, however, keep him from making another business trip to some of the northern counties who need a skilled surveyor.

Probably the first farmer to sow a crop of oats this spring is James C. Goodhart, of near Centre Hill, who calculated that since his ground was ready for the seed he would risk to sow early. Mr. Goodhart is never napping in putting out spring crops, and he finds early sowing as good as any.

After a visit of several months with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George L. Goodhart, and other friends, Mrs. J. W. Evans and children are about to return to their home in White, South Dakota. Mrs. Evans will be accompanied as far as Pittsburg by her sister, Mrs. D. W. Geis, of Bellefonte, and there they will visit among friends for a short time.

In this issue will be found the advertisement of John T. Noll, the Pleasant Gap painter, decorator and paper hanger. Mr. Noll has done considerable work in Centre Hall, and has contracted for considerable more this season. His work is guaranteed, and the class of wall paper, paints, etc., kept in stock by him are the best to be had in the market.

Bearick, of Salona, accompanied by his daughter, Miss Susan, who was called here to assist in conducting the services at the burial of Mrs. Catharine Durst, visited a number of his former parishioners before returning to his home. The Salona congregation of his charge is remodeling its church, which keeps him more than ordinarily busy.

The funeral of Mrs. R. B. Hartman, in Millheim, was largely attended, among those from a distance being Mr. and Mrs. Wm. M. Hartman, Mrs. Jerry Faig and Mrs. Clara Clark, of Williamsport; Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Hartman, of Ocoola Mills; Mrs. Susan Gruver, of Espy; Miss Mabel Harter, of Millinburg; Mrs. Lew. Gettig, of Bellefonte, and Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Weber, of Renovo.

The prevailing high prices of horses should encourage not only their breeding, but the breeding of better horses. The draft horse, weighing twelve hundred and over, is always in demand, and can be sold at top prices if they are otherwise correct. While the weight of a horse is determined largely by the breed, careful and liberal feeding from the time the colt is foaled until developed will add many pounds to the weight of the animal.

Miss Sara M. Brungart, of Youngwood, accompanied by J. F. Getchell, of Connelville, were guests at the home of ex-Sheriff and Mrs. Cyrus Brungart since the latter part of last week. Miss Brungart is assistant postmistress in the Youngwood post-office, and her friend is employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company in the train dispatcher's office in Youngwood. Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. Brungart invited a number of young people to their home to spend the evening with their daughter and Mr. Getchell.
