

DEATHS.

MRS. JANE HARPER.

After a lingering illness, due largely to the ravages of age, Mrs. Jane Harper died Tuesday night, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. George H. Emerick, east of Centre Hall, with whom she made her home since the death of her husband, John Harper, almost twenty-three years ago. Interment will be made Saturday, but the place of burial has not been determined upon, as either Centre Hall or Rebersburg may be selected.

Mrs. Harper was born in Union county, and was the daughter of James Magee, who settled in Brush Valley, near Rebersburg, when she was quite young. She was the sister of the late R. M. Magee, for a number of years superintendent of schools in this county.

The deceased was the mother of four children, Mrs. Maggie Stover and George, having preceded the mother in death. The surviving children are J. Calvin Harper, Esq., of Bellefonte, and Emma J., wife of George H. Emerick.

Mrs. Harper was a member of the Lutheran church, and when physically able was always a regular attendant at services.

On the 4th instant, Mrs. Harper was aged eighty-five years.

MRS. JOHN B. ROYER.

The death of Mrs. John B. Royer occurred at her home Saturday night, after an illness of about two weeks. Interment was made in Bellefonte, Tuesday afternoon, Rev. F. W. Barry, pastor of the Lutheran church, officiating. Her age was fifty-seven years, seven months, two days.

The husband and two children survive, namely: John, in Altoona, and Miss Sudie, at home.

The deceased's maiden name was Miss Mary J. Lee, and the following brothers and sisters survive: Mrs. Ellen Ruble and James W., Caney, Kansas; John, Nitany; Frank D., Bellefonte; Hiram, West Chester; Mrs. Emma Stam, Bosburg; Felix, Northumberland, and Dr. George L., Centre Hall.

WILLIAM YOUNG.

At the advanced age of eighty-five years, three months and twenty-four days William Young died at the home of his son Robert, on the Reifsnnyder farm near the Salem Reformed church east of Penn Hall, Friday afternoon. Interment was made in the cemetery at the Cross church, Georges Valley, on Wednesday, Rev. Donat officiating.

Two sons survive—Robert of near Penn Hall; and John, in Indiana. Mrs. Young, nee Catharine Jamison, died thirty years ago.

Alice, wife of Wm. E. Conser, died at her home at Sandy Ridge after an illness of several years of a complication of diseases, aged forty-one years. She was born in Blair county but had lived at Sandy Ridge the past twenty-four years. She is survived by her husband, seven children, one brother and three sisters.

Robert B., youngest son of Irvin Treaster, of Milroy, died Wednesday morning of last week of heart failure, the result of diphtheria from which he was just recovering. His age was five years, six months and two days. Funeral services were held Friday afternoon.

Treville Smith, for years a resident of Liberty township, died in the hospital at the Danville asylum of cancer and general debility. He was fifty-one years old, and is survived by his mother, of Liberty township, one brother and three sisters.

Pastor Called.

The following is taken from Monday's issue of the Philadelphia Journal: At a largely attended business meeting after the services of Sunday morning at the Lutheran church, it was unanimously decided to extend a call to Rev. Dr. A. H. Spangler, of Yeagertown, the most gifted minister and very affable gentleman who filled the pulpit a Sunday or two ago. It is devoutly hoped by the members that the reverend gentleman will accept the call to the pastorate. We speak advisedly when we say that in the selection of Dr. Spangler the Lutherans have made no mistake, and we congratulate them on their choice and the prospect of the community gaining such a desirable citizen.

The Lily and the Prince.

The presentation of "The Lily and the Prince" at the Garman Opera House, Bellefonte, Tuesday evening, 20th inst., will offer an enjoyable entertainment for those who favor the romantic drama. The production is really a notable one and has won a fixed place in the dramatic world. This new drama moves in Italy during the sixteenth century. The costuming is of exceedingly rich and elegant style, finding a gorgeous background or setting in the magnificence of the period of the Borgias and no expense has been spared to heighten this effect.

Those who visit the Opera House may confidently look to a dramatic surprise in the production of "The Lily and the Prince."

Farm House on Fire.

The dwelling house on the Lytle farm, at Earlytown, tenanted by Jerome Auman, and recently purchased by Albert Spayd, of Zion, made a narrow escape from being burned Tuesday at about 5:30 o'clock. The Auman family had just finished their supper when they observed fire dropping past the window, and on investigation found a gable on the house afire. The telephone was resorted to to summon help, which came quickly, and then the battle began.

The heroic efforts put forth by Mr. Auman and the neighbors, assisted by a gently falling rain, proved successful, but not until portions of the attic floor, roof and gable were destroyed.

The fire is supposed to have originated in the ceiling of the second floor, about twelve feet from a flue, and it is thought to have been due to mice igniting matches in building nests.

D. F. Luse, secretary of the Centre Hall fire insurance company, which company carried the risk, investigated the fire Wednesday morning.

For Solution.

The following was forwarded to the Reporter for solution, and since the problem is somewhat of a puzzle in more ways than one, it is turned over to the readers. Here it is in toto:

What is this man's politics? "Now, see here, you Republicans, I voted for Judge Love, and on account of it some of my Democratic friends refuse to vote for me this spring."

"Now, see here, you Democrats, on account of the stand I took against Judge Love I will not be able to get a single Republican vote; for my active work for Judge Orvis, they are straining every nerve to defeat me."

Later: "I voted the entire Democratic ticket."

Later: He is seeking an office by appointment from Governor Stuart. "See here, Judge Love, I voted the Republican ticket for ten years, which should entitle me to favorable consideration by your Republican leaders." Is he a Republican or what?

Did You Lose Your Dog?

A white dog, with tan spot over left eye and ear, is wanting his owner. He is a fine puppy, wags his tail when you speak to him, and has an exceptionally sweet voice. His midnight barks are not complained against by the neighbors. He is well-bred, well-behaved, and has good digestion. He is an ideal pup in many ways, and can be had for the asking. He took up quarters at the Reporter office, where he can be seen at all hours of the day or night.

Sheeder-Beates.

At the Lutheran parsonage, Aaronburg, Monday evening, Prof. W. H. Sheeder, principal of the Rock Hill schools, and Miss Anne Beates, of Pine Glen, were united in marriage by Rev. B. R. M. Sheeder. The groom is a cousin of Rev. Sheeder.

Capitol Park Bill Passes.

The Capitol Park bill, carrying with it an appropriation of $2,000,000, passed both houses. It is now up to the governor whether the $13,000,000 Palace of Graft shall have a $2,000,000 back yard.

Oak Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Dale enjoyed a week's visit from their daughter, Mrs. Newton Miller, and little Myra Ruth Miller, of Altoona.

Wm. Ferree and family spent several days among friends in Clinton county, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Houtz, of Rock, spent part of Sunday in town.

Mrs. Oscar Rishel and son Harold visited friends at Sunbury recently.

Mrs. Sara Barnhart is visiting her daughter, Mrs. John Reish, near Walnut Grove.

Miss Ella Dale spent last Wednesday at Pleasant Gap.

Francis Blaser, of State College, spent Easter with his parents.

James C. Gilliland is improving slowly after a serious illness of several weeks.

Miss Izora Rupp is spending some time at the home of Henry Homan, near Centre Hall.

Mrs. James C. Gilliland transacted business in Bellefonte last week.

Mrs. Samuel Blaser returned home last week from a visit to her parents, at Unionville, and has since become ill of diphtheria. Dr. Harris, of Bellefonte, was in town Monday morning and placed the family under quarantine.

Mrs. Clayton Eiters attended the funeral of Miss Maude Holderman, at Milesburg, on Wednesday.

Luther Dale and family, of Pleasant Gap, spent Easter at Sunny Hillside.

Arthur Peters and sister Margaret, of Pine Grove Mills, visited in this vicinity, last week.

Clayton Eiters made a trip to Charter Oak, Monday, with a load of flour and feed.

Clement Dale, Esq., of Bellefonte, was a recent visitor in town.

Mrs. Harry Wagner and daughter Nellie were both quite ill last week.

The bill giving primary election officers the same pay as received at regular elections was passed finally.

LOCALS.

J. Asher Sankey moved from McCune, Kansas, to the state of Washington.

It looks as though Representative J. C. Meyer voted about right on all bills offered in the House.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Harshberger, of Altoona, recently paid a visit to their former home, at Pottery Mills.

When wheat is selling at $1.25 and corn at eighty cents, who wouldn't want to own even just a part of the earth?

John Ruble, who is employed by a structural company at Youngstown, Ohio, is home with his family at present.

Miss Nora Elizabeth Stover, of Bellefonte, was entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Benner, over Easter.

It appears the legislature will pass the school code. The code, as it applies to rural districts, is not changed much from its original form.

During the absence of Mrs. D. W. Geiss, of Bellefonte, on a visit to Pittsburgh, Miss Virginia Geiss will take charge of her brother's home.

James Hettinger, of Georges Valley, and John W. Mersinger, of Tusseyville, are seriously ill, their condition being such that recovery is very doubtful.

Miss Maude Sechrist, teacher of the primary grade of the Centre Hall schools, was in Bellefonte over Sunday with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. J. R. Sechrist.

Jacob S. Derstine, of Freeport, Illinois, arrived in Centre Hall Tuesday, having been called here on account of the serious illness of his mother, Mrs. Sarah Derstine.

There may be but little comfort in the thought that hereafter people who drink impure liquor have the satisfaction of knowing that the law says it ought to be pure.

Col. E. R. Chambers, after having been confined to the house for a good part of the winter on account of sickness is now out again, and is looking after his office work.

Wednesday and Thursday of last week were the windiest days in a year, but no damage was done in this section, yet it was mighty unpleasant to be out of doors during the storm.

A note from Washington, D. C., states that Mrs. Margaret G. Dikeman has been ill for some weeks owing to ptomain poisoning. Mrs. Dikeman is a step-granddaughter of Mrs. Catharine Durst, a notice of whose death appears elsewhere in this issue.

It is stated on good authority that Mrs. Catharine Durst by a will gave her personal property to her sister, Mrs. Daniel C. Wion, and brother, Harry Swabb. The $4000 dower, the home in which she lived and several lots in Centre Hall, will, of course, go to the heirs of Peter Durst.

Four tracts of land, the property of the estate of the late John Grove, will be sold at public sale Saturday, May 22nd, on the homestead, in Potter township. The executors are Wm. M. and Hiram Grove, sons of the late Mr. Grove. See the advertisement in this issue.

The recipient of an elegant silk umbrella from the ladies of the Reformed congregation, Centre Hall, on Easter Sunday, desires in this public manner to express his appreciation of the same, and hopes that all who contributed to this token of esteem did so in the spirit in which it was received.

Mrs. Alvin Myers and children, of Altoona, are at the home of the former's mother, Mrs. Sarah Stover, in Centre Hall, and before returning will visit friends and relatives in Bosburg and other points in the valley. Mr. Myers, who is a Pennsylvania Railroad Company lumber inspector, is in Kentucky, where his company is taking up lumber.

The Bellefonte Central is remodeling the station at State College. The former baggage and express room will be transformed into a neat waiting room. Other needed changes will be made, which, when completed, will compare very favorably with waiting rooms along the Pennsylvania railroad lines.

William Gress, of Pittsburg, paid a visit to his brother, Rev. Daniel Gress, in Centre Hall, returning home Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Gress is employed as an engineer on Monongahala branch of the Pennsylvania railroad. He states that business is very quiet, and is not looking for a general revival of railroad traffic at the present time.

In this issue appears the advertisement of Leathers' Brothers, real estate agents, at State College. State College is affording splendid opportunities for investments. It is one of the, if not the most prosperous borough in Central Pennsylvania. The state's greatest educational institution located there makes its investments safe beyond all doubt.

Robert Waring Wieland, formerly of near State College, but now located at Millers, Nevada, narrowly escaped losing his life in a burning hotel building. He was awakened by the flames, and it was with difficulty that he made his escape through a window. The building, which contained forty rooms, collapsed in twenty minutes after the fire was discovered.

There will be many comments upon the electrical effects utilized in "The Lily and the Prince," the beautiful romantic drama which will be presented at the Garman Opera House, Bellefonte, Tuesday evening, 20th inst., but the apparent inconsistency of electricity in the sixteenth century will be quickly removed when once curtain rises on a Florentine rose garden in the first act.
