SIZES OF BOOKS.

Meaning of the Terms Folio, Quarto, Octavo and Duodecimo.

The words "folio," "quarto," "octavo," "duodecimo" and the like have almost, if not quite, lost their original meaning. At first they had reference only to the number of leaves into which the sheets used in making the book were folded. Thus if three sheets were folded once the book was called a folio; if the sheets were folded twice, so as to form four leaves, the book was called a quarto; if they were folded four times, so as to form eight leaves, the book was called an octavo, and so on.

The duodecimo, or 12mo, is an irregular size. To make it the sheet must be folded so as to form twelve leaves. Fold one-third of the width of a sheet lengthwise on itself. Next fold the paper across its breadth in the center. Next fold the sheet across its length—that is, fold the two leaves on the four. Finally fold it again across and in such shape that it may easily be sewed in with others to form a book.

But though, strictly and historically, quarto, octavo, etc., have reference solely to the manner of folding the sheet, they are, as a matter of common practice, used to specify the sizes of books.

If the sheets on which books are printed were of uniform size a quarto page would be as unvarying an area as a square foot or an acre, and before the invention of machines for making paper there was such uniformity to be found in the sizes of sheets.

But when paper making machines were introduced and the use of molds was abandoned sheets came to be made of all dimensions. As a result quartos and octavos had all sorts of dimensions, and the terms, when used strictly to indicate how the sheet was folded, became worthless as designations of size. The use of the old terms was nevertheless not abandoned, but instead they were first used to indicate a rather wide range of sizes and finally were attached to certain more definite sizes, without reference to the method of folding.

The practice of the publisher nowadays is first to determine what size of page he wants. The sheet he uses will be large or small, according to the capacity of the press at his disposal. On that sheet he may print, say, eight octavo pages, or he may print thirty-two, but he will call the book an octavo, though by its folding it should be called either a quarto or a 16mo.

In other words, the publisher calls his book by the name of that one of the old sizes to which it happens to come nearest.

The confusion resulting from the changes noticed here has not passed away yet, but efforts have been made to give definiteness to the old words.—New York Tribune.

Whistling on Sabbath in Scotland.

Concerning the Scottish reprobation of whistling on the Sabbath Dean Ramsay has a characteristic story. A famous Glasgow artist met an old highland acquaintance unexpectedly "Donald, what brought you here?" "Oo, weel, sir, it was a band place you; they were baad folk, but they're a God fearin' set o' folk here." "Weel, Donald, I'm glad to hear it." "Oo, aye, sir, 'deed are they, an' I'll gie ye an instance o'. Last Sabbath just as the kirk was skailin' there was a drover chield frae Dumfries comin' along the road whistlin' an' lookin' as happy as if it was a middle o' the week. Weel, sir, oor lairds is a God fearin' set o' lairds, an' they were just comin' oot o' the kirk—o'd they yekit upon him an' a'most killed him!"

That English Complexion.

The complexions of the English have often been exploited for our benefit. The damp climate and the exercise out of doors produce the red, they say. But on examination it proves to be not the red of the rose, but the red of raw beef, and often streaky and fibrous at that. The features are large and the face high colored, but it is not a delicate pink. It is a coarse red. At a distance the effect is charming, bright, refreshing, but close to often rather unpleasant. Here the features of the women, even the features of the beautiful women, are molded, while the features of our beautiful American women are chiseled.—Scribner's.

A Funny Family.

"What makes your hair snap so?" asked the child who was watching his mother comb her hair.
"Electricity," his mother replied.
"We are a funny family," remarked the child after a few moments of thought. "The other day you said papa had wheels in his head, and now you've got electricity in your hair. If you put your heads together you might make an electric motor, mightn't you?"—New York Times.

The Size She Wanted.

The woman went in the bookstore and asked for a globe.
"What size do you want?" asked the clerk, turning on its pivot for her to look at the various and sundry countries in pink and blue.
"I think," said the woman, "that you may give me one life size."—New York Times.

Miss Mary Woods, of Spring Mills, spent the time from Saturday until Monday with friends in Boalsburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Keller, of Pleasant Gap, were guests at the Hillside farm, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Fortney and daughter, Miss Beulah, Mr. and Mrs. George Fortney, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Patterson, with their children, John and Frances, attended the funeral of Mrs. Jacob Wagner, at Bellefonte, on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bowersox, Wm. Drebbels and sisters, of Pine Hall; Mr. and Mrs. John From, W. C. Meyer and son Marian, and Misses Annie and Virgie Kaup, of State College, were present at the communion service in the Reformed church, Sunday.

Mrs. Jacob Wagner died at her home in Altoona, Saturday, after only a few hours' illness, caused by paralysis. Her maiden name was Catharine E. Fortney; she was the oldest daughter of George and Harriet Fortney, dec'd, and was born at Boalsburg about forty-nine years ago. Her husband died in 1905, but eight children survive, also four brothers and one sister. A brother, Geo. B. McClellan, lost his life by an accident on the Twelfth street bridge in Altoona, in 1893. Mrs. Wagner was a member of the Reformed church. Her remains were brought to Bellefonte, where interment was made. Services were held in the Reformed church, conducted by Rev. A. M. Schmidt and Rev. A. A. Black.

Millheim Beaten; Score, 8-6.

Saturday afternoon on Grange Park the Centre Hall junior base ball team defeated the juniors from that spirited base ball town; namey, Millheim, by the score of 8 to 6.

Outside of the first inning when ten men came to bat against Auman, the Millheim twirler, and scored four runs, the Centre Hall lads were kept on the jump to score their other four runs in their remaining seven times "at bat."

Good fielding by the visiting team, especially the pitcher, saved several runs being scored against them. In one stage of the game, with the bases loaded to their capacity, and only one out, it looked bad for Millheim. Auman, who pitched better ball as the game wore on, caused the next two batters to hit feeble grounders to him, and two men were retired at the plate by way of force out.

In the hitting line each side had the same number of bingles—seven—but Centre Hall had a slight advantage, since M. Bradford, in the first inning, hit a hard two-bagger to center field.

Some credit must be given to "Nigger" Musser, the tiny shortstop of the visiting team. The way he stopped hard batted balls and made runners out at first was remarkable for such a diminutive.

In all, the game was a good one. In pitching, Smith had the better of the argument, while in batting and fielding both sides were about even.

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

Weak and unhealthy kidneys are responsible for much sickness and suffering, therefore, if kidney trouble is permitted to continue, serious results are most likely to follow. Your other organs may need attention, but your kidneys—most, because they do most and should have attention first. Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. A trial will convince you of its great merit.

The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root, the great kidney and bladder remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest because its remarkable health restoring properties have been proven in thousands of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best.

Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, and don't let a dealer sell you something in place of Swamp-Root—if you do you will be disappointed.

RIEND FARMER

We wish to call your attention to the Weber and Columbia Wagons we have been offering you for the last few weeks through the columns of this paper.

In referring to the good qualities of these wagons we wish to say that nothing but the best of material enters into their construction; this combined with the best of mechanical skill, and the latest improved machinery designed especially for the construction of wagons, goes to make up these most complete and perfect wagons; not even the smallest details are overlooked.

The lumber used is selected by experienced men and is of four years' seasoning.

The axles are of the very best grade of hickory.

The hubs are the very best quality of white oak.

The spokes are strictly A 1 grade of oak and hickory mixed and driven in hot glue.

The fellos are oak and are thoroughly soaked in boiled oil before tires are set, and are joined with improved steel dowels, which prevents clipping at the joints.

They are exceptionally well ironed, light running and attractively painted, and in all a wagon that will give years of service.

We very cordially invite you to step in and examine these splendid wagons whether you are contemplating a purchase now or not. We want you to thoroughly understand their construction and see where they are better than the ordinary vehicle.

The important thing in buying a wagon is to know before hand what service it will give you; the important thing in selling them is to show you that, as well as we can, and then be sure that they are as good as we lead you to expect.
