The Best Place Gone.

One of the wives of a Mormon coming down stairs one morning met the physician, who was attending her husband.

'Is he very ill?" she asked, anxi-"He is," replied the physician. "I fear the end is not far off."
"Do you think," she asked, "I should be at his bedside during his last moments?' Yes, but I advise you to hurry. The best places are already being taken."—Human Life.

A "Rebellious Wife."

The current issue of the American Magazine has for its opening number The Confessions of a Rebellious We have no reason to doubt that the story is true, and that it tells the tale of the tragedy of love as enacted in many another home.

An ideal courtship; a genuine love marriage. The young lover and husband deferring in everything to his sweetheart and bride, and the radiantly happy young woman idolizing her beau ideal of a man and ambitions to anticipate his every want. Then the cares, anxieties, demands of business increase. They grow more insistent and imperious. The young husband becomes absorbed in his business. How can he help it? Success means so much to him, and he is bound to succeed.

Slowly but surely, and all unconsciously, too, he turns from wife to business. The love he once lavished upon her he now gives to his business. She notices the change, She grows cold, cynical, careworn and her life is embittered. The end is a nervous breakdown, premature-perhaps a suicide-grave, or more frequently, tinel.

Jimmy's Luck.

SURPRISED HIM Doctor's Test of Food.

A doctor in Kansas experimented with his boy in a test of food, and gives the particulars. He says:

"I naturally watch the effect of different foods on patien's. My own little son, a lad of four, had been ill with pneumonia, and during his convalescence did not seem to care for any kind of food. "I knew something of Grape-Nuts and its rather fascinating flavour and particularly of its nourishing and nerve-building powers, so I started the boy on Grape-Nuts and found from the first dish that he liked it. "His mother gave it to him steadily, and he began to improve at once. In less than a month he had gained about eight pounds and soon became so well and strong we had no further anxiety about him. 'An old patient of mine, 73 years old, came down with serious stomach | chnikoff that old age can be warded trouble, and before I was called had off. got so weak he could eat almost nothing, and was in a serious condition. He had tried almost every kind of food for the sick without avail.

"I immediately put him on Grape-Nuts, with good, rich milk and just a little pinch of sugar. He exclaimed when I came next day, 'Why, doctor, I never ate anything so good or that made me feel so much stronger.'

"I am pleased to say that he got well on Grape-Nuts, but he had to stick to it for two or three weeks, then he began to branch out a little with rice or an egg or two. He got entirely well in spite of his almost hopeless condition. He gained 22 pounds in two months, which at his age is remarkable.

"I could quote a list of cases where Grape-Nuts has worked wonders." "There's a Reason." Read "The Weekly Review of Trade and Market Reports.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says: Each succeeding week has now become a record of advancing activity in industry and commerce. The extraordinary expansion in the iron and steel trade continues and whereas, a short time ago, the problem was how to find business, now the problem is becoming that of meeting orders with adequate dispatch. The general business situation is improved by the progress made in the work of tariff revision. In view of the widening area of industrial activity, the better employment of labor and the higher prices for commodities, the fact that the supply of banking credits in the leading financial centers continues large, with rates for loans generally low, is significant of the reserve power for further expansion.

Bradstreet's says: Despite irregularities in crop and weather conditions, midsummer influences in trade and industry and conservatism in placing orders ahead, business is of fairly good volume for the season of the year and shows a perceptibly steady advance toward normal proportions. The retail trade clearance sales are universal, but there are numerous reports that reduced purchasing power offsets the stimulus offered by this means of inducing buying. Wholesale trade for immediate delivery jobbing business in summer goods is of a light volume. Fall trade reports are still relatively the
