Vagabondage.

Many men these days are heard to declare they will not be the slaves any longer of stenography and the telephone, captives of the rolltop desk and the lettered ground-glass door. They will search out fresh fields and pastures new, beyond the reach of the long arm of business and the importunity of sleeve-plucking strangers.

A vacation in vacation season, with a man's full duty discharged, is more than justifiable; it is a thing "requisite and necessary as well for the body as the soul," to use the lan-guage of the Book of Common Prayer. But here and there one comes upon cases of restless souls who would do well to remember, that a man may be in bondage to a roving disposition as well as in captivity to the routine of the office or the mill. Custom, Wordsworth has reminded us, lies upon us with a weight "heavy as frost and deep almost as life," and he who has formed the habit of deserting his job at the slightest provocation of pleasure will find that, like other habits, it is not easy to shake off.

"Mandalay" is the poetic expression of the wanderlust of the man who comes home from the temple bells of the East, "condemned to live unwillingly amidst a clean and shaven race," and finds, to his discomfiture, that "there ain't no 'buses runnin' from the bank to Mandalay.' -Philadelphia Ledger.

A Road Puzzle.

"Am I on the right road to Ripley?" inquired the traveler. 'No, sir," answered the farmer, "you'd ought to have turned to the left at the brick house a couple of miles back.'

"But I was told that I'd have no 30 trouble in finding the way if I kept on the right road. "That's right."

'So when I came to two roads I turned to the right.' That was wrong.

The traveler was becoming irritated

"Then the right road was the wrong one, was it?" he asked. 'You're right."

How can a thing be both right and wrong?' "That only shows, mister," said the farmer, calmly chewing a straw, "that you've never milked a cow. If you had you'd know that her right side is her wrong side."-Chicago Tribune.

Veekly Review of Trade and Market Reports.

R. G. Dun & Company's Weekly leview of Trade says:

Crop reports are favorable, especially for corn and spring wheat, with winter wheat nearly harvested. Progress on the new tariff is marked and indications point to its early enactment into laws. The excellent conditions in the iron and steel trade emphasized this week by the report of the principal producer and an increase in its rate divided are maintained. tained. The dry goods trade is broadening. Reports from the principal trade centers are uniformly encouraging, in spite of the fact that this is midsummer and merchants are still anxious for the final word concerning the crops and the tariff. July failures have made the smallest month's total of liabilities since Barly in 1907. Nearly every development is therefore that of improvement. This varies in degree, being at some points rapid and at others slow, but, nevertheless, the tendency is persistently away from past depression. Confidence, it is true, increases faster than present trade aclivitiy and prospects of coming agricultural and industrial prosperity are more pronounced than immediate business, but this confidence appears to have an immense uplifting power.

PROSPERITY HERE IN ALL LINES

Steel and Iron Industries, Cotton and Woolen Manufactures, Railroad Transportation, European Imports, Commerce on Lakes and Other Lines All Show Unmistakable Trend of Development---Three States Will Get $165,000,- 000 More For Wheat Crop Than Last Year.

Washington, D. C .- Telegrams from the manufacturing and agricultural centres of the United States clearly show that before autumn is far advanced "good times" will rule everywhere.

The proofs of this are found in the present activity or preparations for immediate increases in such basic industries as steel and iron, cotton and woolen manufactures, railroad transportation, European imports and commerce on the great lakes.

Some of these industries, like woolen and cotton, are already doing unprecedented business. Orders are now being refused for next winter and spring deliveries, and higher price lists are in preparation.

The panic of 1907 is already ancient history. The last lingering effects of it will, it is predicted, disappear in this fail's awakening of trade.

"When my little Vivian was about six months old her head broke out in boils. She had about sixty in all and I used Cuticura Scap and Cuticura Ointment which cured her entirely. Sometime later a humor broke out behind her ears and pread up on to her head until it was nearly half covered. The humor looked like a scald, very red with a sticky, clear fluid coming from it. This occurred every spring. I always used Cuticura Soap and Ointment which never failed to heal it up. The last time it broke out it became so bad that I was discouraged. But I continued the use of Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Resolvent until she was well and has never been troubled in the last two years. Mrs. M. A. ON FOOD

The Right Foundation of Health.

Proper food is the foundation of health. People can eat improper food for a time until there is a sudden collapse of the digestive organs, then all kinds of trouble follow.

The proper way out of the difficulty is to shift to the pure, scientific food, Grape-Nuts, for it rebuilds from the foundation up. A New Hampshire woman says:

"Last summer I was suddenly taken with indigestion and severe stomach trouble and could not eat food without great pain, my stomach was so sore I could hardly move about. This kept up until I was so miserable life was not worth living.

"Then a friend finally, after much argument, induced me to quit my former diet and try Grape-Nuts.

"Although I had but little faith I commenced to use it, and great was my surprise to find that I could eat it without the usual pain and distress In my stomach.

"So I kept on using Grape-Nuts, and soon a marked improvement was shown, for my stomach was performing its regular work in a normal way without pain or distress.

"Very soon the yellow coating disappeared from my tongue, the dull, heavy feeling in my head disappeared and my mind felt light and clear; the languid, tired feeling left, and altogether I felt as if I had been rebuilt. Strength and weight came back rapidly, and I went back to my work with renewed ambition.

"To-day I am a new woman in mind as well as body, and I owe it all to this natural food, Grape-Nutz."
