

The Exhibits.

The exhibits of agriculture and horticulture at the Grange Encampment and Fair are much larger than any time heretofore, and the management on Tuesday evening had already paid out a considerably larger sum of money for premiums than the combined premiums in previous years.

Meyer, a Flyer, Not Quite.

With the announced intention of "either flying or braking his neck," Edward Meyer, a former Lock Haven young man, and son of Dr. T. P. Meyer, came near doing the latter to perfection.

In his first trial of an aeroplane of his own invention, Mr. Meyer, now a resident of Red Bank, New Jersey, flew fifty feet, twenty-five feet up and the same distance down. He escaped without a scratch and will give his neck another chance to be broken just as soon as the smashed airship can be put together again.

Veteran Club Reunion.

The Centre county Veteran Club held its annual reunion on Grange Park Tuesday. Owing to the absence of General James A. Beaver, president of the club, Capt. W. H. Fry was made chairman.

A number of addresses were made, and all of them interesting, resolutions were passed and Grange Park selected as the place for the reunion in 1910.

Orchard Inspection.

J. C. Foster, a representative of the Division of Zoology, is at present inspecting the orchards in Haines township, and expects to cover the entire county in course of time. This work is of special importance to the fruit growers and farmers of the county.

Fairbrook.

At a school board meeting last Saturday, Prof. Moyer, a graduate of Susquehanna University, was elected teacher of the High School.

L. H. Omsen was among the old Veterans at Lakemont Park last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Musser and the venerable George Dale are among the sick this week.

Dr. Frank Bowersox and Stuart Rockey spent Sunday at the J. P. Rockey home on Buffalo Run.

H. M. Krebs and wife were among the Old Homers at Huntington last week, and spent a royal good time among friends of long ago.

Roy Burk and wife, of Centre Line, are visiting friends at Pine Hall.

Squire W. H. Musser came up from Bellefonte Monday to look after some business matters before leaving for a two weeks' trip in the sucker State.

George Matthew spent Sunday at his parental home at Spruce Creek.

W. H. Eby, the hustling salesman, just came from Philadelphia with a brand new assortment of goods for his large trade.

Farmer John Spiker lost a valuable horse Friday night after being sick but an hour from colic.

After an extended trip to the Pacific coast, Miss Mary Foster returned home last week.

Last Saturday evening fifty persons gathered at the home of Alvin Corl and marched in a body to Mrs. George Homan's home and completely surprised her to remind her of her 50th birthday. Refreshments of all kinds were served and many valuable presents brought.

Last Saturday while Blair Henry was on his way to the Warriorsmark picnic his high stepper ran away making kindling wood out of the buggy.

Paul Warren and Carl Horner are enrolled as freshmen at Franklin and Marshall College.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Nagany, of Neffs Mills, spent a few hours in town last Friday. They were enroute to the Mrs. Baily funeral at Boalsburg.

George Myton, a fruit farmer, on Spruce Creek, died Saturday evening at eight o'clock of liver trouble, aged 63 years. His wife and two daughters and two half-sisters and two half-brothers mourn his death. Burial was made Tuesday at ten a. m. at Mooreville.

Madisonburg.

The farmers are nearly done with their seeding.

The people are complaining about the dry weather, but till picnic is past perhaps there will have been rain enough.

The Evangelicals will hold their Harvest Home service in the Madisonburg church, Sunday morning.

The farmers say potatoes are turning out right good.

Madisonburg boys had a game of baseball with Rebersburg last Saturday, the score being 19 to 5 in favor of Rebersburg. The score would have been different had the umpire given more fair decisions. The rule is "play fair and cheat a little," but he acted the hog.

DEATHS.

MRS. HEZEKIAH EWING
Margaret, widow of Hezekiah Ewing, died at her home at State College, Monday morning after four days' illness of a complication of diseases. She went to bed as usual but failed to get up at her usual time, the door being locked, an entrance was made through the window. She was able to speak and suffered but little pain, but sank rapidly away. She was born at Graysville, August 10th, 1844, and was a daughter of the late Patrick and Mary Archey.

The Zettle Reunion.

The third Zettle reunion will be held Friday, September 24th, in Hart's grove, Poke Hill, in Georges Valley. Rev. J. M. Reaick, of Salona, will make an address.

In another column will be found the auctioneer card of L. F. Roan, of Lemont. Mr. Rhone is also conducting a furniture store and repair shop, at Lemont, and at the same time is bucking against the State College Transportation Company, which during the past week brought him to Centre Hall frequently.

Many personals and local items are omitted this week in order to give the employees of this office an opportunity to attend the Grange Encampment. Keep a close watch on next week's issue.

THE SHIPWRECKER.

His Life Made Up of Hardships, Adventures and Accidents.
The career of the shipwrecker consists of a series of hardships, and adventures and accidents and narrow escapes from the first day he enlists with a big wrecking company up to the time he is brought ashore from the grim ship he calls "home" crippled or fatally injured. Of all the professions that demand heavy toll of human life none, not even mining or powder making, is as dangerous as the one of these wreckers. Every year these daring men, who brave storm and wave and tempest to save the stranded liner, to raise the sunken ocean greyhound, to rescue the ship impaled upon rocks and, if nothing else, to salvage what valuable cargo may be removed from helpless wrecks, meet death by the score. Many of them, exposed of ten for days and nights to the icy blasts of winter seas, to driving blizzards and to drenching storms that bite to the marrow, succumb to pneumonia. Others at work on the pitching, tossing barges have legs or arms shattered during the risky operations of removing masts or of slinging wrecking pumps or other castings that weigh tons. Others have hands or feet so dreadfully frozen that these must be amputated, and still others are wiped out of existence after suffering hours of untold agony and exposure before the eyes of their helpless comrades.—Appleton's Magazine.

HICCUGHS.

A Simple Treatment by Which They May Be Cured.

Did you ever take nine swallows of water to cure the hiccoughs? Do you remember the time some one scared the hiccoughs away by telling you of a whipping due for some meanness?

Well, science has been studying hiccoughs and caught the hiccoughs by the "nape of the neck." The nine swallows of water had a little science in it, and so did the scare cure. The scientific hiccough cure consists in pressing down to numbness the nerve that connects the stomach, lungs and brain, the pneumogastric nerve. The pressure partially and locally paralyzes this nerve and of necessity the hiccoughing must cease.

Have the hiccoughing patient sit down and be at ease, with the muscles of the neck relaxed as much as possible. Grasp both sides of the neck somewhat toward the back part and press down steadily and as hard as the subject may permit for about one minute, having the patient work the head from side to side. Within about one minute the nerve will be numbed and rested, and the spasmodic motion will cease. It may require longer pressure in some cases, but the result is sure if patience is maintained.—Ohio State Journal.

A Thirteenth Century Drink.

Thirteenth century tastes in food had few limitations. Besides the "fowl of Africa and the rare gadwit of Ionia" mentioned by Fitzstephen, gourmets in the time of King John used to regale themselves on herons, cranes, crows, storks, cormorants and bitterns. Some would wash their meals down with wine, but the majority drank mead or metheglin. Mead, according to Holinshed, was only the washing of the combs after the honey had been taken from them and so poor a beverage that it had to be spiced, peppered or made palatable with sweetbrier or thyme. But metheglin contained one hundredweight of honey to twenty-four gallons of water and must have been much more intoxicating than the strongest old ale of the present day.—London Chronicle.

Calling the Deaf.

"To waken a deaf person who wishes to be called at a certain time in the morning is about the hardest proposition a hotel clerk runs up against," said a member of that fraternity. "To ring the telephone is useless, because the man can't hear. Knocking, for the same reason, is futile. Now and then a guest who has lost his hearing suggests that he leave his door open so we can walk right in and shake him, but even if he does appear to be dead game there are so many chances of somebody less gulleless than ourselves walking in ahead of us that we can't consent to that simple expedient. It seems to me the man who can patent a device for waking the deaf is sure of fame and fortune, not to mention the gratitude of the brotherhood of hotel clerks."—Exchange.

To Save the Tablecloth.

Nothing is more provoking to the careful housewife than to have a perfectly clean tablecloth liberally bespattered with gravy the first time it is used. Get a large table napkin—one to match the tablecloth if possible—and a piece of white olecloth cut an inch shorter and an inch narrower than the napkin. Place the olecloth where the meat dish will stand and spread the napkin over it. The gravy cannot penetrate through the olecloth. Thus there is a considerable saving in the washing bill.

How It Looked.

"I think you ought to turn the lights up a little when your beau comes," said the boy who is beginning to use big words to his older sister. "I wouldn't sit in the dim light if I were you. It looks too conspicuous."—New York Press.

The Real Reason.

"Why don't you go down Mill street?"
"Well, you see, on one side of it lives my tailor and on the other side my shoemaker, while a canal runs through the middle."—Meggendorfer Blatter.

LOCALS.

Jacob Wagner, who has been in the west for some months, returned home last week, and was accompanied by E. C. Flink, of Manhattan, Illinois, who is a son-in-law. Mr. Flink will remain for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Frank Boal, of Altoona, have been in the valley during the past week and this week are attending the Grange Encampment and Fair. Mr. Boal is a steam fitter, and is employed in the repair department of the Pennsylvania shops. He has had continuous employment, but nevertheless has imbibed Socialistic views.

J. Frank Bible, of Centre Hall, and H. B. Wagner, of Potters Mills, who went to Will county, Illinois, last spring and engaged on farms, returned home last week, very much pleased with the west. The crops—oats and corn—in the section of Illinois in which they lived, were first-class, and farmers there were jubilant over the high prices they would be able to secure when ready to market.

FARM AT PRIVATE SALE.—The undersigned offers at private sale the Jacob Neese farm, near Farmers Mills, in Gregg township, containing eighty acres, all clear except about five acres. HUDSON-FULTON CELEBRATION
NEW YORK CITY

Three hundred years ago, Henry Hudson, an Englishman, in command of a Dutch expedition, with eighteen men, explored the Hudson River from Sandy Hook to Troy in his small craft, the "Half Moon."

One hundred and ninety-eight years later, Robert Fulton established, with his steamboat, the "Clermont," a regular water service between New York and the towns along the Hudson River to the North.

This year, New York City, with sister cities and towns along the Hudson, will celebrate these two achievements by a series of imposing observances, religious, historical, military, naval, musical and literary, extending from September 25 to October 9.

Replicas of the "Half Moon" and the "Clermont" have been built and will play a large part in the celebration. They will be the center of attraction in the great naval pageant on Saturday, September 25. The United States Government will have fifty-two war ships anchored in the Hudson, and Great Britain, France, the Netherlands, Italy, Germany, Argentina, Guatemala, Mexico, and Cuba will be represented by war vessels.

Two great parades of water craft will escort the "Half Moon" and the "Clermont" in triumphal procession past the war leviathans, first in the morning and again in the evening, when all the vessels will be illuminated.

On September 28 there will be a grand historical pageant, and on September 30 a big military parade in New York City.

On October 1, the "Half Moon" and "Clermont" will proceed up the Hudson to Troy escorted by hundreds of river craft, including torpedo boats.

A magnificent carnival parade will be held in New York on Saturday evening, October 2, which promises to eclipse all previous attempts.

The Pennsylvania Railroad, the direct line to New York, with its unsurpassed service of fast express trains, will sell excursion tickets to New York for this period at reduced rates of fare.

Full details concerning specific fares, dates of sale, return limits, and train service, may be obtained of Ticket Agents.

FRIEND FARMER:

We wish to call your attention to the Weber and Columbia Wagons we have been offering you for the last few weeks through the columns of this paper.

In referring to the good qualities of these wagons we wish to say that nothing but the best of material enters into their construction; this combined with the best of mechanical skill, and the latest improved machinery designed especially for the construction of wagons, goes to make up these most complete and perfect wagons; not even the smallest details are overlooked.

The lumber used is selected by experienced men and is of four years' seasoning.

The axles are of the very best grade of hickory.

The hubs are the very best quality of white oak.

The spokes are strictly A 1 grade of oak and hickory mixed and driven in hot glue.

The fellos are oak and are thoroughly soaked in boiled oil before tires are set, and are joined with improved steel dowels, which prevents clipping at the joints.

They are exceptionally well ironed, light running and attractively painted, and in all a wagon that will give years of service.

We very cordially invite you to step in and examine these splendid wagons whether you are contemplating a purchase now or not.

We want you to thoroughly understand their construction and see where they are better than the ordinary vehicle.

The important thing in buying a wagon is to know before hand what service it will give you; the important thing in selling them is to show you that, as well as we can, and then be sure that they are as good as we lead you to expect.
