Her husband is at Clifton Springs, where he is slowly recuperating from a severe attack of heart trouble.

Mr. and Mrs. John Fortney, of Boalsburg, were in Centre Hall Tuesday, and while Mrs. Fortney was doing shopping, the Harris township constable wiled away the time in the Reporter office. The removal of his mustache almost made a second introduction necessary, and if it improved every hairy man's appearance as much as it did Mr. Fortney's to be clean shaven, there might be a host of ugly physiognomies improved by the same process. Of course, do not understand that Mr. Fortney belonged to the ugly tribe, for there are some real nice things that have hairs on them.

Killed a Moose.

The Milroy correspondent to the Lewistown Democrat and Sentinel, has this to say: W. O. Mr. Rearick, with his brother-in-law, Joseph Gilliland, of New Bloomfield, and their guide endured some hardships, as they were in a cave and had scarcely anything to eat on account of the heavy rains for eight days and seven nights, making it impossible for them to get out to get anything, the provisions they did have on hand spoiled, leaving them for several days without anything to eat except flour and water.

PARTY BOSSES PLAN INQUIRY

Senators Sisson and Stober, Republican Candidates, Supported All the Vicious Legislation That Made the Session of 1905 Infamous.

The legislature of 1905 was a "balcony and vociferous" affair. In imitation of the Albany "House of Mirth," the Boas mansion in Harrisburg was generously contributing to the "kraziness of nations" during that session. Under the control of the insurance commissioner it was a sort of kennel of "yellow dogs" of all sorts and conditions. Each night the gang assembled within its hospitable walls and planned and schemed the looting operations of the immediate future. It was the seat of revelry and a fountain of corruption.

The legislature of 1905 has gone into history as the most wanton and venal in the history of the state. Its work was so bad that Governor Pennypacker felt constrained to call it back to repeal most of its measures, and the men responsible for its iniquities obeyed orders to thus stultify themselves with the same servility that they accepted orders to pass the bills at the regular session. This feature of the legislature of 1905 has no parallel. No other legislature within the memory of man has such a record.

The legislature of 1905 was as eager to defeat good legislation as it was zealous in promoting bad. Few good bills got out of committee, and such as did were allowed to die on the calendar. Early in the session Senator Gehring, of Pittsburg, introduced a bill providing for civil service tests in the selection of state officers, but it was stifled in the committee. Mr. Edmiston, of Bradford, introduced a bill requiring that anthracite coal offered for sale in the state be 95 per cent pure, and it met the same fate.

There were a good many other measures which would have conserved the interests of the people if they had been enacted into laws. But they were all killed before that stage, at which a roll call is in order, was reached. Under such conditions the action of a particular senator upon such bills is left to conjecture. But the managers of the dominant party were against such legislation or it would have passed. Senators Sisson and Stober invariably voted as the machine manager directed, and it is safe to say that they were against the bills that failed.

No Uncertainty on Vicious Bills.

But there is no uncertainty as to how the Republican candidates for auditor general and state treasurer voted on the vicious legislation projected and promoted by the machine. The bill to increase the number of bank examiners, for example, was supported by both of them. Senate Journal, 1905, page 208.

One of the principal jobs of the session was the "act to amend an act relating to the board of public grounds and buildings." Upon this measure Mr. Sisson and Mr. Stober voted in the affirmative. Senate Journal, 1905, page 842. In vetoing this bill Governor Pennypacker said: "The effect of this bill, if it became a law, would be to authorize the board of public grounds and buildings to engage the services of 132 new employees. The amount of their salary and compensation, together with the increases of salaries and compensations of persons now employed, would amount to the sum of $216,960 for the ensuing two years." Vetoes by the governor, 1905, page 158.

A bill to increase the number of courts in Allegheny county was voted for by both Sisson and Stober. Senate Journal, 1905, page 358. This measure was also vetoed by Governor Pennypacker, who said in his message: "The effect of this bill would be to increase the number of judges in Allegheny county from nine to fifteen and to lead to an expenditure in salaries alone of the annual sum of $51,000." Vetoes by the governor, 1905, page 18.

Bills were passed providing for additional law judges in Cambria county. Senate Journal, 1905, page 888, and in Erie county. Senate Journal, 1905, page 492. Sisson and Stober voting for both of them.

The machine majority in the legislature is always open-handed with the judges, but during the session of 1905 it was liberal with everybody. A bill providing for stenographers and assistant stenographers for courts was passed finally on Feb. 23, Sisson and Stober voting in the affirmative. Senate Journal, 1905, pages 556-557. It was subsequently vetoed by Governor Pennypacker on the ground that "it would be an attempt upon the part of the legislature and the governor to exercise control over the courts." Vetoes by the governor, 1905, page 24.

Corporations Favored Freely.

An act declaring valid and enforceable as to any right of escheat in this commonwealth was voted for by both Sisson and Stober. Senate Journal, 1905, page 891. This measure also (Continued on next page.)
