

Keene-Cori.

A quiet wedding took place on Thursday afternoon of last week at the home of the Corl sisters, at Pleasant Gap, when Miss Nannie C. Corl was united in holy wedlock with Jacob M. Keener, of Anaconda, Colorado.

The ceremony was performed by the bride's pastor, Rev. J. L. Stoneypher, of Boalsburg. Besides the pastor and his wife, only a few of the immediate friends of the bride were present to witness the occasion. The ceremony over, and congratulations extended, the little company was invited to the dining room where refreshments were served.

The bride is an excellent lady, held in high esteem by all who know her. The groom is a talented man, holding a lucrative position in the Cripple Creek gold mining district.

Mr. and Mrs. Keener, Miss Mary Corl, a sister of the bride, and Mrs. Julia Williams, of Lemont, an aunt, were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Corl, in Boalsburg. Mr. and Mrs. Keener will make their home in Anaconda, Colorado, for which place they will leave in a few days. On their way west they will visit a number of relatives, among them being the family of Charles Kuarr, in Kansas.

There is a bit of romance connected with this marriage. Mr. Keener went west thirty years ago, and after being away for a few years came back to seek the hand of his present wife, but the mother would not consent to leaving her daughter so far away from her, even though she had the assurance of the love, protection and provision of an industrious man. The couple parted. Mr. Keener married, prospered, and reared a family. Some years ago his wife died, and he again made overtures to Miss Corl, but then other conditions had arisen (the care of an aged father) that she could not leave the old home. On the death of the father, Robert Corl, a few months ago, the westerner again pressed his suit, and as there were then no barriers to the proposed contract, Miss Corl gave consent, and the marriage followed.

A Few More Farmers Change Places. A few more changes of farm tenants are here noted: M. N. Miller will move from the Grove farm, on Sinking Creek, to the Perry Breon farm, now owned by A. F. Heckman, of Tusseyville. The Grove farm is being offered for sale, consequently is not rented.

Harry Bible, who has been a clerk in an Altoona store for several years, will take hold of the plow in the spring and turn the sod on the farm of Miss Annie Bible, east of Centre Hall. Frank Bible, Centre Hill, has rented a farm, but is not saying where. He also expects to make another important change of which the daughter of Nicodemus Luse could tell all about if she wished to do so.

Samuel Stover, tenant on the Greenoble farm near Spring Mills, will move to the John B. Ream farm, at Farmers Mills. Daniel Ream will vacate his father's farm to a farm near Aaronsburg, which he and Mrs. Ream will come into possession.

Issuane Woman Hanged Herself. Mrs. Margaret Snyder, wife of Samuel Snyder, of Loganton, who has been a patient at the Danville hospital since the 25th of June, last, committed suicide in her room at that institution Sunday morning by making a rope of the bed clothing and hanging herself to the top of the door. She was dead when found. She was aged fifty years. Her body was brought to Loganton, where interment was made Tuesday afternoon.

Smith Stover. Ex-Prothonotary William F. Smith and Mrs. Harriet Terressa Stover, both of Millheim, were married at the home of the bride Sunday evening, by Rev. C. F. Gherrett, in the presence of only a few immediate relatives. The couple are well known to many of the readers. The Reporter extends congratulations.

LOCALS. See Nieman, the Millheim clothier. He has it. Fruit that goes to waste is money dropped through a knothole. Miss Grace Smith is in Williamsport, having gone there Wednesday. Rheumatism is obliging Edward Ritter to remain in doors. For a part of the time during the past week he was confined to bed. The George L. Goodhart home is being improved by the addition of a front porch. The mason work is in the course of construction. Miss Florance Rhone is the guest of her sister, Miss May V. Rhone, in Harrisburg. She has been in the State's capital during the past week. Revival services are being held each evening (Saturday excepted) in the Methodist church, at Spring Mills. The pastor invites the public to attend. James, the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. David K. Keller, east of Centre Hall, while playing with several companions on Sunday evening, had the misfortune to fall and in so doing dislocated his left shoulder. Dr. George Lee was called and put the shoulder in position.

fell a victim to Governor Pennypacker's veto axe. In his veto message the governor said: "To permit corporations, organized for reasons given above in other states, to hold real estate and do business here, would be, in effect, to nullify, indirectly, our own laws. This bill presents to such corporations an easy means of escape from the disabilities imposed upon them." Vetoes by the governor, 1905, page 30.

The legislature revealed its subservency to the railroad corporations in the passage of the act "in relation to railroads under lease, and saving their charters and franchises from forfeiture or impairment in case of failure of their lessees to maintain and operate any portion of their lines." This was a slimy and venomous legislative snake. It would have enabled big railroad corporations to get rid of any branch or troublesome small railroad at the trifling expense of the cost of leasing it. Under existing law failure to operate a piece of railroad for two years works the forfeiture of the franchise, and communities damaged by being deprived of railroad facilities to which they are entitled could build a new branch and connect with another road. But this bill would have given the big concern power to close up the smaller road permanently. It was passed by the senate finally on March 31. Sisson and Stober voting for it. Senate Journal, 1905, page 850. Governor Pennypacker vetoed it. Vetoes of the governor, 1905, page 66.

One of the most absurd bills considered during the session was one authorizing coroners in counties of population between 100,000 and 125,000 to employ stenographers at a compensation of $6 a day. Both Sisson and Stober voted for it. Senate Journal, 1905, page 1670. Fortunately it was vetoed.

Another legislative absurdity was a bill providing for the draining of swampy lands, and both Sisson and Stober voted for it. Senate Journal, 1905, page 1031. In vetoing this preposterous proposition Governor Pennypacker said that owners of swampy lands ought to pay the expenses of their own improvements, and that if the measure should become a law it would clandestinely bestow upon the owners of the land the right of eminent domain. Vetoes by the governor, 1905, page 44.
