Harry Cummings and bride spent Sunday at the home of J. C. Reeder.

Frank Ackerman returned to Johnstown last Monday, after spending a few weeks with his parents.

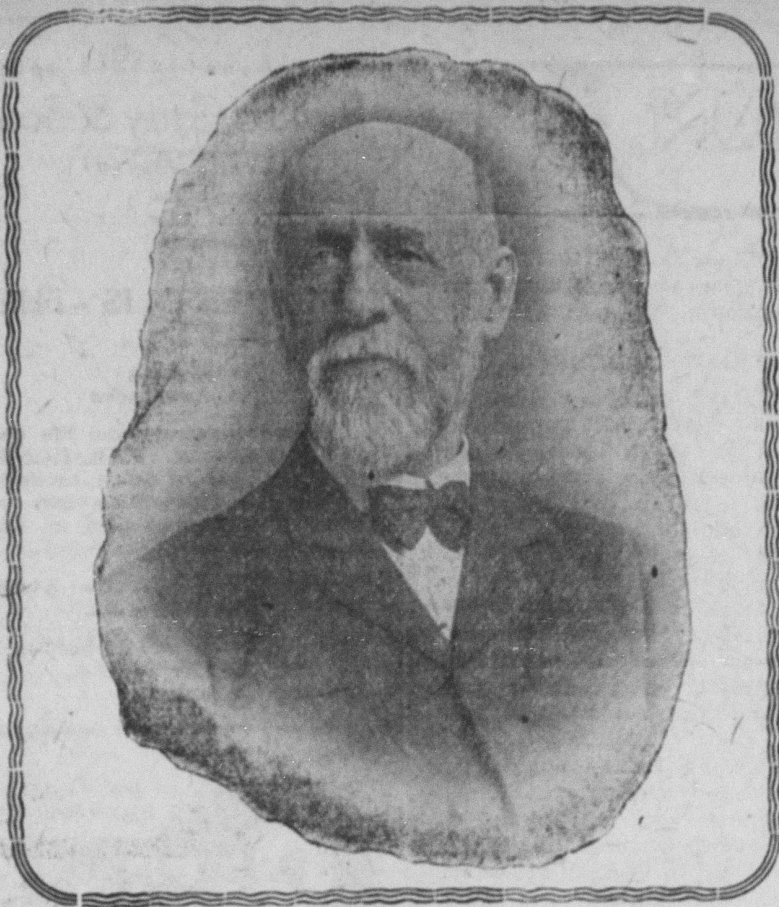

Mrs. H. M. Lingle returned home last week from Lock Haven, where she spent a week with her sister, Mrs. E. D. Ungard.

Miss Ada Foust visited Mrs. James Reeder a few days last week.

Mrs. Abbe Barger, of State College, is home for a few days.

V. A. Lingle left for Burnham on Tuesday, where he expects to make his home for some time.

This is how a New Jersey paper puts it: "His talk was typical of the man keeping his hearers keyed up alternately to a high pitch of expectancy and merriment."

DR. C. H. MEAD

Dr. C. H. Mead, of New York, will give a lecture in Grange Arcadia, Centre Hall, Wednesday evening, December 1st, on the subject, "The Mills that Grind." He is a well known lecturer, having appeared on the rostrum in thirty-three of the states, and a number of provinces in Canada. He will not preach a funeral sermon, but will lecture. His audience can prepare for frequent applause and indulgence in hearty laughter.

The lecture will be absolutely free. Of course, the lecturer will be paid his regular charge, but funds have been secured by private subscription. You need only come and hear.

Death of a Young Man. Clyde Alred Smith, died on Saturday at the home of his grandfather, Samuel Bitner, at Potters Mills, aged fourteen years, ten months, fourteen days. Interment was made on Tuesday, at Spruceport, Rev. B. F. Bieber officiating.

The deceased was the son of J. William Smith, who died at Potters Mills eight years ago. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Roland Foust, one sister and four brothers. The young man was ill for about one year from tuberculosis.

Harris Township. Quite a number of people from here attended the George Dale sale on Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Harrison and Mrs. Nannie Coxey with her children, Paul and Helen, spent Sunday with friends at Pleasant Gap.

Madden's show in the Boal Hall has been the attraction for several evenings during the past week.

We are having lovely weather, have violets and pansies in bloom, and bunches of ripe strawberries were found in the garden at the Locust Grove farm.

There is a scarcity of water. It is no unusual sight to see people hauling or carrying water from the streams or springs near Boalsburg.

Mrs. Margaret Riley was called to Millburg last week on account of the illness of her brother Charles Sechler, who was stricken with paralysis. Monday of this week he died and was buried at Millburg on Wednesday.

Mr. Sechler's childhood and boyhood days were spent in Boalsburg, he was a brother of Robert Sechler, of Lewisburg, who is mall agent on the Lewisburg and Tyrone R. R., and was never married.

Mrs. Emma Gallagher passed away at her home in Philadelphia last week. She was suddenly seized with convulsions and nothing could be done to relieve her. Mrs. Gallagher, with her husband, Jack Gallagher, visited frequently in Boalsburg, they enjoyed the healthy mountain air and the company of the families who entertained them. Among the acquaintances with whom they visited were the Musser, Fisher, Weber and Dinges families. They made their last visit here in the summer of 1907.

Profiting by Amendments. Borough and township officers whose terms will expire this year, will have one year added to their terms on account of the passage of the amendments to the constitution. Officers elected last spring, whose terms under the old system would expire in 1912, will also have a year added to their terms. Their successors will be elected in November, 1913, instead of February, 1912.

Union Thanksgiving Service. Union Thanksgiving service will be held in the Methodist church this (Thursday) morning, at ten o'clock. The sermon will be preached by Rev. S. A. Snyder.

Thompson-Johnston. As previously announced in this paper, the marriage of John I. Thompson, of Lemont, to Miss Margaret H. Johnston, of Boalsburg, was solemnized in the Presbyterian church, at Boalsburg, Wednesday, November 17 at one o'clock p. m. Miss Margaret Stuart, of State College, presided at the organ, and played Lohengrin's beautiful wedding march as the bridal party entered the church. Miss Ruth Johnston, a niece of the bride, preceded the bride and groom. She was dressed in a light silk gown, and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums. The bride wore a navy blue cloth traveling dress, and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums, while the groom wore the conventional black. Their pastor, Rev. W. K. Harnish, spoke the words that united the parties for life in the bonds of wedlock.

After the ceremonies Mr. and Mrs. Thompson received the congratulations of their friends. The church was beautifully decorated with ferns and white chrysanthemums.

Among those from a distance who witnessed the ceremonies were Dr. Schaeffer and wife, of Altoona; Mr. and Mrs. George Thompson, of Alto; Miss Elizabeth Thompson, of Lemont; Mr. and Mrs. William Thompson, of Center Furnace; Mrs. Henry Thompson and son, of Potters Mills; Mr. Mrs. James Johnson and daughter, Miss Ruth, of Barnboro; Mr. and Mrs. John W. Stuart and daughter, Miss Margaret, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Shattuck, Dr. Christ and daughter, Miss Hester, of State College; Mr. and Mrs. John Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. George Mitchell, Miss Maude Mitchell and Mrs. W. K. Harnish, of Lemont; William and James Everhart, of the Branch; George Stuart, of Pittsburg; Miss Margaret Groh, of Colville; Mrs. Lizzy Jacob and Mrs. Sara McClennan, Centre Hall.

The couple were the recipients of some very valuable and useful gifts. Luncheon was served at the bride's home, to the immediate relatives, before the ceremony.

The wedding party drove from the church to Oak Hall Station, where they boarded the eastbound train for Harrisburg, Philadelphia, Atlantic City and other points.

Bartholomew Kennedy. Edwin Linn Bartholomew, of Altoona, and Miss Elizabeth St. Clair Kennedy, of Centre Hall, were married at the Presbyterian parsonage, at Dickinson, Wednesday afternoon, three o'clock, by Rev. James Johnson Glenn, a relative of the bride.

Both bride and groom are very well known in this community where they have many acquaintances and friends. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Q. A. Kennedy, of Centre Hall, and the groom is a son of W. H. Bartholomew, of Centre Hall. Before entering the offices of the Pennsylvania railroad company, in Altoona, as a clerk, Mr. Bartholomew was assistant station agent at Centre Hall having entered the railroad service under Station Agent Bradford at this place.

The prospective bride and groom left Centre Hall Wednesday morning for Dickinson. They were accompanied by Miss Helen Bartholomew, a sister of the groom, and Miss Mary Kennedy, a sister of the bride, and these were the only witnesses beside Mrs. Glenn.

The young couple expect to come to Centre Hall the latter part of this week, and from here will go to Altoona. They will board until spring, and then begin housekeeping.
