Why She Stayed At The Foot.

IN CONSTANT TORTURE.

How a Severe Case of Kidney Disease Was Conquered.

Mrs. Sherman Youngs, Schoharie, N. Y., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills saved my life after years of suffering that ran me down to such a degree of weakness that I could do no work, and the pains I suffered would throw me into spasms. I was dizzy, worn and sleepless, my back ached terribly, I had rheumatism and was nervous and all unstrung. I thought I tried every known medicine, but it was not until I began using Doan's Kidney Pills that I began to get help. The pains slowly disappeared, the kidney secretions cleared up and in a few weeks my strength returned so that I could work about the house again. It is three years since then and Doan's Kidney Pills have kept me well."

Editorial Omniscience.
"Father," said the small boy of an editor, "is Jupiter inhabited?"
"I don't know, my son," was the truthful answer. Presently he was interrupted again.
"Father, are there any sea serpents?"
"I don't know, my son."

The little fellow was manifestly cast down, but presently rallied and again approached the great source of information.
"Father, what does the North Pole look like?"
"But, alas! again the answer, 'I don't know, my son.'"
At last, in desperation, he inquired with withering emphasis:
"Father, how did you get to be an editor?"—Concordia Kansan.

Not Literary.
"The late Frederick Burton was the world's foremost authority on the American Indian," said a Yale ethnologist. "Burton was almost alone in his field. There are, you know, so few students of Indian lore."
"He said to me once, with a vexed laugh, that he found it quite an impossible to discuss the Indian with people as a Boston critic found it to discuss poetry with the girl he took to dinner."
"The girl was very pretty. Lending her dimpled elbows on the table, she said to the critic:
"And what is your lecture to be about, professor?"
"I shall lecture on Keats," he replied.
"Oh, professor," she gushed, "what are Keats?"—Washington Star.

HABIT'S CHAIN
Certain Habits Unconsciously Formed and Hard to Break.

An ingenious philosopher estimates that the amount of will power necessary to break a lifelong habit would, if it could be transformed, lift a weight of many tons.

It sometimes requires a higher degree of heroism to break the chains of a pernicious habit than to lead a forlorn hope in a bloody battle. A lady writes from an Indiana town:
"From my earliest childhood I was a lover of coffee. Before I was out of my teens I was a miserable dyspeptic, suffering terribly at times with my stomach."
"I was convinced that it was coffee that was causing the trouble and yet I could not deny myself a cup for breakfast. At the age of 26 I was in very poor health, indeed. My sister told me I was in danger of becoming a coffee drunkard."
"But I never could give up drinking coffee for breakfast, although it kept me constantly ill, until I tried Postum. I learned to make it properly according to directions, and now we can hardly do without Postum for breakfast, and care nothing at all for coffee."
"I am no longer troubled with dyspepsia, do not have spells of suffering with my stomach that used to trouble me so when I drank coffee."
"Look in pks. for the little book, 'The Road to Wellville.'" "There's a Reason."

NEWS OF PENNSYLVANIA

For Celebration.

Gettysburg.—The Retail Merchant's Association of Gettysburg, organized for the betterment of the town and mutual protection, has tendered its aid to the Fiftieth Battle Anniversary Commission appointed by Governor Stuart.

When the commission was appointed by the Chief Executive no representative from Gettysburg was named, and the business men of the town felt they would not have the opportunity to extend the assistance necessary to make the celebration a success unless a person or recognized body here were given such authority.

The anniversary will take place July 1, 2 and 3, 1913, and the commission was appointed by Governor Stuart through the efforts of a committee of Gettysburg citizens appointed at a town meeting. In compliance with a request from this committee, Governor Stuart recommended that such a commission be authorized by act of Assembly and the act was passed at the last session of the State Legislature, the appointment of the commission being made soon afterward. Action was taken thus far in advance in order that all the States of the Union could take formal action regarding the celebration, and their part in it, in ample time to prepare for the event.

The Retail Merchant's Association, though in existence only about eight months, has accomplished much for the town. Better train service has been secured, the signature of the Burgess was obtained to an ordinance granting a trolley franchise, which the town wants badly, and many other steps taken to make Gettysburg more of a convention town than it was.

Edmund P. Miller is president of the association, and among its most active members are E. P. Wisotzky, chief of the fire department; H. T. Weaver, William H. Tipton and J. I. Mumper.

Blow Postal Safe.

Washington.—Robbers blew open the safe in the postoffice at Carmichaels, Green County, fifteen miles southeast of here, made a similar but unsuccessful effort with the vault of the Carmichaels bank, terrorizing the town for an hour, and got away with about $5,000 in stamps and money without leaving a clew to their identity.

The robbery was perpetrated at 2 o'clock A. M. The postoffice and bank stand side by side. Entrance was gained to the postoffice through a rear door. From the postoffice a hole was opened into the bank, where no watchman is kept.

Charges of nitro-glycerine were placed under the vaults in both places and discharged simultaneously. The postoffice safe was wrecked, but the explosive in the bank was poorly placed and failed to shatter the vault door.

Residents of the town poured in the noise of the explosion poured into the main street, where the bank and postoffice are located. They were confronted by three masked men, each with two revolvers. The crowd of half-dressed residents were coolly told to keep quiet and attempt no violence.

A fourth man then gathered up all the valuables in the postoffice. Postmaster George M. Ritchey, who had sold a piece of property, had placed the money, about $4,000, in the safe with the stamps and Government money. The entire amount was carried away. The trail of the robbers was followed to the railroad track and lost.

Chickens Answer Bell.

Polecroft.—After being bothered for a long time by not knowing whether he was feeding his own or his neighbors' stock, Rev. J. B. Randolph, a colored divine of Darby township, has solved the question by training his chicken and ducks to answer a large call bell, which brings them scurrying from all quarters to be fed. None of the fowls of any of his neighbors knows the bell signal, and only his stock responds. The birds learned the feed signal in less than a week's time, and now they begin to run at the first sound of it.

Free Suspects.

Bloomsburg.—Fortunato and Antonio Calabro, the West Berwick brothers charged with the murder of nine men while they were said to be connected with an alleged Black Hand society nearly four years ago, were given a hearing before Justice Fenstermacher and discharged from custody. Officers of the State police and local municipal officials were in receipt of anonymous letters saying that Calabros had killed nine men and that the bodies could be found buried in the cellar of the Calabro home. A thorough search failed to produce any evidence of crime and the men were discharged.

Saves Sister's Life.

Lebanon.—John Gelb, of Mt. Aetna, Berks County, while on a visit to his sister, Miss Sarah Gelb, of this city, saved the latter from being killed by a freight train at the risk of his own life. They were crossing the Reading tracks on Ninth Street, unmindful of an approaching train when Miss Gelb suddenly became paralyzed with fright and could not move. Her brother had crossed, but noticing his sister's condition rushed back and grabbed her. Both were knocked over by the locomotive, but escaped with a few bruises and lacerations.

Bar Seeks Change.

York.—The York Bar Association will try to change York County from the jurisdiction of the Court of the Middle District of Pennsylvania to the Eastern District. If successful, the headquarters of York County cases will be transferred to Philadelphia from Scranton. They will also try to have the York County cases before the Superior Court, which are now heard at Harrisburg, tried before the Superior Court at Philadelphia during October.

Murderer Going Insane.

Pottsville.—Ralph Reedy, who in August killed Morris Bender, at Orwin, crushing his skull with a stone, and afterwards cutting his throat, and who is now serving 20 years, is going insane and will never live out his sentence. He continually sees the face of his victim before him. His crime will bear upon him until his death, he being unable to sleep because he says he is haunted.

Suicide On Grave.

Altoona.—While mourners at the funeral of L. C. Neilson, of Youngstown, O., were leaving the cemetery at Phillipsburg, after depositing the body in the tomb, they were horrified to find the body of a dead man lying on a grave, with a revolver clutched in his right hand. The man was Samuel Flickinger, aged 55, and he had committed suicide by shooting himself at the grave of his wife, who died six years ago.

Arrest Crew.

Lancaster.—William Dealinger and Andrew Moore, a conductor and motorman respectively, for the Conestoga Traction Company, were arrested on charges of robbing the company, their stealings having covered some years. Both men confessed that the conductor took the money, giving the motorman $8 a week to keep silence.

Raise $1,000 For Singers.

York.—Of the $2,000 necessary to put the York Oratorio Society on its feet $1,600 has been raised by the committee appointed by the society to collect the money. Twenty women undertook the work. The balance is said to be in sight and the entertainment of the oratorio is now assured.

Divide Estate.

Mount Joy.—The estate of Isaac Kinsey, late of Mastersville, will be distributed among seventy heirs, whose shares vary from $1.81 to $65. The estate amounts to $6,000, out of which a legacy was also paid.

Black Hand Pestors Major Beale.

Pittsburg.—The authorities of Leechsburg and the United States Government are conducting a rigid investigation in an effort to learn the identity of alleged Black Hand members who have repeatedly threatened the life of Major Joseph G. Beale, former Congressman and banker of Leechsburg. A number of persons are under surveillance, and arrests are expected shortly.

Good Behavior Does Not Count.

Attorney General M. Hampton Todd has given an opinion to the inspectors of the Western Penitentiary at Pittsburg, in which he holds that commutation taken off a man's first sentence can be added to the third. The question was raised by Dashiell Jurg, of Blair County, who claimed that he was illegally detained because commutation taken off a sentence imposed on him in 1900 and earned by good behavior, was added to his imprisonment for a third offense. He asserted that it should have been added to his second sentence.

Gideon Blouch Dies.

Lebanon.—Gideon Blouch, who for more than half a century quarried the stone for Melly's furnace here, died, aged 77 years. He was prominent as a member of the United Brethren Churchman. He lived in one house for fifty-three years.

Hazleton.—William Watkins, aged 60 years, one of the most prominent citizens in the city, is dead of typhoid fever. He was identified with the Hazleton Electric Light and Power Company.

PROF. MUYON'S PHILANTHROPY

Giving to the Nation a Prize That Money Cannot Buy.

"I would rather preserve the health of a nation than to be its ruler."—Muyon.

This motto, written by Prof. Muyon about sixteen years ago, was the real cornerstone of his medicine business. He felt that the people of the nation were neglecting their health owing to lack of money. With the one thought in view of helping humanity, he started in the medicine business, paying large sums of money to eminent specialists for known and tried formulas that were known to have been successful in curing diseases. After carefully compounding these formulas and putting them up in a marketable condition, he offered them to the public for a few pennies, easily within the reach of the poorest family. He hired eminent specialists at large salaries and offered their services absolutely free to the public to diagnose their cases and advise them what remedies to take. After giving the public all these benefits he was still unsatisfied and offered further to those who were not in reach of the offices which he established throughout the country; he advertised, asking them to write to his specialists for free medical examination, and to-day Prof. Muyon is still following out this policy, and whenever he hears of a new drug or a new formula that is more effective than those that he is at the time compounding, he purchases them regardless of cost.

Prof. Muyon puts up a separate cure for almost every ill, and these remedies can be had at all druggists, mostly 25 cents a bottle. In taking these remedies, you are taking what might be called a sure thing, for he guarantees them to produce satisfactory results or he will refund our money. This is a remarkable man and a remarkable institution, manifestly fair to all, and a firm well recommended.

Prof. Muyon's address is 53rd and Jefferson Sts., Philadelphia, Pa.

AGONIZING ITCHING.
Eczema For a Year—Got No Relief Even at Skin Hospital—In Despair Until Cuticura Cured Him.

"I was troubled by a severe itching and dry, scurfy skin on my ankles, feet, arms and scalp. Scratching made it worse. Thousands of small red pimples formed and these caused intense itching. I was advised to go to the hospital for diseases of the skin. I did so, the chief surgeon saying: 'I never saw such a bad case of eczema.' But I got little or no relief. Then I tried many so-called remedies, but I became so bad that I almost gave up in despair. After suffering agonies for twelve months, I was relieved of the almost unbearable itching after two or three applications of Cuticura Ointment. I continued its use, combined with Cuticura Soap and Pills, and I was completely cured. Henry Searle, Cross St., Little Rock, Ark., Oct. 8 and 19, 1907."

She Had Enough.
As Mrs. May, of Birchdale Corners, was leaving the exhibition hall of the county fair, a man stepped out of a booth and accosted her.

"Won't you enter," said he, "and see the startling specthroscopic scintillations of radium?"
Mrs. May shook her head—with a smile, however, for she is courteous if not scientific.

"I'm obliged to you," she said, "but my bag is chock-full of samples now."—Youth's Companion.
