LOCALS.

The Dixie Jubilee Singers, Monday evening, March 7th.

Rain set in on Monday night. The fall was considerable.

On account of the icy condition of the roads and walks, many people received injuries of greater or less extent from falling.

Henry Kraps, of Aaronsburg, is the lay delegate who will accompany Rev. C. F. Garrett to the conference at Williamsport.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Tyson, of Logan Mills, were guests at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin B. Showers and Mr. and Mrs. Cook Hubler, for a few days.

Mrs. Adam Finkle, of Spring Mills, who has been suffering from a nervous break down, is improving somewhat, but her daughter, Miss Miriam, is now suffering from beatings on her hand.

Andrew J. Crozier, who for a number of years has been living in Bellefonte, engaged in the lumbering business and other pursuits, has rented a farm above that town, and next spring will go to farming.

At the very moment when every woman in the country is thinking of "spring clothes" the Woman's Home Companion appears as a big fashion number and contains a remarkable lot of information as to what will be worn and why.

Alma, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Stoner, at Tusseyville, on her way to school on Monday morning, fell and broke her collar bone, Dr. P. H. Dale reduced the fracture, and since the child has been resting well, and much relieved of the pain.

A number of members of the Ladies Temple, K. G. E., of Centre Hall, drove to Bellefonte Monday evening to attend a meeting of the Bellefonte Temple. They were transported on runners, the four gray horses drawing the jolly Templars being driven by William Bradford.

Lewis Miller, a yard watchman and extra brakeman in the Nittany furnace yards, near Bellefonte, fell under a car and the consequence was one of his feet was so badly crushed that the amputation of the leg between the knee and ankle became necessary. The surgery was performed at the Bellefonte Hospital.

M. F. Rosman, of Tusseyville, gave the Reporter one of those pop calls you hear spoken of, but yet it was long enough to cause the label on his paper to be changed. Some time ago Mr. Rosman was thrown from a sleigh, and he has since been suffering from the effects to some extent, although he is not hindered from moving about as freely as ever.

While climbing over a balustrade surrounding the porch of his house, on Sunday, former Merchant W. H. Meyer had the misfortune to fall, and did so in such a way as to injure one of his legs. It was at first thought that the bone was broken, but examination revealed the injury to be a sprain. He was unable to walk for a few days except by the use of crutches.

Miss Myrtle Henderson, of Harrisburg, died Friday. She will be recalled by many of the young people in Centre Hall, she having visited Miss Virgie Durst and her sister, Mrs. Samuel Goodheart, who was then unmarried, in Centre Hall, together with Miss Grove. The young lady was planning to repeat her visit here the coming summer, and her friends were shocked to learn of her death.

You can buy furniture at Centre Hall cheaper than elsewhere in Centre county. That is what the Bearick furniture man would have you believe, and he is a man of his word. You can have the opportunity to try to disapprove his advertisements by calling at his store, where he will meet you most cordially, and he will be highly pleased to talk furniture to you. The goods he has on hand and the kind he always deals in is of such a grade that he need not turn up the alley to avoid you if you become his customer. Good furniture is some times sold cheap, and then there is cheap furniture that is dear at any price. The Bearick furniture man sells good furniture cheap, much cheaper than it can be bought elsewhere.
