

To Marry Monday.

The marriage of Dr. Halvor Harley, of New Jersey, and Miss Alice May Robinson, of Milesburg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Robinson, will take place in the Presbyterian church, at Milesburg, at twelve o'clock, noon, Monday. The ceremony will be performed by Rev. W. Henry Schuyler, Ph. D., pastor of the Centre Hall Presbyterian church. Mr. Robinson will lead the bride to the altar. There will be no attendants. After the ceremony a reception will be given at the Robinson home.

The young couple will take up their residence at Williamstown, New Jersey, where Dr. Harley will practice his profession.

The acquaintance of the young people was formed at the Presbyterian Hospital, Philadelphia, where Dr. Harley was a physician, and Miss Robinson was taking a regular course in nursing.

Miss Robinson is well known in Centre Hall, where she lived for several years with her parents.

LOCALS.

Fifteen sulky plows for sale—Weber, Centre Hall and Oak Hall.

Rev. J. Max Lamb was returned to the Penns Valley Methodist charge.

Farmer Cloyd Brooks, on Rhoney-mede farm, was taken ill Wednesday morning. He suffers from an affection of the heart.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sankey and son, after a stay of several months in Centre county, returned to their home in Freeport, Illinois.

George H. E. nerick becomes a citizen of Centre Hall today (Thursday) and will occupy his own home purchased sometime ago, and since remodeled.

Frank Goodhart, the right hand man at the Rearick furniture store, delivered a load of furniture to the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Sharer, near Pleasant Gap.

The most valuable cow Harry Fye had in his stable, was dragged out the morning of his sale. The animal had milk fever, and she was killed to be put out of misery.

W. O. Gramley, at Spring Mills, will sell two driving horses, five fine Jersey cows, shoats, and farm implements and household goods at public sale, Saturday, April 16.

Perry K. Detwiler, of Farmers Mills, was a caller Wednesday morning and advertised letters testamentary on the estate of his father, the late Jacob Detwiler, of Gregg township.

Mrs. Marion Bauer, wife of the late Nicholas Bauer, died Friday evening at the home of her son, V. J. Bauer, after an illness of a few days with pneumonia, aged eighty-two years. She was the daughter of Dennis McCafferty, and had spent the most of her life in Bellefonte.

The Centre Hall railroad station is to be enlarged by extending the building to the rear some twenty feet. The waiting room will be enlarged, and so will also the office of Station Master Bradford. While this will be an improvement, Centre Hall needs better station facilities than are contemplated. The waiting room, and there is but one, is oftentimes overcrowded, and conditions are frequently disagreeable to ladies who are obliged to sit there. The contemplated improvements will add facilities for handling freight, but the public will be served little better than heretofore.

Glen Iron Merchant's Rash Act.

Tuesday morning, about six o'clock, Lemuel Pesenden, a Glen Iron merchant, ended his life by shooting himself while in his sleeping room. He had acted strangely for several weeks. He was prominently connected with the local affairs in his community. He leaves a wife and four children. He was aged forty-eight years.

"The Girl from Rectors."

Everybody has heard of "The Girl from Rectors," and now everybody will have an opportunity to see her, for she will be at Garman's opera house, Bellefonte, Tuesday evening, March 29th. At Weber's music hall, in New York, this play ran for an entire season.

Louie Sedaine is "The Girl from Rectors," a merry, dancing, dashing slip of humanity. Of course, she is in love.

Frazier-Krape.

At the Reformed parsonage, at Centre Hall, by Rev. Daniel Gr ss, on Tuesday afternoon, James Runkle Frazier, of Centre Hall, and Miss Mollie E. Krape, of Bellefonte, were united in marriage.

TO FIND FAULT.

People Are Sometimes Paid For That Express Purpose.

You have no idea how many things are wrong in a big business until you are paid to look for them, writes Gellert Burgess in Collier's. There were the clocks, for one thing, when I first began. The girls wore too many rats in their hair, there was grease on the elevator doors, expensive hats were dumped one on another, the ventilation was bad, the boxes on the shelves showed from the street through the show windows and about a thousand other things. Then Spindelheim sold teapots just like our eighteen cent ones for 14 cents, and for a concern like Smith & Co. to be undersold is fatal. There's really nothing that so enrages Mr. Smith; also Rubinstein's window dresser has beaten ours, too, at times. Down it goes in my little report. Wouldn't any woman love my job.

Yes, it's fun to be paid for being a misanthrope, but it's hard work too. At 9 o'clock I begin my promenade through the store—downstairs, upstairs, basement, attic and annex. If a girl at the counter has dirty finger nails or too wide a pompadour to suit me I stop and talk pleasantly, buy 9 cents' worth of edging and so get her number from the sales slip. She never knows anything about it till her superintendent gives her a scolding the next day. I have eyes like a hawk and a nose like a hound and ears like a small boy under the sofa when a young man's calling on big sister. In ten minutes I have spotted the dust in the corner of the aisle, a girl who wears brass bracelets, a porter who is not attending to his duty, a badly arranged counter, an error in spelling on a placard, two store detectives loafing on their job and a hideous combination of colors in the front window. I go to the ladies' room and make a note of these things surreptitiously. I don't dare go there too often, though, for fear I'll be identified, so sometimes I run back to my office, two blocks away. So it goes till about 4 o'clock, hither and thither, high and low, looking for trouble. It doesn't do a clerk any good to be uncivil to me, I can tell you, or to make me wait too long for my change, but I try to be fair, and if I find a particularly willing and considerate sales person down that name goes in my report too. You might suppose that there'd be good graft in that; but, of course, I keep my position only so long as the head of the firm has absolute confidence in my integrity. The funny part of it is that the more I complain the better he likes it. I'm like the opposition party in congress. I'm never satisfied. When I am I'll have to look for another position.

At 4 o'clock I go back to my little office and dictate my report from my notes to a stenographer, and when it's typewritten I send it to the head of the firm.

When "Fluck" Was Slang.

The word "pluck" affords an instance of the way in which slang words in the course of time become adopted into current English. We now meet with "pluck" and "plucky" as the recognized equivalents of "courage" and "courageous." An entry in Sir Walter Scott's "Journal" shows that in 1827 the word had not yet lost its low character. He says (volume 2, page 30), "Want of that article blackguardly called pluck." Its origin is obvious. From early times the heart has been popularly regarded as the seat of courage. Now, when a butcher lays open a carcass he divides the great vessels of the heart, cuts through the windpipe and then plucks out together the united heart and lungs—lights, he calls them—and he terms the united mass "the pluck."—London Notes and Queries.

Alcohol not needed

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is not a strong drink. As now made, there is not a drop of alcohol in it. It is a non-alcoholic tonic and alterative. Ask your own doctor about your taking this medicine for thin, impure blood. Follow his advice every time. He knows.

Ask your doctor, "What is the first great rule of health?" Nine doctors out of ten will quickly reply, "Keep the bowels regular." Then ask him another question, "What do you think of Ayer's Pills for constipation?"

Marlin

Big Game Repeating Rifles

The great thing in big game rifles is sureness to work under all conditions. Marlin rifles are built with this idea foremost.

The mechanism is simple, strong, perfectly adjusted, quick and easy in operation.

The Marlin solid top and side ejector keep a protecting wall of metal between your head and the cartridge, prevent powder and gas blowing back, throw the shells away from you and allow instant, accurate, effective repeat shots.

The Special Smokeless Steel barrels are hard and strong, especially made for high power cartridges and to resist the wear of jacketed bullets. They are rifled deep on the Ballard system for greatest accuracy and killing power.

Made in Models '33 and '35, calibres .25 to .45, and fully described and illustrated (with all other Marlin repeaters) in our 136-page catalog. Free for $3 stampage postage.
