ANNOUNCEMENT.

To THE EDITOR—I hereby announce myself a candidate for Congress in the 21st Pennsylvania district, subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the primaries to be held June 4, 1910. I make this announcement and enter the contest in compliance with the earnest request of many prominent members of the party in the district and also because I believe that in Congress, if elected, I would be in a position to effectively advocate those principles and measures of good Government, which more than ever, should be embodied in Federal legislation. I believe in clean politics and progressive Roosevelt policies. And to the end that I may serve their best interests, I ask the support of the Republicans of this district.

Tuberculosis Sunday.

Next Sunday, in the churches of the land, the pulpit generally will lend itself to assisting in the battle against tuberculosis. In accord with the plan of the National Association for the Study and prevention of Tuberculosis, many of the sermons of next Sunday will have to do with the work of the crusaders against the white plague. All this that the people may the better appreciate both the need of helping in this crusade and the opportunity of so doing.

If people could only realize how much more pleasant it is to smile and speak a kind word, than to frown and criticize, the troubles of this life would be fewer. There are drops and salves and plasters for the cure of all diseases; There are cures for everything from love to sin; There are formulas compounded for most any way you are wounded, but the only cure for trouble is to grin.
