

The Northern Conference.

The meeting of the Northern Conference of the Central Pennsylvania Synod convened in the church of the Holy Cross, Georges Valley, Tuesday evening, May 31st, and adjourned the following Thursday evening. The entire conference was inspiring and helpful. The opening sermon was preached by Rev. F. W. Barry, of Bellefonte, the president of conference, in which were set forth many good and abiding things revealed through the Son. On Wednesday morning Article 10 of the Augsburg Confession was ably set forth by Rev. J. M. Rearick, of Salona. Christianity enters into one's entire life, modifies the pleasures, giving honorable principles in business and pleading for honesty in public and private life. The sermon preceding the holy communion was delivered by Rev. W. M. Rearick, of Millinburg. The first subject in the afternoon was treated by Rev. J. I. Stonecypher. He brought out with much force and clearness that which binds people to a church is Christ and all that he revealed of the Godhead. Condemning words were spoken against those who used the church for some belittling use, i. e., as to show their personal leadership, or to win personal admiration, or because they personally loved the minister. It was shown in the second subject that a church paper was a great good both to the laity and to the ministry. It educates the member in the dire needs of his church. It gives him a keener conception of spiritual things and in this way lightens the work of the minister, as well as aids in the benevolent work of the church.

The thought of the evening was ecstasification. In this method was shown to exist the very highest power of winning individuals for the Christ and to enable them to live for him in the years to come.

Thursday was a day of special privileges to all those who attended the sessions of the conference; every subject was splendidly treated and was a feast in itself. "The Church Member's Relation to the Temperance Movement" was set forth in an attractive manner by Rev. C. R. Allenbach, the secretary of conference. It would have been well if many more could have heard it. It was shown that the old Keystone state must be classed with the wild and woolly states of the west in its stand for the rum business, and this is made possible by the unfaithful church member. Are we desirous of receiving God's condemnation? Let us smite the monster, and receive his benediction.

The president set forth in clear terms the great "Laymen's Missionary Movement" which has stirred the christian world to the very core with its plea to save the world in this generation, and the assurance that it can be done if you and you will help. Rev. F. S. Shultz struck some blows from the shoulder in treating the subject, "Spiritual Methods of Giving." It was shown that gifts in the christian world to day are made while consulting our own will and thus stunting we give. This is not God's bidding, and thus his blessing is withheld in this portion of our service. The closing sermon in the evening was delivered to a large and appreciative audience by Rev. J. M. Rearick, who declared that service and following Jesus are the highest types in christian living.
