

DEATHS

After being a patient sufferer for the past three years and partially helpless as the result of paralysis Israel Cori died at his home at Struble Friday morning of last week. He was a son of Benjamin and Elizabeth Cori and was born near Woodward seventy-four years ago. When but four years old his parents moved to Ferguson township and located at what is now Pine Hall, where young Israel assisted in clearing the land that has been the family homestead ever since and where he spent all the rest of his life. His occupation was naturally that of a farmer and he was quite successful.

In March, 1860, he was married to Miss Harriet McBeth who survives with the following children: G. Edward, John, Elmer, Benjamin and Charles, at home; Mrs. Scott Meese, Mrs. Otis Hoy, Mrs. Susan Resides, of State College, and Mrs. H. M. Walker, of Fairbrook. Of his father's family there is now left one son, Peter Cori, of Struble, and a daughter, Mr. Daniel Houser, of Centre Hall.

On Wednesday morning George B. Weaver died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Sidney Krumrine, at Rebersburg, where he made his home since the death of his wife, a few years ago. He was eighty-eight years old, and death was largely due to his advanced years. Interment will be made at Rebersburg, Saturday morning. Rev. Wetzel, the former pastor of the Reformed church at that place, to officiate.

Mr. Weaver was a farmer by occupation, and was one of the well known citizens of Miles township, where he lived during his entire life time. There survive him three children, namely, Mrs. Sidney Krumrine, Mrs. C. L. Gramley, and Miss Della, all of Rebersburg. Mrs. Weaver, now deceased, was Miss Sallie Harper, sister of Simon Harper, of Centre Hall, also deceased.

Alexander Chaney, of Port Matilda, died at his home at the age of seventy-eight years. He was born in Stone Valley, but located at Port Matilda more than forty years ago, and engaged in lumbering and farming, having been a partner in the lumber firm of Chaney & Thompson. His wife, nee Sarah Peters, and three sons—Harry F., of Port Matilda, and H. L. and W. C., of Tyrone—survive.

Henry E. Shreffler died at his home in State College, aged sixty-eight years. He was born in Clinton county, and was a plasterer by trade. During the Civil War he served in Company G, 147th Regiment. A widow, nee Lena Wilt, and one daughter, Mrs. Walter Carson, of Akron, Ohio, survive. The funeral was conducted by Rev. S. A. Snyder.

After an illness from typhoid fever for a period of eight weeks or more. Mrs. Nellie Warne Stuart, wife of David A. Stuart, of Bellevue, formerly of Boalsburg, died last week, and interment was made at Buffalo, New York, on Sunday. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Warne, and was born in Owen Sound, Canada, in 1886, and was married to Mr. Stuart August 18, 1900.

David Keller, a brother of Jacob Keller, of Pine Grove Mills, died at Portstown, Huntingdon county, of paralysis, aged eighty-one years, six months and two days. He was born in Centre county but spent most of his life near McAlevy's Fort.

Mrs. Margaret Miller died at her home in Boalsburg at about ten o'clock Monday evening, after a week's illness. The funeral will be Friday forenoon. Rev. A. A. Black will be the minister. A more extended notice will appear next week.

George D. Bayard, aged forty-one years, died in Altoona. He was a son of the late Col. George A. Bayard, of Bellefonte.

Ex-Sheriff Edgar L. McCloskey, of Clearfield county, died Sunday morning. He was aged fifty-five years.

Festival July 2.

The members of the United Evangelical Sunday-school of Farmers Mills will hold a festival on Saturday evening, July 2d, on the church lawn. Ice cream, cake and other refreshments will be served. The committee invite all to attend.

Pennington-Smith.

Charles Pennington, of State College, and Miss Mary J. Smith, of Bellefonte, were married Wednesday at eleven o'clock a. m., by Rev. Thomas S. Wilcox, pastor of the Methodist church, at the home of Mrs. Mary Smith, mother of the bride. The family and a few of the most intimate friends of the principals were witnesses.

Mr. Pennington is a baker and the young couple will set up housekeeping at State College where he is employed.

Revenge is sweet, until it begins to ferment.

LOCALS

Do not hesitate to send the news to the Reporter. Nothing that is fit to print is refused.

Clarence Raymond, tenant on the Dr. Kidder farm, near Linden Hall, is ill of typhoid fever.

The festival in Grange Arcadia held by Progress Grange, on Saturday evening, was well patronized.

There will be a game of base ball on Grange Park on afternoon of July 4th, and a festival in the evening.

Frank Swab is in hard luck again. Several weeks ago he lost a cow from blood, and later a young bull died from the same cause.

James Gregg was again elected to teach one of the Tyrone schools. The salary attached is $105 per month, which indicates that his efforts are appreciated.

One of the features of the commencement exercises at Albright College, Myerstown, was the announcement that the indebtedness of the institution had been wiped out.

A cottage was erected near the McNitt-Huyett Lumber Company's plant at Waddle, which will be occupied by the family of E. M. Huyett, of Centre Hall, during the hot weather.

Mrs. Flora O. Bairfoot, Miss Bertha Strohmeier and William J. Smith attended the Pennington-Smith wedding in Bellefonte, Wednesday morning. The bride is a sister of the latter.

William H. Lee, of Colyer, was a caller this week at the Reporter office. Mr. Lee always takes a lively interest in the local affairs of Potter township, and this makes him a good supporter of his home paper.

Wednesday Dr. W. H. Schuyler went to Lewistown, and later he will go to New Bloomfield, where he will meet his daughter, Miss Eloise, who has been teaching in the public schools in Cape May.

Miss Elsie May, daughter of Rev. J. Ellis Bell, of York, formerly presiding elder of the Altoona district M. E. church, will be married Tuesday evening, June 28th, at the home of her father, to Lewis Buckingham, of York.

A hail storm passed over a small section of country south of Earlystown, the latter part of last week, and did much damage to the corn and also beat down the oats. W. H. Baird seems to have suffered the most loss from the storm.

Mrs. Herbert A. Yearick, of Sunbury, and Mrs. Forest E. Harter, of Aaronsburg, both daughters of Thomas Scholl, of Aaronsburg, were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Kreamer, in Centre Hall, the latter part of last week.

During the time that Mrs. William Bressler was at the hospital, her little niece, Mary Eva Miller, who is a member of the Bressler household, was cared for by Mrs. D. J. Meyer, in Centre Hall, an act much appreciated by the aunt and the little girl.

The accounts of the campaign expenses of some of the candidates have been filed, and are as follows: Meyer, less than $50.00; Womelsdorf, $158.25; Alexander, $234.24; Peltold, $563.45. Patton used the greater part of his funds in Centre and Clearfield county.

Mrs. J. W. Keller and son Harry, of Linden Hall, were in town Tuesday evening. Mr. Keller is a member of the Junior class, Electrical Engineering Department, at Pennsylvania State College, and is one of the class of students who makes the best possible use of his study hours.

George W. Glace and son Celon, who had been in Clearfield for several weeks were in Centre Hall last week for a day. During the past few years, Mr. Glace and family lived in Maryland, but he has now given up home keeping, the children having located in various sections.

While handling railroad ties, on Saturday, a tie struck John H. Puff on the foot, injuring the member to such an extent that he has since been unable to perform the duties of a railroad section hand. He has been on the "track" for a number of years, but has had few accidents, if any, before.

George R. Meiss, huckster and merchant at Colyer, is giving the poultry business attention on the side. He now is growing something like seven hundred white Leghorn chicks, all of which, except two hundred, were hatched by hens. Mr. Meiss is a hustler, and if there is anything in the poultry business he will find it.

Deputy Sheriff James B. Strohm, accompanied by Mrs. Strohm, are in Phillipsburg, New Jersey, to which place they went about ten days ago with their daughter, Mrs. A. E. Person, who paid them a short visit here. Mr. Strohm is receiving treatment, and a letter to friends here indicates that his condition has slightly improved, which bit of encouragement is very gladly received.

John E. Gettig, of Braddock, left his home very mysteriously the latter part of last week, and when found in Fort Wayne, Ind., a few days later, his mind seemed to be a blank. He was brought back to the home of his brother, J. A. Gettig, at Braddock, where he is now being cared for. Mr. Gettig is a bookkeeper and is the youngest in the Gettig family, who were former residents of near Tusseyville.

An interesting illustration of the Two Traits of Monkeys.

An illustration showing the difference between instinct and reason in monkeys came under the observation of David Starr Jordan, the famous naturalist. At one time he had two lively Macacus monkeys called Bob and Jocko. These were nut and fruit eating monkeys and instinctively knew just how to crack nuts and peel fruits. At the same time he had a baby monkey, Mono, of a kind that had the egg eating instinct. But Mono had never yet seen an egg.

To each of the three monkeys Dr. Jordan gave an egg, the first that any of them had ever seen. Baby Mono, descended from egg eating ancestors, handled his egg with all the inherited expertness of a long developed instinct. He cracked it with his upper teeth, making a hole in it, and sucked out all its substance. Then, holding the eggshell up to the light and seeing there was no longer anything in it, he threw it away. All this he did mechanically, automatically and just as well with the first egg as with any other he afterward had. And all eggs since given him he has treated in the same way.

The monkey Bob took his egg for some kind of nut. He broke it with his teeth and tried to pull off the shell. When the inside ran out and fell on the ground he looked at it for a moment in bewilderment, then with both hands scooped up the yolk and the sand mixed with it and swallowed it. Then he stuffed the shell into his mouth. This act was not instinct; it was reason. He was not familiar with inherited instinct with eggs. He would handle one better next time, however. Reason very often makes mistakes at first, but when it is trained it becomes a means far more valuable and powerful than instinct.

The third monkey, Jocko, tried to eat his egg in much the same way that Bob did; but, not liking the taste, he threw it away.—St. Nicholas.

EASY MONEY.

Picked Up by the Sharp Chap Who Bet on a Word.

Just by way of showing how easy it is for some men to pick up a few dollars by their wits a young fellow strolled into a cafe the other afternoon and, joining in conversation that was being carried on by convivial spirits, declared he was the most "fortunate" individual on earth. He immediately began telling a story of his personal troubles, but before he had got the narrative well under way there was a chorus of interruptions, and the talkative young man was politely informed that his English needed revising, since he should have used the word "unfortunate" instead of "fortunate."

The newcomer insisted that unfortunate was the correct word to use, and the argument waxed warm. Finally, with a show of heat, the young man who started the trouble declared that while he had only a few dollars he would wager them that he was correct.

So anxious were his friends to lay wagers with him that he did not have money enough to meet all the demands, but he succeeded in putting up $15 in separate small bets. The men who were certain that the garrulous young man was wrong in the use of the word unfortunate sent out for a dictionary only to find that they had been "stung" on a "sure thing" bet. The big book on spelling showing that unfortunate is perfectly proper and means unfortunate.

"Yes," said the winner of the bets as he pocketed his new portion of wealth, "I have won money on that before. I collected $10 this afternoon on a similar wager."—Philadelphia Record.

THE HAYING SEASON IS COMING ON

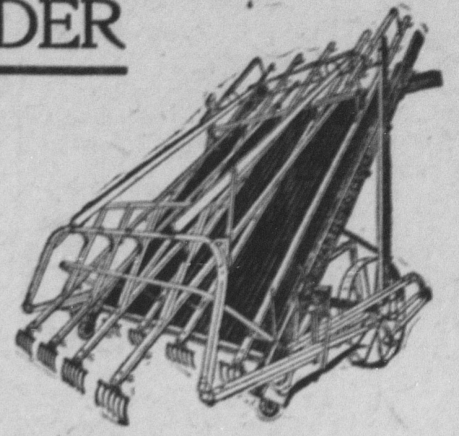

and we present to you a few hay tools and assure you that it will be well worth your while to investigate the merits of them. Special attention is called to the

"GEARLESS" HAY LOADER

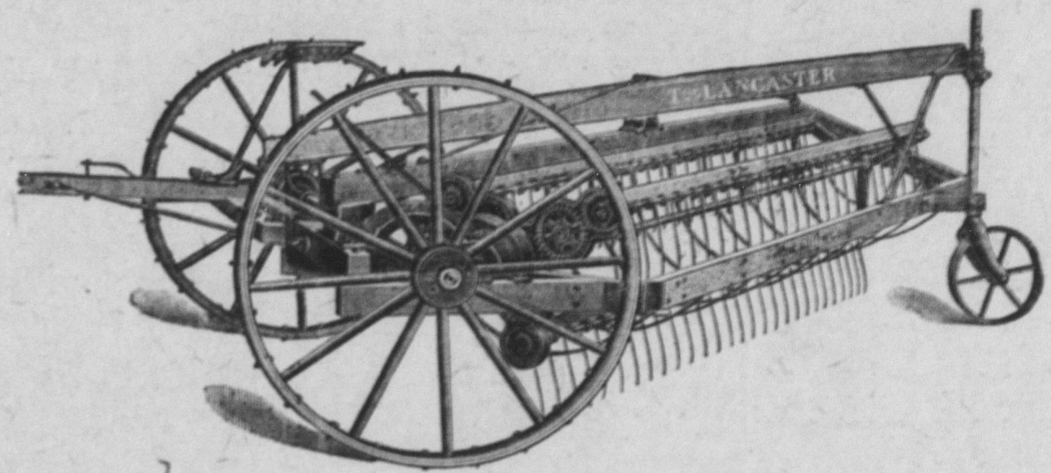

Its name describes it—it is gearless, and has no gears to break, clog up, chains and sprockets to break, run off and cause no end of trouble. The long easy stroke delivers the hay whether heavy or light, on the wagon in better shape without chewing it up, without tearing off the lever or without threshing out the seed as other loaders do.

The GEARLESS Hay Loader is not the cheapest hay loader you can buy, but it is the best one. They are worth more than is asked for them.

The GEARLESS does its own loading; it pushes the hay well up onto the wagon; it does not need a watchman to keep it from clogging. The Gearless is sold on its merits, because it never fails to perform the work it is sold to do. The Gearless will pick up and load winrows and hay cocks which other machines cannot handle.

The "Lancaster" Side Delivery Hay Rake

In the Lancaster Side Delivery Hay Rake are combined all the good points and avoided all the faults of those that have gone before. It is simple, durable, well made, easily operated.

The Lancaster rake gathers up the hay into a continuous, loose and fluffy windrow, through which the hay freely passes.

The Lancaster rake is driven from the main axle; the power is all utilized in the working of the rake, nothing is lost in complicated machinery.

By the use of three sets of raking bars there is obtained slow speed, which is especially desirable in raking clover. The machine will rake clean the shortest blue grass as well as the heaviest timothy or clover.
