Forty And A Bank Balance. Writing of a popular artist of the day who happens to be unmarried, a contributor to one of the current magazines says: "In these days a man doesn't indulge in matrimony until he has achieved 40 and a fat bank balance."

What folly! When will writers stop attributing to mankind in general the thoughts and habits which pertain only to an insignificant minority? The average man, if he marries at all, "indulges in matrimony" long before he is 40 and still longer before he has a "fat bank balance." It matters comparatively little to him, or to his wife, if she is as sensible as she ought to be whether the fat bank balance ever matures. And both of them are unfortunate if marriage is postponed, unnecessarily till either reaches the age of 40.

At 40 a man ought to have children approaching graduation from the high school. He may even have a son in college; the better for him if he has. A comfortable balance at the bank is an admirable attribute to any home, but it is not so important as that the home be established. If men postponed matrimony till they were 40 and were listed in Bradstreet's—well, what sort of a world would this be, anyway?—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A DETERMINED WOMAN

Finally Found a Food That Cured Her.

"When I first read of the remarkable effects of Grape-Nuts food, I determined to secure some," says a woman of Salisbury, Mo. "At that time there was no one in this town, but my husband ordered some from a Chicago traveler. I had been greatly afflicted with sudden attacks of cramps, nausea, and vomiting. Tried all sorts of remedies and physicians, but obtained only temporary relief. As soon as I began to use the new food the cramps disappeared and have never returned. My old attacks of sick stomach were a little slower to yield, but by continuing the food, that trouble has disappeared entirely. I am to-day perfectly well, can eat anything and everything I wish, without paying the penalty that I used to. We would not keep house without Grape-Nuts. My husband was so delighted with the benefits I received that he has been recommending Grape-Nuts to his customers and has built up a very large trade on the food. He sells them by the case to many of the leading physicians of the county, who recommend Grape-Nuts very generally. There is some satisfaction in using a really scientifically prepared food."

COMMERCIAL

Weekly Review of Trade and Market Reports.

Bradstreet's says:—Unseasonably cool weather still arrests retail trade and retards crop progress in the northern half of the country, and trade is quiet in the southern districts, though cotton and fruit crops there are making progress. Jobbing trade reports reflect quiet in consumptive demand in a moderate volume of orders, which are classed as fairly frequent, but small in the aggregate. Fall trade as a whole still hesitates, pending clearer views of crop and price outcome. Industrial reports point to considerable curtailment of output proceeding from uncertainty as to the latter. Collections range from slow to fair. The temporary settlement of the railway rate troubles and the postponement of advances in this item of cost of business operation have given a brighter tinge to feeling in some basic industries. The week's price movement is toward a slightly higher range reflecting largely crop uncertainty as regards the cereals and bullish operations in the remaining old crop cotton months, but the monthly returns of price movement point to a continuance of the readjustment of commodity values on a lower level, where high cost will not, as in the past, automatically check consumption.

Future trade in cotton goods is backward, with operations cautious. There is considerable shopping around for lower prices, with a rather light business in the aggregate resulting. Curtailment of operations is still in evidence, some estimates of the reduced volume being in the neighborhood of 30 per cent. In woolen goods trade is also backward, and there is some idle machinery. Sole leather is steadily bought on local and export account. Upper leather is quiet, and tanners are reported curtailing operations. Bad weather restricts trade in shoes. Pig iron is more active but prices are weaker.

FIVE YEARS OF PAIN.

A Tale of Terrible Kidney Suffering.

Mrs. J. F. Kibble, 62 Stevens St., Wellsville, N. Y., says: "I cannot describe the suffering I endured from kidney trouble for over five years. My back was so lame and painful I could not turn in bed without assistance, nor raise my arms above my head. I often became so dizzy that I fell. The kidney secretions were dark, thick and scalded. I received no relief until I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. My improvement was so rapid that my family did not think it would be lasting. In six weeks I could do a hard day's work with ease."

More Heat In Soft Woods.

Contrary to a widespread belief that hardwoods give more heat in burning than soft varieties, the scientists at Washington are contending that the greatest heating power is possessed by the wood of the linden tree, which is very soft.

Fir stands next to linden and almost equal to it. Then comes pine, hardly inferior to fir and linden, while hard oak possesses eight per cent. less heating capacity than linden, and red beech ten per cent. less.

Man Who Worries.

The late George W. Childs, of this city, gave utterance to at least one philosophic thought that should be cherished. He said: "I hear of men being 'overworked,' of being 'worked to death.' Don't believe it. No man was ever 'worked' to his grave, but many thousands are driven there by 'worry.'"

That is the thing to avoid. It is the very important thing that parents of children, inheriting a neuroasthenic tendency, should keep in mind. We can't, all of us, put aside by sheer effort of will the anxious or distressing thoughts which follow upon the rising to the setting of the sun, but we can cultivate or be taught the habit. And to learn not to worry is well worth while.

A good way, just now, for the man of frowning brow and dark-some mind, is to take himself and his suitcase in hand and go back to the scenes of his earlier and unsophisticated life. We advise him to go penitentially and in modest, sober mood, to take his way alone through the woods to the meadow where the cowpath winds—the route that has mint and pennyroyal all along it, and the ineffable and indescribable aroma of the sweet, clean animal life that has traversed and made it. He may suddenly come to a stream (that widens into a swimming "hole." If that should be, let him, by all means, doff his worry—with his clothes—and renew his youth.—Philadelphia Press.

His Changing Calling. Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, the government food expert, was talking of a "new" sort of food preservative. "They are all the same thing under different names," he said. It reminded him of the old caretaker of an Episcopal church, of whom he once heard.

This old fellow, as he sat on a tomb in the churchyard, dismissed as trivial the question of his proper title.

"The good old creed keeps the same for all," he said, "though they may change the words they use. Look at me, here. I used to be the janitor. Then we had a parson who called me the sexton. Dr. Thirly give me the name of virgin. And the young man we've got now says I'm the sacrifice."—Youth's Companion.
