The Fourth at Colyer.

The glorious Fourth of July will be celebrated in the usual style, the headquarters being at G. R. Meiss's store. The celebration will continue during the afternoon and evening. There will be an elaborate display of fire works, and, of course, choice refreshments. Everybody is invited to attend and participate in the festivities.

LOCALS.

M. B. Duck, one of Gregg township's most respected citizens, was in Centre Hall on Tuesday. He was accompanied by his son, A. Duck, and Master McCool.

Rev. J. Max Lantz, wife and daughter, and Prof. C. E. Ziegler wife and son Paul, of Spring Mills, spent last Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Moore, west of Centre Hall.

A summer effect that is decidedly pleasing pervades the July number of The Ladies' World, just received. The fiction, of which there seems even more than usual, is bright and entertaining.

Rev. S. L. Stiver, principal of the Bunker Hill Military Academy, at Bunker Hill, Illinois, continues in a very critical condition. There are no prospects for his recovery, according to the latest advices.

One night last week a slight fire occurred at the temporary saw mill of Neff Brothers, at the round barn, west of Old Fort. A number of shingle blocks were burned, a spark from the engine having evidently lodged among the blocks during the day.

Daniel Smith, who is making his home with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Daup in Centre Hall, had the misfortune to step on a nail, which penetrated his foot to a great depth. The injury was dressed by the family physician, and if no further complications arise, the lad will be about as usual in a short time.

Mrs. Samuel B. Beyer, of Tyrone, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Bartholomew, in Centre Hall, during the beginning of this week. Mr. Beyer is a member of the firm of Beyer Brothers and Son, who conduct a planing mill in Altoona, and is the firm in whose office Miss Helen Bartholomew was a bookkeeper prior to teaching in the public schools in Centre Hall.

R. B. Spangler and bride, of Barnesboro, and Prof. and Mrs. J. D. P. Smithgall and little daughter, of Austin, are expected at the home of Mrs. Annie Spangler, in Centre Hall this week. The former is her youngest son, and Mrs. Smithgall is a granddaughter, and, of course, the little one a great-granddaughter. It will be a happy little reunion, especially since it is the little one's first visit here.

Charles D. Bartholomew who is making a success in the poultry business, is aiming to secure at all times the highest prices for eggs, and to do so is shipping strictly fresh laid eggs in cartons holding one dozen each. These cartons unfold and show two rows of pockets, each large enough to hold one egg. On the exterior is printed "Centre Hall Poultry Farm, C. D. Bartholomew, proprietor." Customers buying eggs in these cartons know just where they come from, and by furnishing strictly fresh eggs, a customer once secured will not fail to ask for the same brand of eggs in the future.

W. O. Gramley and William Sinkabine, of Penn Hall, mixed a bit of business outside of Woodman affairs in their visit to Centre Hall Monday evening. Mr. Gramley is one of the rural route mail carriers from Spring Mills, and also is a dairyman, and with the view in mind of feeding the ten or more cows he expects to secure between this and fall the best possible milk producing feeds, he called at the Reporter's barn to examine the first crop of alfalfa hay cut this summer and purchased the same at $14.50 per ton, at the barn. Mr. Gramley fed several tons of this kind of hay last winter, and was so highly pleased with the results that he was ready to make a purchase as soon as he was convinced that the quality of the hay was up to the standard.

DEATHS.

John Wolf was born at Sprucetown Potter township, August 21st, 1824, and died near the place of his birth, June 26, 1910, making his age eighty-five years, nine months and twenty-eight days.

Interment was made at Sprucetown, Wednesday morning, Rev. S. A. Snyder and Rev. J. Max Lantz, officiating; services were held at the house.

Mr. Wolf belongs to one of the oldest families in Potter township. The family in Penns Valley was founded by Peter Wolf, the great-grandfather of the subject of this sketch, who came here from Carlisle in the latter part of the seventeenth century. He had previously visited Centre county, and being impressed with the locality, he returned to Cumberland county, sold his property there and again came back to Centre county, but having received Continental money for his Cumberland county property, he discovered on reaching Penns Valley that the money had no purchasing power. He located on the farm now owned by Dr. P. C. Frank, near Egg Hill, a portion of which tract is now the property of the estate of Mr. Wolf. The large tract of land settled on by Peter Wolf was deeded to his son, Abraham Wolf, in 1810.

Abraham Wolf was married in Cumberland county to Miss Shaufner, and to them were born seven children—Catharine, who first married John Hennigh, and later to Philip Grove; Peter, father of the subject of this sketch; Peggy, married to John Decker; Jacob, died in Illinois; Polly K., married James McBride, died in Venango county; John, died in Kansas; he was twice married, the first wife being Mary Wagner. She and her infant daughter were buried at Sprucetown, being laid in the same grave, the second interment in the Egg Hill cemetery; Elizabeth married Samuel Friese.

Peter Wolf, the father, was a weaver. He married Sallie Ream, of Penn township, and located on the old homestead. Mrs. Wolf died in 1831. The children born during their marriage were: Mary, who married Samuel Harter; Margaret, wife of George Newcomer, John, the subject of this sketch; George, of Freeport, Illinois; Peter, of Dakota, Illinois.

The second wife was Catharine Kerr. Two children were born to this union, namely, Leah, who died in youth, and Mrs. Thomas Toot.

When seventeen years of age Mr. Wolf learned the cabinet makers trade with Samuel Harter, in Millheim. In 1845 he went to Pittsburg and from there by boat to Cincinnati in quest of employment. From Ohio he assisted in taking a number of horses to Washington, D. C., and from there returned to Potter township on foot. In 1846 he again returned to the west, traveling overland, and reached Freeport, Illinois, and a year later again returned to Penns Valley.

In 1852 Mr. Wolf married Rebecca P. Sankey, of Clinton county. She became the mother of three children, namely, Virginia, married David R. Sweetwood; James who died at the age of thirty-three years; and Mrs. S. R. Kamp, of Lock Haven. The second wife was Jennie Kohler, to whom one child, Mary M., wife of John Blauser, was born.

Two years after his first marriage he moved to the farm of his father, now owned by William G. Roseman, in the western part of Potter township, and in 1865 purchased a portion of the Wolf homestead, near Sprucetown, on which he lived until 1890, when he moved to an adjoining home.

In 1856 he cast one of the only two votes deposited in Potter township for Fremont; later he became a Prohibitionist, and finally accepted Socialistic views.

Mrs. Frances Forster, of Aaronsburg, died Saturday at her home, in her seventy-seventh year. She was born in Pottsville, and lived there until she was twelve years old, when her father moved to Aaronsburg. Her maiden name was Graham, and on her mother's side she descended from the well known Duncan family of Penns Valley. In 1861 she was married to John Forster, a merchant of Millheim, where they dwelt until his death in 1865. Mrs. Forster then returned to Aaronsburg, where she has since lived. Two children survive—Mazie and John W. She was buried on Wednesday in the Reformed cemetery. The services were in charge of Rev. W. H. Schuyler, pastor of the Spring Mills Presbyterian church, of which Mrs. Forster had long been a faithful member. Rev. Schuyler was assisted by Rev. B. R. M. Sheeder, pastor of the Aaronsburg Lutheran church.

Mrs. Forster was an excellent woman, respected and loved by all who knew her. Her house was a most delightful home where friends loved to visit her, and she will be greatly missed not only by her children but by a wide circle of relatives, friends and neighbors.

DEATHS.

Wednesday morning at nine o'clock, Harrison Knarr died very suddenly at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Charles Kuhn, near Boalsburg, aged seventy-five years. He had been in his usual good health up to that hour, when he became suddenly ill and later passed away.

Funeral services will be held at Boalsburg, Saturday afternoon, Rev. J. I. Stonecypher, of the Lutheran church at Boalsburg, officiating.

Mr. Knarr is survived by the following children: Charles, of Oklahoma; Alfred S., of Parsons, Kansas; William H. of Greensburg; Mrs. Bartley, of Bellefonte; Mrs. Charles Kuhn, of Boalsburg; Mrs. M. I. Stover, of Altoona, and Mrs. S. E. Kimpfort, of State College.

Ziegler-Wieland.

Rev. Lewis Robb, D. D., united in marriage John F. Ziegler, of Altoona, and Miss Gertrude Wieland, of Oak Hall Station, Saturday, June 25th, at the parsonage of the Trinity Reformed church, Wilkesburg. They will go to housekeeping in Altoona. The groom as well as the bride is a Centre countyman, the groom being a native of Gregg township, and the bride of Harris township. Mr. Ziegler holds a clerkship with the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, and is well known to the readers of the Centre Reporter, having contributed numerous articles for its columns. Mrs. Ziegler was for a number of years a teacher in the public schools of Centre county.

The Reporter extends congratulations, and wishes the couple a long, happy and prosperous life.

Accept Murphy's Opinions.

Of all the fight experts who are at Reno covering the Johnson-Jeffries fight, none has attracted as much attention as Mike Murphy, the world-famous trainer of athletes. He is there for the Philadelphia North American, and when he pronounced James J. Jeffries in fit condition to give a battle to his huge colored antagonist, the opinion was flashed all over the country and quoted by all writers, because it is known that in the matter of physical condition his word is final.

Murphy's training articles will appear daily in The North American, including Sunday and Monday morning. On Tuesday morning will appear his comment on the fight.
