CHURCH APPOINTMENTS.

Reformed—No service. Lutheran—Georges Valley, morning; Union, afternoon; Centre Hall, evening. United Evangelical—Tusseyville, morning; Egg Hill, afternoon. In order to give everybody an opportunity to attend the service held in the Presbyterian church at Centre Hall, in the interest of the Anti-Saloon League, the service announced for the United Evangelical church coming Sunday evening is hereby recalled.—S. A. SNEYDER, Pastor.

LOCALS.

Over an inch of rain fell on Monday and up to noon on Wednesday the fall was 0.73 inches more.

From the Millinburg Telegraph: Thomas O. Gutelius was a business visitor to Centre Hall the latter part of last week.

Misses Eleanor Cook, of Bellefonte, and Mary Campbell, of Linden Hall, were guests at the home of Henry McCracken, at Rock Springs, last week.

Mrs. B. F. Bieber and little daughter accompanied Rev. Bieber to his home, near Montandon, and from there went to visit relatives in an adjoining county.

Mrs. Keifer and daughter, Miss Gertrude, of Youngwood, were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Brungart in Centre Hall. Miss Cora Brungart accompanied them to Youngwood where she will be the guest of her sister, Mrs. Getchell.

Rev. Charles T. Aikens, D. D., president of the Susquehanna University, at Selingsgrove, filled the appointments on Sunday for Rev. B. F. Bieber, at Centre Hall, Tusseyville and Spring Mills. Rev. Bieber preached at several appointments on the charge at his old home.

A. Miles Arney [arrived from Niagara Falls, on Sunday morning, and will remain here during his vacation granted by the concern that employs him as an electrician in one of America's largest electric power plants. Mrs. Arney and children have been here for some time.

Dr. D. J. Mitterling, of Madison, South Dakota, in the absence of the regular pastor, Dr. W. H. Schuyler, held services in the Presbyterian church Sunday evening. As is always the case, when it is known that Dr. Mitterling will preach in this locality, he had a large audience, and they were well rewarded.

Misses O'pha Gramley and Mabel Allison, of Spring Mills, are camping at Camp BoNarr, in Clearfield county, with some fifty other young people from all sections of the state. The camp is a beautiful site, and is on the farm of Prof. Watts, the orchardist, who is connected with Pennsylvania State College, also a farmer's institute lecturer.

Rev. Daniel Gress is back to Chautauque, New York, again and is completing his vacation there. He was called home twice on account of deaths among his members—first for Mr. Wagner, and the following week for Mrs. Grove. Before returning the last time Mr. Keller died, making three deaths in his church family during his vacation.

Christ Alexander, of Coburn, was a caller Tuesday and announced that the Elizabeth Brown farm, west of Centre Hall, tenanted by Franklin Moyer, would be sold at public sale, Thursday, September 8th, at one o'clock, on the premises. A well has just been completed on the place. It was drilled to a depth of one hundred and forty-seven feet, and when the pump was put in the water had risen some sixty feet.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Bowersox, of Pine Grove Mills, were in Centre Hall Thursday of last week, and called on the Reporter during the editor's absence. Mr. Bowersox has been a patron of the Centre Reporter for many years, beginning when the paper was printed in the German language and published in Aaronsburg. He is a prominent citizen of Ferguson township, and recently purchased a $4000 home in State College, formerly the Ewing place.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Spangler and children, of Chicago, Illinois, are at the home of the former's father, W. W. Spangler, in Centre Hall, and will remain for about two weeks. Before returning, of course, they will also visit Potter Mills the old home of Mrs. Spangler, who before marriage was Miss Wilkinson. Mr. Spangler, for ten years, has been in the office of the Chicago and Northern Railroad Company, in Chicago, and is the youngest of three brothers located in the city named, all of whom are a credit to Potter township, which district has many young men in the west who are prominent citizens in their respective localities.

Rosmar Wright

At the home of the bride, at Belleville, near Reading, Prof. John G. Rosman and Annie A. Bright were married Wednesday of last week. The affair was a quiet one, and was witnessed only by the immediate family of the bride.

After a brief stay at Delaware Water Gap, Mr. and Mrs. Rosman came to Spring Mills, where they will remain for a short time. By the 25th of this month they will be at home at Stuttgart, Arkansas, where Mr. Rosman will enter upon his duties as a professor in the Stuttgart Training School.

The bride is the sister of Prof. John A. Bright, who so successfully taught the Walker Township High School and is an accomplished young lady. The groom is the eldest son of Merchant and Mrs. H. F. Roseman, of Spring Mills. He is a graduate of Franklin and Marshall College, at Lancaster, and has held several important positions as instructor in educational institutions. At Stuttgart he will resume his former position in the institution named.

The Reporter extends to the young couple its best wishes, and hopes they always will be able to enjoy the good in this life.

HARD WORK.

Sam's Desperate Effort at Composing a Love Letter.

To one old southern negro in New York the difficulties of letter composition seemed well nigh insurmountable. The old fellow, as a writer in the Atlanta Constitution relates, asked his "boss," Colonel Verger, to write a letter for him to his sweetheart.

"All right, Sam, I'll do it," agreed the colonel.

"Has yer got de paper and de ink and de pen ready, sah?"

"Yes, Sam. Go ahead."

"Write Thompson street, New York."

"All right."

"Has yer got hit written?"

"Yes."

"All ob hit?"

"Certainly."

"What has yer got written? Read it to me, boss."

"Thompson street, New York."

"Dat's right. Now write May de fourteenf."

"Yes."

"Has yer got hit down, boss, already?"

"Yes."

"G'way, boss, you're jokin'. Read it to me."

"May 14."

"Mah goodness! You has got hit down all right. Now, boss, read hit all over from de berry beginning."

"Thompson street, New York, May 14."

"Dat's right. Whew! Say, boss, let's res' awhile; I's tired. My head aches like hit was gwinter split."

HE REFORMED.

A Flash of Lightning Made Him See His Evil Ways.

A group of men sitting on the dry goods boxes in front of a country store were discussing big storms.

"There's no use in talking," remarked one of them. "We are all badly scared in a thunderstorm."

"I remember one time when I was sure enough," said another. "It was about a year after I was married, and I was on my way home from town. It began to thunder and lighten when I was about halfway there, and the rain fell in sheets. I stopped under a big tree. I knew that wasn't safe, but I thought I'd risk it."

"In a few minutes the lightning struck a tree about a hundred feet away, and I fell down, either from the shock or from fright. I don't know which to this day. But I got up again, and my hair rose on end when I remembered that I had a plug of tobacco in my pocket."

"What had that to do with it?"

"Nothing but this: My wife didn't know I chewed tobacco. She hated the weed like poison. 'What if I had been killed and that plug of tobacco found in my pocket?' I thought, I think I had the worst fright right then that I ever had in my life."

"Well?"

"Well, before the next flash came I took that plug out of my pocket and threw it as far as I could send it, and I have never chewed tobacco since."

Didn't Teach Him That Trick.

"That's a verry knowing animal o' yours," said a cockney gentleman to the keeper of an elephant.

"Verry," was the cool rejoinder.

"He performs strange tricks and hantics, does he?" inquired the cockney, eying the animal through his glass.

"Surprisn!" retorted the keeper.

"We've learned him to put money in that box you see up there. Try him with half a crown."

The cockney handed the elephant half a crown, and, sure enough, he took it in his trunk and placed it in a box high up out of reach.

"Well, that is verry extraordinary—hastonishing, truly!" said the green one, opening his eyes. "Now let's see him take it out and 'and it back."

"We never learned him that trick," retorted the keeper and then turned away to stir up the monkeys and punch the hyenas.—London Tit-Bits.
