LOCALS

Messrs. John and W. A. Murray paid their brother, D. J. Murray, in Centre Hall a visit.

Miss Blanche Bartges, of Spring Mills, spent several days last week at the home of Charles Burris in Centre Hall.

Rev. and Mrs. David A. Sower, of Pleasant Gap, are visiting at the home of the former's sister, Mrs. Charles Burris, in Centre Hall.

Dr. and Mrs. G. W. Hosterman are in Lancaster and will also visit at other points. The dental parlor will be closed until October 1st.

D. J. Meyer and Dr. H. F. Bitner, of Centre Hall; John D. Meyer, of Altoona; F. E. Wieland and Arbor Cumings, of Linden Hall, attended the real estate sale of the Moyer estate, at Rebersburg, last Saturday.

Ex-Commissioner Calvin Weaver, of Coburn, contemplates moving to the Pittsburg district. He has been in that section of country during the past few months with an engineering corps, but if he moves there it will be because he concluded to accept the management of a store in that part of the state.

Just across the Centre county line in Franklin township, Huntingdon county, near Grayville, Samuel Frank, a highly respected farmer, ended his life by shooting one morning last week. He was aged about fifty years. His family realized that his mind had become unbalanced some months before, but they little thought he would commit such a rash deed.

Mrs. L. A. Catherman, of Williamsport, accompanied by a lady friend, came to Centre Hall last Friday and remained until Sunday. During the time that Mr. Catherman was agent at the Centre Hall railroad station, the family lived here, and, of course, has many acquaintances in the town. In speaking of her family, Mrs. Catherman stated that the children were all away from home.

Superintendent of Schools Cyrus S. Grove keeps in close touch with the teachers in Stephenson county, Ill., by issuing frequently circular letters, pamphlets, etc. The teachers are thus kept informed of the new requirements, and constantly urged to do their best in the school room. Mr. Grove is a native of Pennsylvania, and that is one reason of the why of his thoroughness in his doing things.

Dr. W. H. Frye, of Pine Grove Mills, was a passenger east on the local train on Tuesday. He was on his way to Harrisburg to attend a meeting of the Pennsylvania State Veterinary Association. Dr. Frye never fails to take advantage of every opportunity to further fit himself for his profession. The association has planned a trip to the Gettysburg battle fields, which will appeal to the veterinary-soldier.

The Millheim Journal has this to say of an improvement to be made in that town: The heirs of Jonathan Kreamer, deceased, sold the National Hotel property in Millheim to Mrs. I. A. Shawver. Arrangements will be made as soon as possible to remodel the building. It is the intention of Mr. Shawver, the present proprietor, to add a third story to the building and to newly fit up the inside. A steam plant for heating purposes will be introduced this fall.

The Decker boarding house was well patronized by the camp dwellers and those who came to the encampment for a day, all of which very much pleased the proprietor, James A. Decker, of Pine Grove Mills. Those who assisted in conducting the boarding house were Mrs. Decker, William Smith, chief cook; J. Homer, J. E., Wilbur, Maude, Lodie, Helen, and Dorothy Decker, Edith, Martin, Katharine and Helen Foster, A. J. Rishel, Anna Miller, Clara Ward, Helen Swabb and Carrie Caine.

Harris township

A large percentage of the people of this place attended the Grange Encampment.

Farmers are through with the seeding and are engaged at cutting corn and raising potatoes.

Mrs. Frank Lehr, of Buffalo Run, spent Wednesday of last week in Boalsburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Close with their little son, of Altoona, were guests at the home of John Close on Friday.

Hon. Cyrus Woods, of Greensburg, spent Sunday at Boalsburg. Mr. and Mrs. Woods spent the summer in European countries.

Miss Prudence Wilson, of State College, was a guest at the home of her sister, Mrs. John Durner for a few days.

Adam Felty returned to his home at Boalsburg last week after spending the summer with relatives in different parts of the state.

Edward Kreamer, of Altoona, is enjoying the time during this week with relatives and former companions at Boalsburg.

Charles Stamm, of the Mountain City, attended the Grange Encampment and spent a short time with his son John and family, at Boalsburg.

Harvest Home services will be held in the Reformed church next Sunday morning at ten o'clock. Rev. M. A. Schmidt, D. D., of Bellefonte, will preach the sermon.

William Stamm, of Altoona, who entered Pennsylvania State College as a junior, spent Sunday at the home of his brother J. W. Stamm, at Boalsburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Stuart returned from their wedding trip on Thursday. After a pleasant stay with their friends at Boalsburg, they departed on Monday for their home at Bellevue.

Mrs. Sara Rankin will dispose of some household goods at public sale on Saturday afternoon, and expects to leave for Altoona on Monday, where she will make her home for the future with her daughter, Mrs. E. P. McIntire.

Tobias Page, formerly of Juniata county, who has been at home with his nephew, S. M. Bell, for the last ten years, has been in falling health for some time, and is at present quite feeble; his years, numbering eighty-five, are pressing heavily on him. Wednesday of last week it rained a shower of post cards at the Lutheran parsonage when a number of the friends of Mrs. Stonecypher surprised her by sending her many very pretty birthday cards.

Among the relatives from a distance who attended the funeral of Mrs. Amanda Walker, were J. W. Stamm and family, of Altoona; Mr. and Mrs. Ursinus Stamm, of Roopsburg; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stamm, of near Lock Haven; Mr. and Mrs. William Ishler, Mr. and Mrs. William Lytle, of Benner township; George Keichline and daughter, Miss Gertrude, of Pine Grove Mills; Mr. and Mrs. John Driebelbes, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Bowersox and Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Tressler, of Ferguson township.

Oak Hall.

Clifford Close, wife and son, of Altoona, are visiting at the home of William Close.

Mrs. Austin Dale, N. J. Rishel and wife spent Saturday in Bellefonte.

P. H. Meyer, of Centre Hall, was a caller in town on Tuesday.

Mrs. N. B. Miller is spending several days in Altoona.

Mrs. Sue Peters, of Pine Grove Mills, was the guest of her children a few days last week.

charge of the Primary grade.
Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Dale and little granddaughter, Ruth Miller, visited friends at Pine Grove Mills on Monday.

Carrie Rishel and brother Wayne are attending school at Lemont.

Ross Gregory, of Stone Valley, was in this vicinity last week.

Leslie Korman and friend, of Ococks, visited the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Korman.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray Leitzell and daughters returned to their home in Sunbury after spending a few weeks at the home of Oscar Rishel.

Mrs. Sarah Barnhart and daughter, Mrs. Lewis Brown, and Sara Brown left Saturday for a few weeks visit with relatives in Pittsburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Marsh's were the guests of Mrs. Ada Bauer on Monday.

Mrs. John Schreck and daughter Madeline, of Lemont, were callers in town on Friday.

A. C. Peters and family visited friends at Pine Grove Mills on Sunday.

The schools at this place opened Monday with a fair attendance. Miss Margaretta Goben, of Boalsburg, is teacher of the Grammar grade, and Miss Hoy, of Centre Furnace, has

State Zoologist H. A. Surface and the heirs of the late William Bantz ended their dispute over the will of the latter through an agreement, the estate to be divided between them. The Bentz heirs accused Surface of using undue influence over Mr. Bentz. Surface lost his case in the courts. He secured an appeal, and then the settlement was made. How much Mr. Surface got is not given out.

DEMOCRATIC CLUB FOR GRIM

Spirited Debate Ends With Indorsing Regular State Ticket.

After an animated debate at a largely attended meeting of the Democratic club, of Philadelphia, on Wednesday evening, Sept. 14, the following resolution, offered by Ephraim Lederer, and seconded by John Cadwalader, Jr., was finally adopted:

"Resolved, That the Democratic club hereby indorses the Democratic state ticket, headed by the Hon. Webster Grim, the nominee for the office of governor of Pennsylvania, and pledges its hearty support to the candidates, whose private character and public records entitle them to the support of all good citizens."

Among the advocates of the resolution were ex-Magistrate William Eisenbrown, who paid a warm tribute to Senator Grim. Thomas F. Nelson, of the Thirty-second ward, declared that it was a good time for Democrats to get together and stick together. Similar arguments were advanced by W. J. Campbell, Max Loeb, Roland S. Morris, B. Gordon Bromley and Major Moses Veale.

Henry Budd made a spirited address in behalf of the Keystone party, denouncing the methods that had culminated in the Allentown convention, and among others who declared themselves for Berry were Mickle C. Paul and Ryerson W. Jennings. But the Grim forces in the final vote outnumbered the Berry followers about two to one. A motion was also adopted that a committee of three lawyers endeavor in conjunction with the state committee to test the legality of avowed Republican candidates running as Democrats, especially in the senatorial districts, and also to draft remedial legislation to be introduced at the next session to prevent the theft of party nominations by their opponents.

"Local Issues."

[From the New York World.]
Republican explanations of the appalling party disaster in Maine make much of "local issues."

The "Maine law" has been a local issue for sixty years. The inquisitorial Sturgis act was equally a local issue in 1908, when a Republican governor was elected by 7653 plurality. State extravagance was a local issue on Monday, but so was it in 1908. In none of these issues has there been substantial change.

Yet such a ratio of Republican loss and Democratic gain as Maine showed in the vote for governor would wipe out even President Taft's immense popular plurality of 1,269,804 in 1908 and leave in its stead a Democratic plurality of 206,000.

Maine lost half its Republican representatives in congress. Such a loss throughout the country would leave the party in the lower house with 113 members out of 398.

Maine lost in Eugene Hale a Republican senator of ability, influence and the prestige of successive re-election for thirty years. November will decide the fate of twenty-one other Republican senators. In what state except oligarchic Rhode Island, where the Aldrich-Brayton gang pay for the legislature with loaded dice, have the Republicans a better chance to retain their senator than they had in Maine? Such a reversal of political conditions as Monday's election portends would lose even the senate to the Republicans—a thing which until Monday no man had dreamed was within the bounds of possibility.

Wherever men take seriously the duties of citizenship, governmental extravagance which costs the country $3,567,885.66 every business day is a "local issue." Wherever men work for their daily bread the cost of living, heightened to fatten trusts and monopolies, is a "local issue." These issues have been heard from in Maine.

If any so-called Keystone Party man, who was a Democrat, will point out a single state convention in the history of the party, assembled in a year in which there was hope of Democratic success, that was without a contest for the nomination for the hopeful office, we will agree to vote the Keystone ticket, provided he agrees to vote the Democratic ticket if he falls. No sharper light was ever witnessed in any convention than that which nominated Robert E. Pattison in 1882 by the narrow majority. Yet Pattison was elected because none of his competitors for the nomination imagined that he was the anointed of God, the only good man living, as the absurd, if not insane, candidate of the Keystone Party appears to think of himself now.

Senator Nelson's Reward.

The term of Senator Knute Nelson, of Minnesota, does not expire until March 4, 1913. However, two years are a comparatively brief interval, and Minnesota is sufficiently insurgent to keep in mind Senator Nelson's frantic efforts in Ballinger's behalf.—Kansas City Times.

Long Drawn Out But Harmless.

Revision of the tariff, one schedule at a time, should result in an approved tariff system in not less than 300 years. It could be accomplished without disturbing business or anything else but the gravity of the nation.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Candidates Grim and Berry had a fine time in Western Pennsylvania counties last week and the vote of those counties on the 8th of November will show that their work was effective.

This is a Democratic year, but Democrats must pay a poll tax in order to participate in the glory of it.

The KING LIME SPREADER

DEAR SIR :

Are you still considering the Spreader question?

We are very anxious to place one with you, because we are sure it would result in many more sales; and we are anxious to place it with you NOW in order that orders may be booked early for the coming season.

We therefore make you a VERY Special Proposition.

Our KING SPREADER is superior to others, because: It will distribute a greater variety of material, will distribute in any quantity from 100 lbs. to several thousand pounds to the acre.

It is simple—any laborer can operate it.

It is durable—cleans itself of acids that cause rust.

Foreign matter, stones, bolts, lumps do not interfere with distribution nor injure the machine.

It is either a two or one horse machine, as you may prefer to make it.

It will distribute broadcast or, in drills—will straddle row of corn, putting on fertilizer on either side—run between fruit trees, distributing fertilizer on either side of water furrows.

Is there any requirement of yours that you think our Spreader will not fulfill?

Does the low price cause you to consider it inferior? (The writer who invented the machine worked hard to bring out a durable and effective machine that could be sold at a low price—a low price being necessary for wide distribution—a farmer doesn't feel like paying from $45 to $60 for a machine that is to be used in spreading lime or fertilizer only a few acres.)

Shall we book you NOW for future shipment? Will ship a machine to you in September or October, or now.

Yours truly,

KING WEEDER CO.

Richmond, Virginia

COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE & MECHANICAL ARTS

West Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 3, 1910

Gentlemen: My foreman is very much pleased with the Spreader, and has found it excellent for distributing both lime and sluffs. We have used it to some extent for distributing mixed fertilizer successfully. I feel that this implement fills successfully a long felt want.
Very truly yours,
C. L. NEWMAN.

Pinegrove, Pa., June 28, 1910.

Gentlemen: I am well pleased with the Lime Spreader you sent me; it does all you claim for it. I have tried it with stone lime and put 50 bushels of stone lime to the acre. If I could only talk it into the people how handy this Spreader is, then I would have sold a lot, but they are so used to that old shovel that they like to throw their arms off, but this fall I think I can sell some as most farmers put their lime on seeding land.
Very truly,
J. S. HALDEMAN.

Nanuet, N. Y., June 11, 1910.

Gentlemen: Have noticed statement of J. S. Hagar, M. D., that your Spreader worked to a charm. I have a large farm and may need an implement in the near future. If you have printed matter for distribution, would be pleased to receive it.
Yours truly,
I. J. WELLS, M. D.

Owensboro, Ky., June 24, 1910

Gentlemen: The Lime Spreader spreads the lime as you claimed.
Yours,
S. R. EWING.

Petersham, Mass., June 23, 1910

Gentlemen: I will say your Spreader is alright.
Yours,
JOHN A. CARTER.

Albion, N. Y., Feb. 1, 1910

Gentlemen: Have used the Spreader for liming 8 acres alfalfa, and am well pleased with it.
Yours,
A. C. HOWES.

Amelia, Va., July 13, 1910.

Gentlemen: I am well pleased with the Spreader, and believe it will answer every purpose.
Yours,
R. T. VAUGHAN.
