Mrs. Jane D. Nofsker, probably the oldest lady on the south side of Centre county, died at Spring Mills, on Tuesday morning.

Since the death of her husband, Michael Nofsker, about thirty years ago, the deceased and her niece, Mrs. C. C. Cummings, and the latter's husband, lived together, at Spring Mills.

Mrs. Nofsker had been an invalid for almost the whole of that time, but was well cared for by Mrs. Cummings, who in her youth was an inmate of the Nofsker home, which otherwise would have been childless.

Mrs. Nofsker's maiden name was Kennelly, and during the whole of her life she lived in Gregg township.

Tuesday evening, about nine o'clock, Frank Gfrerer, a farmer living west of Centre Hall, and Lawrence Runkle, one of the carpenters finishing the Gfrerer dwelling house, were walking from town to the former's home, and just east of the lane leading to his buildings, some one approaching from the rear riding a bicycle ran against Mr. Gfrerer, knocking him senseless.

The man who caused the injury stopped only long enough to say that he had not observed the man, and to discover that one of them had been seriously hurt, then he mounted his wheel and rode off, without giving his name.

MURRAY & BITNER'S UNUSUAL OFFER.

Sell Dr. Howard's specific at Half Price and Guarantee a Cure.

"It isn't often that we have faith enough in medicine put up by other people to be willing to offer to refund the money if it does not cure," said Murray and Bitner to a Reporter man who dropped into their store.

"The Dr. Howard Company, in order to get a quick introductory sale, authorizes us to sell their regular fifty-cent bottles at half price, 25 cents, and, although we have sold a lot of it, and have guaranteed every package, not one has been brought back as unsatisfactory.

"One great advantage of this specific," he continued, "is its small dose and convenient form. There are sixty doses in a vial that can be carried in the vest pocket or purse, and everyone has more medical power than a big pill or tablet or a tumbler of mineral water.

"We are still selling the specific at half price, although we cannot tell how long we shall be able to do so, and anyone who is subject to constipation, sick headache, dizziness, liver trouble, indigestion or a general played-out condition, ought to take advantage of this chance. You can tell your readers that if they are not satisfied with the specific they can come right back to our store and we will cheerfully refund their money."
