

DEATHS.

Emanuel Ishler, a native of Centre county, but for many years past a highly respected citizen and well known plasterer, of Altoona, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. S. D. Cox, in that city, on Tuesday morning of last week, after a lingering illness since last June from diseases incident to old age.

Deceased was born in Boalsburg, and was aged seventy-six years on June 14th, last. Early in life he learned the plasterer's trade and lived in that vicinity for many years, but for the past quarter of a century he had lived in Altoona, a portion of which time he spent in Cleveland, Ohio. He enlisted in a volunteer company near the close of the Civil war, but because of the fact that his company was never actively engaged, being detained in camp at Harrisburg until the close of the war, he always refused to accept a pension, to which under the law he was entitled. Mr. Ishler many years ago married Mary Ishler, of Millinburg, who died over twenty years ago. He is survived by the following children: C. L. and James A., of Toledo, Ohio; Mrs. J. W. Cortz, of Cleveland, Ohio; Mrs. W. A. Such, of Pittsburg, and Mrs. S. D. Cox and Robert, of Altoona. He was a brother of ex-Sheriff William Ishler, of Bellefonte, and of John Ishler, of State College.

He was a consistent member of the First Lutheran church and the pastor of the church, Rev. M. J. Kline, of Altoona, conducted the funeral services at the Cox home Thursday afternoon. Interment in Fairview cemetery.

On Saturday Tillman Klinefelter, of Tusseyville, took his bed after having been feeling badly and suffering from pain in the head for about two weeks previous, and Monday at one o'clock in the afternoon death ensued. Death was due from an abscess on the brain. Mr. Klinefelter was a farmer by occupation, and was the tenant on the Fleisher farm. He was a robust man, and was one of those who was always pushing work along at a rapid gait, because of his great strength and endurance. His age was fifty-one years.

The interment will take place this (Thursday) forenoon, at Tusseyville. He was a member of the Reformed church, but in the absence of his pastor, Rev. Daniel Gress, the services will be conducted by Rev. B. F. Bieber.

There survive him a widow, nee Annie Markle, and one daughter, Ellen, wife of Harvey Hettinger. These brothers and sisters also survive: Mrs. Mahala Nevil, Tusseyville; Mrs. George Stover, Madisburg; Mrs. Reesner, Reading; George, Waddles; Jess, address unknown; William, Samuel, Lyman, Alfred, of Tusseyville.

Edward Woodring, a railroad engineer, died suddenly at his home in Tacoma, Washington, of heart trouble. He was thirty-seven years old and was born at Roopburg, this county. He is survived by his parents, George H. and Rachel Woodring, living at Bluefield, West Virginia, and three married sisters. The remains were taken to Bluefield for burial.

Rev. David S. Monroe, a well known Methodist minister, died in Altoona, Tuesday of last week. Interment was made at Baltimore. Rev. Monroe, some years ago was pastor of the Bellefonte Methodist church, and for years had been one of the leading ministers of that denomination, in Central Pennsylvania.

Miss Virginia Bowes, daughter of John Bowes, of Beech Creek, died after two weeks illness with typhoid fever. She was not quite twenty years old and was a young woman of rare christian character and one whose death is deeply mourned by a large circle of acquaintances.

Mrs. Martha E. Wolf, widow of Jacob H. Wolf and a sister of Robert A. Cassidy, of Canton, Ohio, died in Altoona after a chronic illness extending over a period of twenty years.

Tusseyville.

James Goodhart and little son George left on Saturday for Harrisburg where they will spend some time at the home of Mrs. Goodhart's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Lee.

Mrs. Cloyd Brooks and children and Mrs. Charles Neff spent Thursday very delightfully at the home of William Rokey and family.

William Bitner had been ill several days last week, but is very much improved.

Mrs. John Wert and children have been afflicted with heavy colds for the past week.

Croup is most prevalent during the dry cold weather of the early winter months. Parents of young children should be prepared for it. All that is needed is a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Many mothers are never without it in their homes and it has never disappointed them. Sold by Murray & Bitner.

The Story of a Turtle's Meal.

A butterfly hunter tells the following story of swamp life: "In the water right between my feet was a spotted turtle that had just captured an appetizing but by no means dainty morsel. This was a terrapin-like bug that was more than a mouthful. His body was already out of sight, but clawlike legs protruded from both sides of that isosceles triangle which a turtle's mouth makes when it is closed and waved a frantic farewell to the passing underwater world. The turtle was a long time in masticating his terrapin, but it was a happy time. His whole body blinked contentedly, and he waved his fore legs with a caressing outpush, a motion exactly like that of a child at the breast. Then he wagged his head solemnly from side to side, as a wise turtle might who feels that such good lunches are put up by fate only for the knowing ones of this watery world, and pushed himself halfway under the roots of a tussock for a nap."

A Daring Argument.

A quick witted and daring lawyer once saved a guilty client from sure conviction on a charge of poisoning. It was proved that the poisoning had been done by means of certain cakes, a portion of which was produced in court. When the counsel for the prisoner had finished his speech he said: "And these, gentlemen of the jury, are some of the alleged poisoned cakes. We declare to you, gentlemen of the jury, that they are not poisoned cakes. They are as harmless cakes as ever were made, and in order, gentlemen of the jury, to show you that these cakes are not poisoned I will eat one of them right here in your presence." And he did eat one. He took good care, however, to leave the room at the earliest opportunity and to make a bee line for an adjoining room, where he had an emetic in readiness and an antidote. But the jury never heard about the emetic or the antidote until the lawyer's client had been acquitted.

What He Saw.

"Do tell me something about Mr. Oldplot's latest play" said the young lady on the bottom stair at the dance. "They say the climax at the close of the third act is superb. Won't you describe it to me as you saw it?" "I will," grimly consented the young man with the split white kid gloves. "The heroine came slowly on and kneed, dagger in hand, behind a clump of pink ribbons. Then the hero emerged from a large bunch of purple flowers, and as soon as she perceived him she fell upon him, stabbed him twice with a handsome hatpin, and he sank back into a beautiful aigret."

"What in the world are you talking about?" exclaimed the fair listener.

"Well," replied the narrator, "you see the lady in front of me refused to move her hat, and that is just how the scene appeared to me."—London Scraps.

One of Florence's Jokes.

That genial comedian W. J. Florence had a habit of promising a man a fish or some game when he was about starting on a hunting or fishing trip. Day after day would pass, and the game would not be forthcoming. But almost every day a letter or telegram would come saying that Florence had not forgotten; that Florence was just about sending the game; that there was no cause for worry, as a fine fish or deer was on its way to the express office. At first this solicitousness would cause courteous letters and telegrams in return. As the delay got longer the victim would get impatient and would finally be literally haunted by huge fishes or deer, "with the compliments of W. J. Florence." Then some fine day, when it was least expected, the fish or deer would come.

Quaint Hymns.

For upreality of sentiment in hymns we must go back to the eighteenth century. Here is an instance:

Ah, lovely appearance of death! What sight upon earth is so fair? Not all the gay pageants that breathe Can with a dead body compare.

It seems strange that death should have been the occasion for a touch of unconscious humor in a hymn. In the collection entitled "Hymns, Ancient and Modern," there was and possibly still is the following verse:

They do not hear when the great bell is ringing overhead. They cannot rise and come to church With us—for they are dead.

The list of things which "they" are unable to do might be indefinitely extended.—London Chronicle.

Had to Walk.

The intoxicated gentleman stared in a bewildered manner at the sign on the bridge. The sign read, "Loads Must Not Be Taken Across the Bridge Faster Than a Walk."

After giving the sign profound study he observed: "Don't see how fellows wif loadsh can do better'n a walk nohow!"

A Disraeli Anecdote.

Sitting next Disraeli at dinner, Mrs. Jeune said that Lord Sherbrooke must be allowed one virtue—namely, his patient and affectionate behavior toward his wife. "Do you think," said Disraeli in his deep tone, "that he has ever seen her?"—Memoirs of Lady St. Heller.

Scientific.

"Why did you get a divorce?" "My wife poisoned my whole life." "But you hastened to marry again?" "Well, I had an antidote coming to me, didn't I?"—Cleveland Leader.

Virtue that parleys is near surrender.—French Proverb.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, brick-dust or sediment in the urine, head ache, back ache, lame back, dizziness, sleeplessness, nervousness, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and better health in that organ is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. Swamp-Root corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest because of its remarkable health restoring properties. A trial will convince anyone.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, and don't let a dealer sell you something in place of Swamp-Root—if you do you will be disappointed.

CAPITAL $25,000
FIRST STATE BANK
Arlington, Ia., April 23, 1903
Mr. J. Cooper, Decorah, Iowa.
Dear Sir: Your letter of inquiry received and noted. The fact that I have two policies of $12,000 in The Royal Union Insurance Co., and that I am perfectly satisfied with the same, is the strongest evidence of my confidence in the company. Any financial institution that is limited by law in the investment of its funds in non-fluctuating, non-speculative securities such as farm mortgages, municipal bonds, and loans on the cash surrender values of its own policies is certainly entitled to public confidence. Add to this the fact that the state of Iowa requires sufficient of these securities on deposit with the Auditor of State to more than equal the amount of the Company's entire liability to its policyholders, and I am unable to conceive of a more complete and absolute protection. This is the law under which The Royal Insurance Co. operates, and for this reason it has my unqualified endorsement and confidence.
In addition to this it is an Iowa Company and has for eighteen years been steadily growing stronger and better. It is securing the highest rates of interest from its invested assets of farm mortgages in Iowa and adjoining states; this enables the company to pay its policy holders the highest possible earnings.
After a most careful and thorough investigation, I take pleasure in commending The Royal Union Life Insurance Co. as I regard it one of the safest and best.
Very truly,
D. B. ALLEN.
