

COURT READY FOR DELIG CASE.

Up to Wednesday Evening Court's Time Taken Up by Minor Cases.

As the Reporter goes to press the case of the commonwealth vs. Rockey, of Zion, was being argued.

This (Thursday) morning everything is in readiness to hear the Delige case. The attorneys for Delige will make an effort to have their client convicted of murder in the second degree, and he may confess in the lesser degree, claiming, perhaps, that he was under the influence of liquor to such an extent that he was unaccountable for his actions.

The commonwealth will press for a first degree conviction, and to obtain such a verdict all the evidence the state can produce will be submitted. A verdict will not likely be rendered earlier than Friday.

Court convened on Monday morning at ten o'clock, and a large portion of the forenoon was taken up in hearing motions and petitions and return of rules.

Grand jury called and sworn and A. Lukenbach, of Bellefonte, a salesman, selected as foreman, and after a full and complete charge as to their right and duty, retired to the Grand Jury room.

The constables of several districts then made their quadrennial report. A list of jurors was then called and absentees then noted. List of civil cases for both weeks was then called over and the following cases disposed of:

W. H. Johnstonbaugh vs. M. E. Betz and Gabriel Betz, an appeal continued.

Mary Cauffman, formerly Mendleman, vs. Celia Mirbach and Henry Mirbach, assumpsit, continued at the costs of the defendant.

The School District of Gregg township vs. Samuel Long Estate and R. P. Campbell and H. C. Campbell, owners. Scire Facies Sur Tax lien; continued.

George B. Thompson vs. Bellefonte Central Railroad Company; trespass, settled.

First case taken up for trial was Harvey Hoy vs. Overseers of the Poor of Benner Township, appeal. This is an action brought by Mr. Hoy to recover for board and maintenance of his daughter and her two children. The daughter having been married some four or five years ago to Frank Miller, a citizen of Bellefonte Borough, where they also kept house until about two years ago, when their goods were stored in the borough and the daughter went to her parents to live. The husband seeing her occasionally at her parents' residence in Benner Township. In the spring of 1910 Mr. Hoy moved to Spring Township and on May 31st an order of relief was taken out and served on the Overseers of the Poor of Benner Township, who investigated, after giving one order and found that the case belonged to Bellefonte Borough. Whereupon the Overseers of Benner Township notified the Overseers of Bellefonte, who accepted the pauper and thereafter furnished such relief as was requested by Mrs. Miller. Mr. Hoy, the father, never receiving anything for the daughter's keeping, brought this action against the defendant. At the close of the plaintiff's testimony defendant moved the court for compulsory non-suit on the ground that they were not liable, and if any one was liable it was the borough of Bellefonte, and further that Mrs. Miller was a daughter of the plaintiff and the plaintiff could not recover. Compulsory non-suit granted.

Edward R. Chambers vs. Joseph Weist. This is an action brought by the plaintiff to recover a fee of $82 which the plaintiff alleges was promised him by the defendant in the transaction growing out of a transfer of a license from a man by the name of Davis to a man by the name of McClure for a hotel in Phillipsburg. Mr. Davis having been sold out by the Sheriff and the furniture and fixtures of the hotel sold to Mr. Davis' father. The landlord of the building was anxious that the building be kept up as a hotel and Mr. Davis owing a bill to the defendant there were negotiations whereby Mr. McClure took the hotel, paying $2000 for the furniture and fixtures, the senior Mr. Davis selling and agreeing to pay the debt owing this defendant. The plaintiff alleging that defendant promised to pay him the $82 if the arrangement could be carried out, while on the other hand, the defendant alleges that if the plaintiff secured a purchaser for the property to whom the sale of the furniture and fixtures were made for cash and leave the defendant's bill paid that the plaintiff was to have the $82. Verdict on Tuesday morning in favor of plaintiff for $90.00.

Com. vs. William F. Kessinger, prosecutrix Martha L. Kessinger, both of near Eagleville. Indicted for assault and battery. Verdict guilty.

Com. vs. W. H. Musser, prosecutor Roy L. Hall, indicted for assault and battery. This grows out of an altercation in the office of the defendant, who is a justice of the peace in Bellefonte, on November 17th, when the prosecutor went to the office of the defendant with his attorney on some legal business, when the prosecutor alleges the justice became abusive to him, caught him by the throat and choked him and brandished a cane over his head. The defendant denies all this, but admitted that he had requested the prosecutor and his attorney to leave the office and had pushed the prosecutor towards the door to put him out. Verdict of guilty of assault.

Com. vs. W. H. Fye, prosecutor Edward Croft, charged with larceny by bailee. Bill ignored.

Com. vs. W. G. Bullock, charged with larceny; prosecutor L. H. Musser. Settled.

Com. vs. Frank E. Miller. Charged with desertion and nonsupport of wife and two children. Prosecutrix, Lizzie M. Miller. Defendant appeared before the court on October 14th and waived the finding of the grand jury and plead guilty, whereupon the court suspended sentence upon condition that he maintain and support his wife and children and pay the costs of prosecution.

Com. vs. Frederick Rockey, indicted, first count, playfully discharging a gun; second count, wantonly discharging a gun; third count, aggravated assault and battery; prosecutor, Benjamin Kauffman. This case is from Spring township and on trial on Tuesday evening and Wednesday.

LOCALS.

Dr. H. S. Braucht and son Dean, of Spring Mills, spent a few days in Northumberland.

J. S. Showers, of Youngdale, for the past three or four weeks has been on his farm, near Earlstown, to shape up the fall work.

Mrs. J. O. Stover and daughter, of Reedsville, who spent some time at Potters Mills with Mr. Stover, returned home a few days ago.

A Reedsville correspondent writes to the Lewistown Democrat and Sentinel that Mrs. Charles Meyer returned from Williamsport, where she consulted an eye specialist.

Miss Sara McClenahan is back from Harrisburg, and has recovered so far from the injuries received by being thrown from a trolley car in that city as to be able to walk about with the aid of crutches.

John D. Meyer, of Altoona, was in town Saturday and Sunday, having come here because of the indisposition of his father, D. J. Meyer, but when he came here he found him able to be about and in his usual health.

Joseph Harpster, of Pennsylvania Furnace, has been appointed assessor in Ferguson township to succeed John Homan, who resigned because of his inability to fulfill the obligations of the office and at the same time teach school.

William Musser, who about ten weeks ago came east from Idaho, returned to that state to transact a matter of business that turned up unexpectedly. It is his intention to come east to remain. He is a brother of Jacob F. Musser, of near Penna. Cave, and had been in various sections of the west for a number of years.

Berjamin A. Hooper, governor-elect of Tennessee, was a founding. He was picked up off the streets when a baby by a gentleman who named and educated him. He has made good. Give the boy a chance, this illustration indicates. The boy Hooper, however, was not an outlaw, but he had respect for his benefactors; was studious and gentlemanly.

H. W. Shoemaker, of New York, the writer of the little story "The Antiquity of Baretown," which appears in this issue. In speaking of "Baretown," says: "I consider 'Baretown' one of the greatest natural wonders in the state of Pennsylvania, if not in the United States. I have written the story hoping to draw a little attention to this spot, as it certainly deserves."

Edward M. Brown, the combination man with the Bell Telephone Company, has been located on the south side of Centre county to take care of the company's business in this section. Mr. Brown is now staying in Centre Hall, and as soon as he can secure a house will move his wife and baby to Centre Hall, which he believes will be more congenial than to board here and have his little family living in Bellefonte.

Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Roush, of Reading, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Rishel, at Farmers Mills, the ladies being sisters. Mr. Roush is a native of Miles township; but has been in Reading for twenty years or more. He runs a switch engine in the Reading yards, and is now enjoying his fall vacation among friends and relatives in Centre county.

VERY FINE BIRDS.

His Wife's Comment on the Result of His Hunting Trip.

The braggadocio of the common variety of husbands generally sooner or later falls before the keen insight that most women have of human nature in general and bragging husbands in particular. A witty southern woman was married to such a man, who, though invariably unsuccessful as a hunter, was continually boasting of his killings.

As he was returning home one evening after an all day hunting trip it occurred to him that the usual accompaniment of an empty game bag was not in accordance with his oft boasted skill as a hunter and that his wife would again have the joke on him, so he went to the market and purchased two brace of partridges.

As he entered the house he threw them on the table with great eclat and exclaimed, "Well, you dear old doubter, you see that I am handing with the gun than you give me credit for being, after all; now don't you?"

Milady picked up the birds and examined them very carefully. As she looked up after the examination he said:

"Fine birds, my dear—very fine birds, are they not?"

"Robert," responded the wife, turning up her nose, "you were only just in time in shooting those birds today. Tomorrow it would have been everlasting too late."—St. Louis Item-Club.

EATING AN APPLE.

What You Take Into Your System With the Fruit.

"Do you know what you're eating?" said the doctor to the girl.

"An apple, of course."

"You are eating," said the doctor, "albumen, sugar, gum, malic acid, gallic acid, fiber, water and phosphorus."

"I hope those things are good. They sound alarming."

"Nothing could be better. You ate, I observed, rather too much meat at dinner. The malic acid of apples neutralizes the excess of chalybeate caused by too much meat and thereby helps to keep you young. Apples are good for your complexion. Their acids drive out the noxious matters which cause skin eruptions. They are good for your brain, which those same noxious matters if retained render sluggish. Moreover, the acids of the apple diminish the acidity of the stomach that comes with some forms of indigestion. The phosphorus, of which apples contain a larger percentage than any other fruit or vegetable, renews the essential nervous matter of the brain and spinal column. Oh, the ancients were not wrong when they esteemed the apple the food of the gods—the gods resorted when they felt themselves growing old and feeble. I think I'll have an apple," concluded the doctor.—New York Tribune.
