

RHEUMATISM

I want every chronic rheumatic to throw away all medicines, all liniments, all plasters, and give MUNYON'S RHEUMATISM REMEDY a trial. No matter what your doctor may say, no matter how prejudiced you may be against all advertised remedies, go at once to your drug-gist and get a bottle of the RHEUMATISM REMEDY. If it fails to give satisfaction, I will refund your money. —Munyon

Remember this remedy contains no salicylic acid, no opium, cocaine, morphine or other harmful drugs. It is put up under the guarantee of the Pure Food and Drug Act.

A Sample Quip.

"Thomas W. Lawson's Thanksgiving proclamation was a very good piece of oratorical writing," said a Boston banker. "Lawson is always full of quips."

"Not long ago I attended the funeral of a millionaire financier—one of those real 'high financiers' whose low methods Lawson loves to turn the light on."

"I arrived at the funeral a little late. I took a seat beside Lawson and whispered:

"How far has the service gone?"

"Lawson, nodding towards the clergyman in the pulpit, whispered back: "Just opened for the defense."

IT IS A MISTAKE

Many have the idea that anything will sell if advertised strongly enough. This is a great mistake. True, a few sales might be made by advertising an absolutely worthless article but it is only the article that is bought again and again that pays. An example of the big success of a worthy article is the enormous sale that has grown up for Cascarets Candy Cathartic. This wonderful record is the result of great merit successfully made known through persistent advertising and the mouth-to-mouth recommendation given Cascarets by its friends and users.

Like all great successes, trade pirates prey on the unsuspecting public, by marketing fake tablets similar in appearance to Cascarets. Care should always be exercised in purchasing well advertised goods, especially an article that has a national sale like Cascarets. Do not allow a substitute to be palmed off on you.

The Oldest Klckitkat.

Jake Hunt, the oldest living Klckitkat Indian known, lies at death's door at his home adjoining this town east of here. The old Indian is reputed to be more than 100 years of age.

Years ago an Indian village stood where the Hunt family now carries on a general farming business. All that is left of the old settlement is a little church, a totem pole and numerous mounds where the Klckitkats lie who could not reach the century mark. Old Jake says that this was the Indians' paradise before the advent of early white settlers.

Jake Hunt is destined not to die a poor Indian. His lands are as rich and productive as any in the valley and command a high price. He is said to have married seven times during his long career, but there will be only a widow and a few children to fall heir to his valuable property.—Husum Correspondence Portland Oregonian.

Art in the Nude.

The photographer's lady was very preoccupied showing some samples of work to prospective sitters, when a tall and raw-boned individual, apparently from "the land," stalked solemnly into the studio, and intimated that he would like to know what the "pictures" were worth.

"Like that, $3 a dozen," said the photographer's lady, handing him one.

The farmer gazed long and earnestly at the photograph of a very small baby sitting in a wash basin.

"And what would it cost with my clothes on?" he finally asked.

FARM AND BEES

KEEPING BEES ON ANY FARM

No More Intelligence and Skill Required in Culture Than in Poultry—Work Needed.

It requires no more intelligence and skill to raise bees than to keep poultry. It requires a certain amount of work and at the right time, yet this in no sense, equals the attention given poultry. But for some reason few farmers have bees. If it is lack of knowledge that keeps them from it then the excuse is easily overcome for there are many bee journals and books that would give the desired information. It is a fear of bee stings, these may be prevented by certain appliances. Surely no one should be kept from the enjoyment of honey because of cost. The bees and the necessary equipment need not cost much. Perhaps some have been led to believe, through foolish newspaper reports, that bees are injurious to fruit. This is not so. Bees cannot break the skin of any fruit. Because they are seen sucking the juice of punctured grapes they have been falsely accused of doing the puncturing.

Honey is the purest and the least harmful of sweets. The farmer could just as well as not get a few hundred pounds for use on the pancakes. The honey crop is clear gain, for no flowers need necessarily be raised to pasture the bees. They aid in the fertilization of fruit trees: in the smaller clovers.

Get a few hives of bees this spring and start in a modest way to gather a side line crop from the farm that has heretofore been going to waste.

LANTERN FOR FOOT-WARMER

Enterprising Canadian Has Placed on Market Unique Heating and Illuminating Device.

An enterprising Canadian concern has placed a unique combined heating and illuminating device on the market in the guise of a lantern foot-warmer, says Popular Mechanics. It is designed, of course, for use in rural communities, where considerable driving is necessary during winter as well as summer. Placed underneath the lap-robe, which, it is claimed, interferes in no way with proper combustion, the lantern effectively tively warms the feet and limbs, which means comfort all over. A copper ribbon passes over the burner, and this conserves the heat without affecting the radiation of light. Should light at any time be required, the device is immediately available for such a purpose.

PROPER DRAINAGE ON FARM

Much of Laying Out and Excavation Can Be Done by Farmer With Little Expense.

(By WALTER B. LEUTZ.)

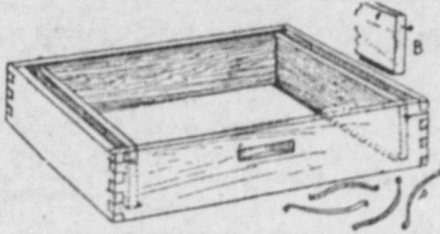

In hundreds of cases where drainage is desirable it is not necessary to employ an engineer to lay out the work, nor to use expensive systems of excavation. Much of this work can be done by the farmer himself after the exercise of a little thoughtfulness. After a heavy rain in summer—any time when there is standing water on the field—let the farmer go over his land and determine if the water, at its height, seeks a natural runway. It is easy to see where water would escape if a few places are leveled down to a point below the water above them. Place stakes at these high places, and as soon as the ground will permit of working, get busy with a team, plow and scraper and cut down these high places. When another rain comes see if the water flows off. If not, observe where the high places are and again go over them with team and scraper. Begin work at the lower end of the natural water course and work up towards the sloughs. There may be places where greater excavation may be required, and this can often be done with a spade at seasons of the year when there is a lull in other work. Open ditch work of this character for a few years will relieve many fields of wet and unproductive places now existing, and the farmer will scarcely realize the cost, while the expense of cultivating the entire field will be reduced and its productivity increased.

HONEY-COMB SUPER EXCELS

Several Prominent New Jersey Beekeepers Pronounce Device as Superior in Many Ways.

During the field meeting held at my place on June 29, several of the prominent beekeepers of the lower part of New Jersey pronounced my super a good thing, and, for my own part, in all my twenty years' experience I have never been able to remove honey from a super as rapidly as I can from this one, although I have tried almost every form of super brought out, writes Charles Howell in Gleanings in Bee Culture.

The advantages of this style of super are plainly shown by the illustration. It is a regular deep dovetailed super for 4x5 plain sections, using plain bottom slats 16 inches long, and fence separators, the same length, made to order, also one plain follower. The bottom slats are supported by thin nailed on the lower edge of each "compression board."

Honey-Comb Super.

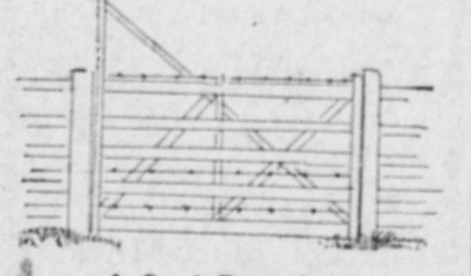

which boards are seven-eighths inch thick, and supported by wire nails driven into each end through the sawcuts in the sides of the super. This sliding supporting nail allows the boards to be forced up against the sections by means of the ordinary flat springs.

Another good feature of this super is the bee-space all around the sections, which the bees use freely, especially when supers are tiered up. The super costs no more than any other.

GATE IS SIMPLE AND STRONG

Annoyance of Sagging and Getting Out of Plumb is Avoided by Use of Common Barbed Wire.

The trouble with the ordinary gate is that it sags and gets out of plumb after a few months' service. The gate shown herewith is simple and strong. By nailing barbed wire between the lower lengths and smooth wires across the top, it will turn swine as well as the larger stock. The posts to which the gate is hung should be solid and very firmly set with small stones. Keeping it painted will lengthen its life. As it is all made with a saw, hammer and nails, and no mortising done, any handy man can quickly make it.

A Good Farm Gate.

Lantern for Barn Work.

The lantern that is hung in the barn to light up for early feeding and late hitching should never be used for anything else, so it will always be in place when needed.

FARM NOTES

For corn land, green or fresh manure is advisable.

Corn does best when sown on an overturned clover sod.

As the corn plant is rather tender, it is not wise to sow too early.

Soon be time for the ice harvest; don't overlook it again this year.

The right kind of a man can always make a living on a small tract of land.

A file may be kept from filling up with lead by applying a thin coat of oil before filing.

Cobwebs in the granary are good things. They entrap the moths which produce the weevils.

Don't spend a dollar for small ditches or tile on a marsh until an outlet is assured.

Drainage tiles should be evenly and well burnt, giving a clear, ringing note when clinked together.

A little sewing machine oil judiciously applied will put a stop to that prolonged squeaking of doors.

In lacing belts the pointed ends of the laces may be stiffened and made easier to insert by burning them.

There is a whole lot of comfort for both man and beast in a roll of tarred paper and a bunch of lath rightly applied.

Theories alone can do nothing for the farm. It's only when they are coupled with good practical work that they count.

If every farmer would do a little free work on the roads especially with the road drag he would shorten the distance to town.

This country is the largest consumer of sauerkraut in the world, and the rate of consumption is increasing at the rate of 25 per cent. annually.

Alfalfa, clover, beans and peas are profitable both for their own value and because they help the soil to produce other large crops subsequently.

Woman's Danger Periods Made Safe

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The Change of Life is the most critical period of a woman's existence, and neglect of health at this time invites disease.

Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to medicine that will so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs. Here is proof:

Natick, Mass.—"I cannot express what I went through during the Change of Life before I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was in such a nervous condition I could not keep still. My limbs were cold. I had creepy sensations and could not sleep nights. I was finally told by two physicians that I had a tumor."

"I read one day of the wonderful cures made by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it, and it has made me a well woman. My neighbors and friends declare it has worked a miracle for me. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is worth its weight in gold for women during this period of life. If it will help others you may publish this letter."—Mrs. Nathan B. Greaton, 51 No. Main St., Natick, Mass.

ANOTHER SIMILAR CASE.

Cornwallville, N. Y.—"I have been taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for some time for Change of Life, nervousness, and a fibroid growth."

"Two doctors advised me to go to the hospital, but one day while I was away visiting, I met a woman who told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and I know it helped me wonderfully. I am very thankful that I was told to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Wm. Boughton, Cornwallville, N. Y., Greene Co.

The makers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have thousands of such letters as those above—they tell the truth, else they could not have been obtained for love or money. This medicine is no stranger—it has stood the test for years.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

THREE CROPS A YEAR

Doesn't such a statement appeal to YOU, a Northern farmer, struggling each year to produce even one crop successfully? Skeptical though you may be, we can furnish you absolute proof that there IS a CLIMATE and a SOIL capable of producing THREE SUCCESSIVE CROPS IN ONE YEAR. You say, "Show me this WONDERFUL COUNTRY." Come then from your land of ice and snow and see these.

SOUTH GEORGIA FARMS

Located in Ware County, (South) Georgia, the heart of the Wiregrass Country and the Garden Spot of the State. It begins within three miles of the bustling City of Waycross, a country that awaits the plow of the farmer and the many Transportation, and THREE CROPS A YEAR.

Read This Open Letter From a Successful Farmer

Waycross, Ga., Nov. 28, 1910.

To Whom It May Concern:

I am a resident of Ware County and my farm adjoins Deen Land Farms, located 11 miles southwest of Waycross. I am cultivating 100 acres. I have brought my land into a high state of cultivation and today claim one of the best farms in the county. This year (1910) I planted 50 acres to corn and the crop measured 2,000 bushels or 40 bushels to the acre. This corn is worth $1.00 per bushel in the Waycross market, but I have none to sell, as it is fed to my stock of which I have a plenty. The stock consists of 3 horses, 4 mules, 75 hogs, and 150 head of cattle. Had 5 acres in hay which yielded one ton to the acre and worth $25 per ton. One acre in sugar cane, which easily netted me $100.00. My sweet potatoes covered two acres of ground and I dug 400 bushels, worth today 80 cents per bushel. I used no commercial fertilizer, whatever, only the manure from my stock was spread on the fields and there is nothing that can beat it for enriching the soil. I consider my income from the farm to be in excess of $3,000.00.

To those who are seeking a home and land that is fertile, I say, come to Ware County and locate south of Waycross.

Yours respectfully,
M. TATUM.

Isn't that one of the most HONEST and CONVINCING letters that you ever read? It does not subscribe to a false plan, nor does it promise you a fortune. It is a fact. We'll allow you 60 days—two months—satisfy yourself that here's the farm and here's the place you've been hoping for. Show any misrepresentation and we will refund your money, every penny of it, plus interest, right up to the hour of your last payment. Here is the best land that lies out of doors, and cheap; we want actual settlers, growers of truck, and small farmers. That's why this land is selling now at $20 to $35 an acre, according to nearness to Waycross; all equally good soil; $1 per acre down and 50c to $1.00 per acre per month. In two years you wouldn't sell it for $200 per acre. No interest; no taxes; no recording fees.
